No, Roger's antennas are quite visible. You just have your head up your ass too far to realize they can be seen in the picture. And you have posted that Roger has no antennas, liar.

Just because you want to have sex with Lloydie, Marqueer, doesn't mean you have to agree with his know nothingness. He can't even get on HF, even after the FCC lowered the standards by eliminating cw.
He knows nothing about propagation and being at the bottom of the solar cycle, 20 meters is not open at night, it would be at the top of the cycle.

ARRL Operating Manual, Ch. 3, "Picking a Band"
"While many hams think 20 meters is the workhorse band, it always isn't reliable. At the bottom of the sunspot (solar) cycle, 20 meters may be usable for only a few hours a day. During years of higher solar activity though, 20 meters may be open all night."

Since we are currently in the bottom end of the solar cyle, Marqueer and others' claims of 20 meters being open all night is just unsubstantiated bullshit.

Sure you did, like the time you said you made EME contacts then got caught in a lie when you said you made it all up.

His logbook indicates otherwise, shit for brains.

Amazing with the voices YOU hear in your empty head Marqueer, you feel you actually have friends.
The reality is quite different.

TYNK aka Kelly, you really need to get with Carol and have her give you a lesso in reading headers. Your fucking losing it bitch. or should I say you lost it already. I think wearing that dress and still having a dick has been playing havoc with your little feeble mind and your halucinating. No run off and go find some other place to wank. I do not like you running in here with that elephant dick in your hand saying look look look what I found.....wanna see how far I can shoot my single shot?

Morkisa being Roy or Mr. Ing or Pondmeister is totally absurd. Your loosing it or else your in the early stages of syphillitic degradation of the mind just like your fellow former Illinois resident Alfonso Capone!

The ARRL quote he gave, " 20 meters may be usable for only a few hours a day". Apparently Un-Wiseman missed the "may" part.
Psssstt! Woger. The ARRL says 20M "may" be usable for only a few hours a day. Darned if I can find any information source (other than your misinformation) that says 20M IS usable for only a few hours a day.
I expect you to now apologize to us, be a man and admit your gaffe.

Poor Dave, he's had a dilemma ever since he was molested by his priest daddy. That accouhntws for him being such an asshole.
Assheil knows all about working ourt of band Frenchmen though.

Apparently, you don't know what the fuck you are yammering about. And you lack any reading comprehension, since like Heil, you see nighttime at high noon since your head is so far up your ass.

Now, go find a job, fatty Davies, and quit licking Heil's fat ass.

Actually, Woger, it is not at all unusual for ANY HF band to be open at odd hours, ARRL publications and your uneducated "expertise" notwithstanding. While these odd openings are certainly not the rule, but the exception, they happen nonetheless. If you had any knowledge at all of the HF spectrum you would know that.
Obviously it is YOU who has not a clue about that which you "yammer". Perhaps you should upgrade your antennas.

I'm sure you, of all people, know well what "nighttime at high noon" looks like, since you hide in a darkend house all day.

What's Up Steveo,
Well while the group has it's problems, it can mostly be cured with a good set of filters. On another note, going to Murphy NC for a Bronco Event 7/5/07, want to meet and I'll buy the beers and dinner???????????? LMAO!!!

Roger is fully cognizant of the fact that he made statements that are in error regarding 20M propagation. The problem with Roger is that since he has now placed his feet firmly in his mouth, he cannot retract his claims and do so gracefully. He thus finds it necessary to maintain that WE are in error regarding the occasional openings on late-night 20 meters and that WE are the ones making inaccurate statements.
So, in response, Roger will continue to issue tawdry, filth-laden responses when he could instead bolster his standing in these Groups by simply admitting that he was partially in error.
But of course doing such is well beyond the scope of the Roger Wiseman mentality.

I guess this means that any forthcoming apologies from Roger are but wishful thinking on my part.

I should also go on record by informing Roger that I am not Lloyd. My Amateur license allows me full use of ALL of the Amateur HF spectrum and, unlike Roger, I've yet to be sent even a single letter from Riley Hollingsworth.

Roger should try 14.322 usb. There is a station from Puerto Rico (KP4ZQ) calling CQ at 0437 Zulu. This is 12:37 a.m. local time and I hear a station from Oklahoma City trying to QSO. His name is Ramone.
Ramone is also talking to a station in North Carolina and many others who are trying to contact him. He is likewise making contacts with stations in Michigan.

Maybe Roger should inform Ramone that he cannot make DX contacts on 20M late at night since the band, according to Woger, is not open. That would be news to Ramone who is, as I type, talking to a station in Las Vegas.

You should look up Ramone's email address Roger and tell him that, according to you and the ARRL, he cannot possibly be talking to all of these responding stations from the United States. Maybe the K9RJ station he just reported as being 5/9 is only an imaginary contact.

But wait. There's more. Ramone is now talking to station KI4MBU. How can this be????

After all, Roger says that this is an impossibility on 20M.

Care to rethink your stance, Roger?

No need to apologize, Roger. Most of us already know that you are sorry.

Additional. The Puerto Rico station, Ramone, just gave his name phoenetically. There is no "e" at the end of his name. He is Ramon.

Now, Roger, care to rethink your stance?

Eric, assuming this is a genuine post...

It sounds to me like you have blagged a job with false qualifications.

You don't say whether your job is to come up with a design or simply identify an existing product that fills the need.
Also, you don't say whether signals are going from the vans, to them or both ways. This makes a real difference.

I would not expect a consultant to go begging for help from strangers. Did you know that these messages are available to anyone and could be until the end of time. This includes your boss, any future employers and anyone wanting information for nefarious purposes.

If you are to aquire, then search through known reliable sources for comms equipment. If you can find nothing to suit, maybe you could privately email some of the companies to ask if they have anything of that nature. If they do, could they send you the data/specifications.

If you don't know reliable sources, how to identify suitable products or how to design something for the job, then maybe you are in the wrong job.

Regards,
Peter.

That would be because CBers usually rely on price rather than quality.

Anything to drop costs, right down to the call centres in India. I hate these. It's bad enough that they stress you with endless menus but, when you finally get a person, either you cannot understand them or they keep passing you between departments until you get to someone you cannot understand.
I wonder how many sales they lose because of such call centres, people giving up because they struggle to understand the agent. I know I have hung up or just refused to buy before now.

> I have not hear anything good from > non-Uniden made Cobras.

Consumers only have themselves to blame for the drop in quality. The same has happened with other products, cheap and nasty sells.

Peter.

Morning Jay,
Yeah this ones going to be a hoot. I tried to go to the event @ Big Bear but the boss decided to take his and another Bronco down with his family (can't blame him). So now it's off to the south to hangout with the good old boys.
Next event might be Arkansas and/or Oregon. Been to the Arkansas one, but don't particularly like to drive for 14 to 15 hours straight to Oregon.

Yes. A large window facing the transmitter. Otherwise some form of omnidirectional antenna outside connected to an antenna inside via a trransmission line. Not very efficient but cheap and works if the outside signal has enough power density.

Let me remind you again, Woger. I am NOT Dave Heil. Nor am I Lloyd.
What part of this do you fail to comprehend?
Apparently those little demons you hear are telling you otherwise. It may behoove you to lay off those doctor prescribed psychotropic drugs for a week or two.

> He claims to know things, 20 meter propagation, Glen Dale "lockups"

There is no "He". There is, however, ME. I claim to know whereof I speak concerning 20M propagation because, unlike you, I have been there and done that. Obviously you have not.
The fact that you are an Extra means only that you were able to answer a few questions and halfway understand Morse Code. Obviously that is all you did, for you have shown that you have no grasp of how the HF bands work...aside from malicious interference, that is. After all, it was you and Tunder who turned a portion of the 20M band into a CB-like debacle. Fortunately for the rest of us, Riley brought your idiocy to a screeching halt.
By the way, Rog. What was the cost of the embarassment you brought upon yourself?

> Oh, Roger doesn't hide in any darkened house, he leaves his house

Still using the third person, Roger? I understand your denial. It is what you do best.
Heck, if I were you I'd be ashamed and would hide behind a third person entity, too.

Not any cocksuckers in this rec.ponds group, not leong term anyhow, as we run them all off and into the rec.ponds moderated group which is inundated wth cocksuckers and carpet lickers. Although there is a few that frequent the freshwater.misc group from time to time....namely Tynk aka Kelly and Dr. Solo aka Ingrid....all the other known cocksukers do everyhting by way of email as they are back in the closet and rarely show their lips in the open unmoderated forums

The hammies want us to leave their prescous 10 meter band and some guy with the ham handle arnewsline qrz.com is tryin to organize them to fight us. Go read this.
Unca Glenn

Fighting the 10 meter freeband invasion

If you are wondering what all those conversations without call signs are on 28.085 MHz, well it appears to be a small invasion of unlicensed truckers and so called Freeband operators of our 10 meter band. We have more in this report:

Originally confined to portions of the mid-West, the pirate trucker and Freeband epidemic appears to be spreading nationwide. This, as more and more of these illegal operators are making their unauthorized home on 28.085 Megahertz and several other 10 meter frequencies.

And what is the Amateur Radio community doing about this invasion? On the surface at least, very little. With the upper High frequency bands not offering very much D-X these days, the majority of hams are sticking to 20, 40 and 80 meters with few stations heard in the 15, 12 and 10 meter spectrum. So the truckers and Freebanders see this is fair game for their unlawful operations and are busy establishing squatters rights in these bands.

What about the FCC? Well its doing what it can. There have been several well publicized violation notices sent to trucking firms. They request owners to instruct their drivers to curtail any operations for which they are not licensed and threatening punitive action such as fines. But that’s about it. With the FCC enforcement folks stretched thin and Freeband operations being among the lowest of priorities on the enforcement agenda, there is no reason to believe that there is going to be any sort of massive sweep by the Federal government to clear these pirate operators out of the ham radio bands.

In the end, it will be the ham radio community that will have to defend these frequencies. And it does that by using them. If hams load up 10 meters or any band with legitimate Amateur Radio operations, there will be no place for the illegals to play and they will go elsewhere.

In the case of 28.085, there have been suggestions that this frequency become a national CW or RTTY Calling Channel. That’s a pretty good approach. Another is for every ham with the capability of operating 10 meters to start holding QSO's on that frequency. As any Morse enthusiast will tell you, CW can get through even when faced with all sorts of QRM including pirate operators using voice.

The bottom line. if licensed radio amateurs fill up 10 meters even for local chats, the truckers and Frreebanders will soon be looking elsewhere for a new home.

Evi Simons
Amateur Radio Newsline

About two decades ago, then 73 Magazine editor Wayne Green, W2NSD, coined the phrase "Use it or loose it." Back then, it was applied to the pending transfer of 220 to 222 MHz away from Amateur Radio. Today the same words ring important in fighting those without licenses who are trying to take 10 meters forcibly from hams.

Waaaaaa! If you want use of 10 meters, the HAM test is simpler then ever.
The tech test is 35 questions. The answers are published on the net. You'll get use of 28.000 to 28.500, of which 28.000 to 28.300 is CW and 28.300 to 28.500 is USB. Use of 28.085 AM sticks out like a sore thumb! Hell, I'll throw 600 watts of CW on your ass even though I don't do code!

Just stay below 27.995 if you don't want hammies and the Uncle all over your ass!

As simple as the test now is, most cbers can't pass it (first

Fighting the 10 meter freeband invasion

If you are wondering what all those conversations without call signs are on 28.085 MHz, well it appears to be a small invasion of unlicensed truckers and so called Freeband operators of our 10 meter band. We have more in this report:

Originally confined to portions of the mid-West, the pirate trucker and Freeband epidemic appears to be spreading nationwide. This, as more and more of these illegal operators are making their unauthorized home on 28.085 Megahertz and several other 10 meter frequencies.

And what is the Amateur Radio community doing about this invasion? On the surface at least, very little. With the upper High frequency bands not offering very much D-X these days, the majority of hams are sticking to 20, 40 and 80 meters with few stations heard in the 15, 12 and 10 meter spectrum. So the truckers and Freebanders see this is fair game for their unlawful operations and are busy establishing squatters rights in these bands.

What about the FCC? Well its doing what it can. There have been several well publicized violation notices sent to trucking firms. They request owners to instruct their drivers to curtail any operations for which they are not licensed and threatening punitive action such as fines. But that’s about it. With the FCC enforcement folks stretched thin and Freeband operations being among the lowest of priorities on the enforcement agenda, there is no reason to believe that there is going to be any sort of massive sweep by the Federal government to clear these pirate operators out of the ham radio bands.

In the end, it will be the ham radio community that will have to defend these frequencies. And it does that by using them. If hams load up 10 meters or any band with legitimate Amateur Radio operations, there will be no place for the illegals to play and they will go elsewhere.

In the case of 28.085, there have been suggestions that this frequency become a national CW or RTTY Calling Channel. That’s a pretty good approach. Another is for every ham with the capability of operating 10 meters to start holding QSO's on that frequency. As any Morse enthusiast will tell you, CW can get through even when faced with all sorts of QRM including pirate operators using voice.

The bottom line. if licensed radio amateurs fill up 10 meters even for local chats, the truckers and Frreebanders will soon be looking elsewhere for a new home.

Evi Simons
Amateur Radio Newsline

About two decades ago, then 73 Magazine editor Wayne Green, W2NSD, coined the phrase "Use it or loose it." Back then, it was applied to the pending transfer of 220 to 222 MHz away from Amateur Radio. Today the same words ring important in fighting those without licenses who are trying to take 10 meters forcibly from hams.

better not let me catch you up there. I will track you down, gather all information (background checks or whatever it takes) and report your ass (and I will not care what threats come my way as a result).

I worked for my ticket (harder than some because of my disability) and I WILL NOT TOLERATE ANY FREEBANDERS WHERE THEY ARE NOT WANTED.

if you have a problem with this, better consult the FCC rules and regulations (and your local laws as some may apply).

if you think I am bluffing, better review the case of the FCC V. Timothy Harold Hoffman (1993-1995, phoenix Arizona).

Eric. You may as well pound sand.
Your threats are groundless, and the goons that operate in OUR bands know it.
1. The truckers could not care less about your posturing. You have to find them, first.
2. The FCC will do nothing about your complaints. Don't waste your time or tapes.
3. There is no way you will ever be able to track them down. Not today, not tomorrow.
4. The violators don't even know that this Newsgroup exists. They are truckers, not Internet prowlers.
5. The truckers and freebanders have never heard of Harold Hoffman and have never heard of you. In their world, you simply do not count.
6. Even YOU should realize that the FCC regulations mean nothing to them.

Take two Midols and call me in the morning.

Oh sure, a "10 Meter Radios for the Professional driver" with "echo" and "talk back".

That's NOT a 10 meter radio with a 40 channel selector knob! That's a CB in disguise.

Part of the reason this group has zero clout these days is because of deliberate spin and misinformation it group spouts. "Invasion" makes it sound like an organized effort but the writer's use of the term "small" suggests he/she is a newbie to radio or simply uninformed. There has ALWAYS been a small segment of unlicensed users on the 10 meter band and it usually truckers looking for a quiet channel because there are many more interesting contacts to be had on the 11 meter and freeband.

>Originally confined to portions of the >mid-West, the pirate trucker and Freeband

Yup, definitely clueless. Note how the writer captures the attention with the use of the term "small invasion" and how the subject suddenly morphs into an "epidemic." Again, those in power in DC can not and will not (and righteously so) lend this group of folks the time of dy when it comes to real issues. They cannot be trusted as the writer's own words indicate.

That's pretty funny. Every few years or so this half-a-person becomes indignantly offended with his impotence over others.

>What about the FCC? Well its doing what it >can.

Umm...no. The FCC has NEVER done what it is capable.

> There have been several well publicized

And don't you know the companies responded to the FCC without saying word one to their drivers. Can you just imagine the conversation between an independent contractor and the dispatcher. "Uh, hey Joe, can I talk to you a sec? The FCC received a complaint from Jerry Oxendine who usually patrols the Senator Marshall Arthu Rauch Parkway (but sometimes venures to the I-77/I-85 area near Charlotte) monitoring for truckers talking on some kind of channel they shouldn't be talking on. Since you were hauling our trailer, he took the name of our company and the license plate down and I guess we're supposed to tell you about it."

>They request owners to instruct their drivers to >curtail any operations for which they are not >licensed and threatening punitive action such >as fines. But thatâ□□s about it.

Only it doesn't go down that way. Most companies don't make waves with that kind of bullshit especially when the driver has good rates, provides exceptional service and a superb delivery record. Nothing is usually said to drivers under such circumstances.

Actually, that wasn't what he wrote. He wrote, "Use it or lose it" but he certainly didn't coint the phrase. The phrase can be heard in James Dean flicks.

Hey everyone, I was wondering if a single cigarette lighter plug in would be enough to power my cb, 50 watt stereo with 2 speakers, XM reciever and a cigarette lighter plug for my phone.

I drive several kinds of trucks but most have only one cigarette lighter plug in. The Mack's I drive have 3 plug ins.

Does anyone know off the top of their head how many amps this equipment together would pull?

Thanks in advance.

We need the FCC to make the CW/SSB split voluntary on this band, so we can tell the truckers where to go! As long as they are using phone in our CW subband most of us won't be able to legally warn them off. I don't even have a Morse key with a jack plug on it that fits any of my rigs.

You better use the biggest lighter plug you can find and keep it clean or it will get damn hot and burn up. Check the tip once under load.
See if you don't burn your fingers. You are asking for noise and intermittent connections in short order with a lighter plug for any application over a few amps.

You mean you can't use your mike as a CW key? Damn, what kind of ham are you? ;-)

Yeah, that'll work ... <cough!>

With truckers running 200-1KW continuous power and within a mile or two of each other ... all you end up doing is trashing 10 meters like you do this ng.

This should make everyone think, be you Democrat, Republican or Independent

>From a California school teacher - - -"As you listen to the news about
student protests over illegal immigration, there are some things that you should be aware of:

I am in charge of the English-as-a-second-language department at a large southern California high school which is designated a Title 1 school, meaning that its students average lower socioeconomic and income levels.

Most of the schools you are hearing about, South Gate High, Bell Gardens,
Huntington Park, etc., where these students are protesting, are also Title
1 schools.

Title 1 schools are on the free breakfast and free lunch program. When I say free breakfast, I'm not talking a glass of milk and roll -- but a full breakfast and cereal bar with fruits and juices that would make a Marriott proud. The waste of this food is monumental, with trays and trays of it being dumped in the trash uneaten. (OUR TAX DOLLARS AT WORK)

I estimate that well over 50% of these students are obese or at least moderately overweight. About 75% or more DO have cell phones. The school
also provides day care centers for the unwed teenage pregnant girls
as young as 13) so they can attend class without the inconvenience of having to arrange for babysitters or having family watch their kids.
(OUR TAX DOLLARS AT WORK)

I was ordered to spend $700,000 on my department or risk losing funding for the upcoming year even though there was little need for anything; my budget was already substantial. I ended up buying new computers for the computer learning center, half of which, one month later, have been carved with graffiti by the appreciative students who obviously feel humbled and grateful to have a free education in America. (OUR TAX DOLLARS AT WORK)

I have had to intervene several times for young and substitute teachers whose classes consist of many illegal immigrant students here in the country less then 3 months who raised so much hell with the female teachers, calling them "Putas" whores and throwing things that the teachers were in tears.

Free medical, free education, free food, day care etc., etc., etc. Is it any wonder they feel entitled to not only be in this country but to demand rights, privileges and entitlements?

To those who want to point out how much these illegal immigrants contribute to our society because they LIKE their gardener and housekeeper and they like to pay less for tomatoes: spend some time in the real world of illegal immigration and see the TRUE costs.

Higher insurance, medical facilities closing, higher medical costs, more crime, lower standards of education in our schools, overcrowding, new diseases etc., etc, etc. For me, I'll pay more for tomatoes.

We need to wake up. The guest worker program will be a disaster because we won't have the guts to enforce it.
Does anyone in their right mind really think they will voluntarily leave and return?

There are many hardworking Hispanic/American citizens that contribute to our country and many that I consider my true friends. We should encourage and accept those Hispanics who have done it the right and legal way.

It does, however, have everything to do with culture: A third-world culture that does not value education, that accepts children getting pregnant and dropping out of school by 15 and that refuses to assimilate, and an American culture that has become so weak and worried about "politically correct" that we don't have the will to do anything about it.

If this makes your blood boil, as it did mine, forward this to everyone you know.

CHEAP LABOR?

Isn't that what the whole immigration issue is about?

Business doesn't want to pay a decent wage

Consumers don't want expensive produce

Government will tell you Americans don't want the jobs

But the bottom line is cheap labor. The phrase "cheap labor" is a myth, a farce, and a lie. there is no such thing as "cheap labor."

Take, for example, an illegal alien with a wife and five children. He takes a job for $5.00 or $6.00/hour. At that wage, with six dependents, he pays no income tax, yet at the end of the year, if he files an Income Tax Return, he gets an "earned income credit" of up to $3,200 free.

He qualifies for Section 8 housing and subsidized rent

He qualifies for food stamps

He qualifies for free (no deductible, no co-pay) health care

His children get free breakfasts and lunches at school

He requires bilingual teachers and books

He qualifies for relief from high energy bills

If they are or become, aged, blind or disabled, they qualify for SSI. Once qualified for SSI they can qualify for Medicare. All of this is at taxpayer's expense

He doesn't worry about car insurance, life insurance, or homeowners insurance.

Taxpayers provide Spanish language signs, bulletins and printed material.

He and his family receive the equivalent of $20.00 to $30.00/hour in benefits.

Working Americans are lucky to have $5.00 or $6.00/hour left after paying their bills and his.

The American taxpayer's also pay for increased crime, graffiti and trash clean-up.

Cheap labor?

YEAH, RIGHT.

Wake up people

That is a better point. If we use CW they will ignore us anyway - after all. they can't read it. So, yes, we need phone privileges in the parts where they are intruding.

I'm a 20 wpm Extra, but never liked CW. I could send CW using the mic, For some reason it didn't occur to me! The other OM is right, though, It wouldn't do any good if it wasn't said on phone. Probably not even then, but it might be worth a try if we were allowed to do it.

Last time I checked, they don't let the FCC issue licenses of any real Wrong kind of license. Your thinking of drivers license and the discussion is about a license to transmit on federally controlled frequencies.

You can now go back into your hole and vegitate.

Wayne probably did coin the phrase "Use it or loose it", because that phrase makes no sense. He certainly didn't coin the phrase "Use It

A few years ago, Troma released what I still consider to be the best DVD of all time, Citizen Toxie. An entertaining film, with so many worthwhile extras it redefined 'collector's edition,' and all at a really reasonable price. So, it was with much anticipation I awaited the next DVD release of a Troma helmed film (as opposed to those they acquire the rights for). That film was Julie Strain's Tales From the Crapper.

Julie Strain's Tales From the Crapper was a real labour to bring to the small screen. The film was originally meant to be two movies for the short lived Tromaville website. Directed by India Allen, the two films turned out to be incoherent shit. Not only that, but the two films were quite expensive by Troma standards, costing somewhere around $100,000 each. Obviously, Troma is not a studio to spend money, let alone squander it. To get something back, Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, and his cohorts tried to salvage the footage in post production, and even did some reshooting. I did not know all this going in, but the mess that the film is makes more sense if you know that beforehand.

The disc begins with nudity. Literally, you press play, and you get a topless woman. Now, THAT is a good start! The nudity is part of the intro with Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger and 'Michael Herz' (re: Joe Fleishaker playing Herz). The intro pretends to explain why the following movie is shot on video. The intro has the usual cheese, but also some funny, utterly tasteless, jokes.

Tales starts with Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, dressed as The Crapkeeper. This is without question the most expensive, elaborate Troma costume to date. Just imagine all the money Troma must've spent to make it look like The Crapkeeper was just a guy with a rubbish bag on his head! James Gunn, currently winning over genre fans' hearts with his movie Slither, arrives to discuss a movie deal with The Crapkeeper, and then we cut to the first tale in this anthology.

The first story is entitled The Case of the Melon Heavy Alien Man Eater. An alien crash lands, and runs around muttering. The alien sounds an awful lot like Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, being back-masked. Anyway, the alien is looking for someplace where it can raise money to repair its ship and also kill Earthlings at the same time. Naturally, it heads to a strip club. When the alien's murder spree begins, tough cop Julie Strain starts tracking it.

Despite a few jokes 'borrowed' from The Simpsons; Teenage Mutant Ninja Creator, and real life Mr. Strain, Kevin Eastman in a bit part; and a man being killed with his own cock, there's not a lot going on here. The Case of the Melon Heavy Alien Man Eater remains a confusing, jumbled mess, perhaps having TOO MUCH added to try to clarify the confusing, jumbled footage Troma had to work with. There is a series of narrators, who I guess are explaining gaps in the 'story.' The problem is that with virtually everything being poorly ADRed, the narrators only add to the confusion. There are some ADRed jokes as well, but most of these are fart noises. A lot of the ADR 'clarification' actually makes things harder to follow, because with the sound so cluttered and poorly mixed, it's hard to tell who's talking. The most amusing bits of this segment are the ones with the least amount of post-tinkering.

However, because Troma knew the movie was shit, they included something called 'Boner Vision.' Boner Vision is a popup screen within the film that features nudity, and it appears frequently in this segment. This actually DID its job, and distracted me from how bad the movie was.

The end tally for The Case of the Melon Heavy Alien Man Eater is lesbians, cheap as fuck gore, those funny newsmen from Citizen Toxie, and more naked flesh than ever before. I will never watch this section again without commentary, though.

After that ordeal, Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, comes back to essentially do a mini version of his Make Your Own Damn Movie project. He shows the viewer how to create a memorable lesbian, trannie, Fleishaker, splatter scene.

Then it's on to the second story of this anthology, called Tuition of the Terror Twat. Subtle. This time, Strain is a vampire stripper. When a guy has trouble getting into college, his friends set up a risky business, holding a stripper party to raise tuition. Unfortunately, they use Strain and her friends, which results in orgy of violence, rather than the type of orgy they were no doubt hoping for.

Tuition of the Terror Twat is the section that benefited the most from the reshoots, and is far better than the mini-movie that preceded it. This segment starts out with more and better gore than the entire first one, and has the BEST dig at George W. Bush I've ever seen. What really helps this section is that rather than try to make it better, Troma totally deconstructs what's happening on screen. Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, plays the parent of the young man who can't get into college, and he keeps calling in to leave messages on the machine and yell about the 'plot.' When it would make no sense for the father's voice to be there, faux commentaries are inserted to completely cover up boring dialogue or to make fun of the footage. Even with narrators explaining, the movie makes no sense, but given The Crapkeeper's on screen response to critics of the film's plot, I just have this to say: Tuition of the Terror Twat is a masterpiece of logic and gentle poise.

This segment features the bulk of the cameos, including Ted Raimi, Ron Jeremy 'look-alike' Ron Hyatt, Count Smokula, and Trey Parkï¿½erï¿½Juan Schwartz. This segment also has New Found Glory, which is too bad, because they suck.

I actually enjoyed Tuition, and wouldn't have minded if it had been released as a solo mini-movie. But, if it had been on its own, there'd be far less Boner Vision. It has all the plusses of The Case of the Melon Heavy Alien Man Eater, but is far funnier.
Video
Tales from the Crapper's mini-movies are presented full frame, with wraparounds that are letterboxed. The whole thing is shot on video, but the wraparounds are higher quality video. Both of the movies have video grain, soft images, and there are video glitches in the movies and the wraparounds. There is the occasional artefact, but they're hard to spot because of the lesser video quality. The second mini-movie is slightly clearer than the first.
Audio
The audio is available in a two channel track. Case's audio quality fluctuates, as does the volume, and it suffers from painful ADR. Distortion can occur in either mini-movie, and the overall audio is too loud. Case's audio is very slap shod, but Tuition's is better due to a proper mix. Keep an ear out for recycled Toxic Avenger sounds. The score is actually an eclectic collection, with quite a few funny, original songs.
Extra Features

The best extra, as usual for a Troma disc, is the making of. This making of is shorter than some of Troma's others, at roughly 60 minutes, and actually is based around the reshoot. Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, hosts the making of, and also appears to be filming himself for it. He explains the history of the project, and what went wrong. What's very interesting is that here we get a rare glimpse of Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, in serious business mode. It's also interesting to watch the breakdown of the reshoot, mostly the result of Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, having little control and flat out abandoning the reshoot. The behind the scenes also has bonus footage of Raimi and Schwartz, as well as getting to see Wes Craven, who stopped by the set, and Chad (Unspeakable) Ferrin. One thing I REALLY disliked was the mockery made of Craven by some on set (including Ferrin). Craven was obviously not interested in being filmed, but remained polite, and even contributed $100 to the project. While I don't personally feel it's fair to lump Craven in with Tobe Hooper and John Carpenter as directors who've lost it, I think it's shitty to insult the man after he showed support to their project. But I guess when those on hand aren't even showing respect for their own project, how can they be expected to respect anyone else's? The apathy for the film they were making obviously really upset Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, as well. But then, seems virtually everything on a Troma film set does!

The DVD also has an extra called Julie Strain's Topless Comedy Jam. This is mostly a tour of Strain's house that runs about four minutes long. She freestyles, which is terrible, but is topless for a lot of this feature. This extra isn't funny, and there're no ninjas, turtle or otherwise.

Tales' original trailer and new trailer are both included, as are deleted and extended scenes. These scenes have the two other countries the DVD sleeve boasts about production being filmed in, more gore, extended rabbit fetish footage, an Osama Bin Laden blow job, and more nudity. The Cannibal Lesbian Hoedown video clip that everyone in Tales keeps watching or listening to is here, as well as the web comics.

There are two commentaries. One features Julie Strain; Tuition director Brian Spitz; and Lizzie Strain, Julie's sister. Julie makes bad jokes, seems to think the first half is good, and doesn't know who Ted Raimi is. The track is not particularly informative, though Spitz does provide some details about things, and isn't all that entertaining either. The main commentary is much better, and features Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger; Troma editor Gabe Friedman; and a young man named Timmy they claim is the director. This track is funny and satirical. It's not the normal loving mockery you get from Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, for a movie he was involved with, but is filled with faux praise that is really picking the film apart. I was hoping for a full on breakdown of the breakdown of the film, so maybe someday Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, will record a new track to give us further insight into what went wrong.

The DVD also has some of the usual Troma extras, like ads for the website and Make Your Own Damn Movie. The trailer for Citizen Toxie has been removed for this Australian release, but oddly the trailer for Parts of the Family is still present. I thought the Troma trailer nonsense had been sorted out with the OFLC, but I guess not. Also, making its 10 zillionth appearance isï¿½yep, you guessed itï¿½THE RADIATION MARCH.
The Verdict
A few of the extras are lacklustre, but this is another required DVD for Troma fans. I can't imagine anyone revisiting The Case of the Melon Heavy Alien Man Eater. Other than that, Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, and company have done a commendable job of turning utter shit into entertaining shit. The extras may not be up to Citizen Toxie standard, but then, neither is the main feature. Hopefully Lloyd Kaufman, president of Troma and creator of the Toxic Avenger, will vent some of his frustration with this project artistically in his upcoming Poultrygeist.

Yup, that's him. But he had enough chutzpah to employ a writer who reported and wrote about the freebanders, too. The rag took plenty of shit over that editorial decision. The mention of it still causes some of the weirdo-chicks like Jerry, Lee and Doug to menstruate out of cycle.

Good neighbors on the citizens band
The '70s are long gone, but citizens band radios -- along with their lingo -- still rule the highways.
By Andrew Kantor
   981-3384
Citizens band radios are alive and well, thank you very much. And while video may have killed the radio star, and DVDs killed the videotape, cellphones and high-powered walkie-talkies haven't hurt the CB market. Make all the Dukes of Hazzard jokes you want. Chances are every one of the truckers you pass on Interstate 81 has two or more CBs in the cab -- one to use, one as a backup. They're that important, even for drivers who now have cellphones, laptops and GPS devices.
"I use one all the time in the truck, and I always keep one in the bunk for a spare," said Jeff Beleznay, a 22-year truck driving veteran who lives in Roanoke. "Too many times that CB has saved my life or saved me from getting into an accident."
He's not alone, by far. Tune to Channel 19 -- as always, the place for highway chatter -- and you'll hear the constant comments from the big-rig drivers.
"They're the standard for communication for the truck driver," said Tony Mirabelli, senior vice president of sales and marketing for Cobra Electronics Corp., the world's largest maker of CB radios. "Cellular phones and the newer media ... has had little or no effect on CB sales over the years," he said. "It's been a very constant category for us. We sell thousands of them every month."
Indeed, CB manufacturers including Cobra, Uniden, Galaxy, Ranger and others haven't relegated the radios to the discount shelf. While you can spend less than $50 for a low-end model, you can drop close to $200 on the Galaxy DX959 or Cobra 200 GTL DX. And that's before you buy an antenna and get it tuned.
CBs as we know them have been around since 1958, but they became famous in the 1970s thanks to movies such as "Smokey and the Bandit" and "Convoy." (The popularity of Bo and Luke Duke didn't hurt, either.)
Drivers today use them for the same reasons as drivers then: keeping track of road conditions and even crime.
"It's a big safety issue with me, on the interstate especially," Beleznay said. "The average person in a car going down I-81 doesn't even know what's going on."
What's going on could be anything from an unmarked police car in the median to a major accident. Sometimes it's an annoyance, other times it's a danger. While zipping down a two-lane road a few years ago, Beleznay got a shout from a coal truck driver headed the other way -- there was another truck stuck in the road around an upcoming curve.

"Sure enough, if I didn't have a CB radio I'd have been going the speed limit around that curve and whammed right into somebody," he said.
In cases where drivers show a more relaxed attitude toward the speed limit than the law prefers, CBs also come in handy.
"A CB is the best radar detector you have," said Steven Anders, an Arkansas driver passing through Roanoke with a load of paper bound for Laredo, Texas. "We know where all the cops are."
They'll often know a long way in advance, in fact. "You'll know of a bear in the median somewhere at a certain mile marker," Beleznay said, and that's without breaking the law. (Virginia is the only state that bans radar detectors, although Washington, D.C., does too.)
And yes, CB slang is still out there -- cars are "four-wheelers," you might be asked to give your "20," and police are "bears." There's still no love lost between truckers and officers, either. Big rigs like Beleznay's make easy targets for the police.
"Three or four four-wheelers will blow by you at 75, 80 miles an hour," he groused. "But your radar detector won't go off till that bear gets a clear shot at you."
Most drivers keep a CB on for simple conversation, if only to while away the hours.
"The CB radio helps drivers stay awake at night," Beleznay said. "You get talking to guys in front of you, behind you, or a couple of miles away, and just that conversation is enough to keep you awake on those long hours of the night."
Most is the friendly banter you'd expect, mixed, not surprisingly, with complaints about everything from police and weather to who made the playoffs. Closer to the truck stops, though, it tends to get a little rougher around the edges.
Anders recalled two truckers who had been exchanging words over the airwaves, then they met at a truck stop to exchange punches. And of course, he said, "there's always guys looking for lot lizards." (That's slang for, shall we say, women of questionable morals.)
The conversation can quickly turn R-rated, or worse, when a female voice graces the airwaves. "Let your girlfriend say 'Hi' and see what happens," Anders suggested. "It's like a real bad Internet chat room."
In 2007 or 1974, boys will be boys.
CBs have stayed popular so long in large part because of what technology companies call an installed user base.
"Everybody knows that if you want information from a professional driver, just get on Channel 19," Mirabelli said.
Plus, when it comes to bang for the buck, it's hard to beat CBs. They provide longer range than low-power, family radio service (FRS) walkie-talkies, they don't require the license that more powerful radios do, and they have a great track record.
Over the years there have been tweaks to improve transmission, Mirabelli said, along with some minor changes such as illuminated displays and the ability to pull in the weather band. The bottom line, though, is that "40-channel CBs are not all that different today versus yesterday."
And while cellphones might be more common among drivers of four-wheelers, Beleznay doesn't see the end of the CB's reign. "A lot of people are getting wise to it. They're listening to the truck drivers, especially people who are driving on the weekends."

"They're not talking," he said, "but they're listening."

How is "assclown' sexually based. Oh excuse me for not thinking the way that you do, most everyone else does not view the ass as a sexual organ, or even a body part.

Nevertheless, to give you a reality check in line with the rest of the world.

Definition:

1. Assclown

One, who, through the fault of his parents conception, is a skid mark in society's collective underwear.

That Mark, pretty well sums it up. See no sex involved. Reverse homophobe.

Hello All:

Yeah thats the way to make a long driving trip, keeping an ear on the CB, and 2 meter radio, and an eye on the radar detector.

And we all know that Radar Detectors can detect a one way solid signal a hole better than the radar gun can receive a reflected signal from a vehicle, by a min of 6 dB. Look up radar range equation.

what state did you say you were in?

anyway, if someone is using my call, better let the local office of the FCC know (file a report).

also, I tend to monitor there with a Shortwave Receiver and I haven't heard a thing locally (save for the CW beacons and some other cw traffic). skip has been real light lately.

who needs tapes. a couple of well placed calls to a congressman or 2 often gets fast results (but having recorded conversations and digital fingerprinting ID's helps) wrong again. a lot of them were talking then about the case and dozens even made comments in newsgroups and mailing lists (among other places). I find it rather difficult to believe no one has ever NOT heard of this considering that it got the attention of the first lady of the white house back in 1994! try again!

I'll bet the money they spend in fines would though (or how about loss of employment for dragging a company into legal hot water?)

heh. think you're a doctor now?

anyway, you are not completely aware of the reality of the situation. too bad for you. just start looking at the FCC newsletter. plenty of items in there that prove my case for me.

Wow,

I posted this solely to rec.radio.cb because it clearly was an 11-meter related subject, however, the reply was then cross-posted to rec.ponds, ba.broadcast, rec.radio.amateur.policy, alt.autos.mini and rec.radio.shortwave... I wonder why? Oh well, I've corrected that.

The best answer to that query is "because they can." I have much more respect for folks who are willing to "find a way" to legally accomplish a goal rather than acquiesce to the naysayers, who very rarely accomplish much of anything.

Hey there, how're you? Well, I hope. I've been so busy that I hardly check USENET anymore. Sadly, I've been pretty much off the air as well. I guess I'll fix that in the not-too-distant future. Take care and all the best to you and yours. Happy Independance Day to you too.

SAGAMORE ☐ The Air Force wants to clear the air.
Military officials asked the Federal Communications Commission to make ham radio operators eliminate radio frequency interference with the PAVE PAWS radar station, or shut down.
The alleged interference comes from 15 area repeaters ☐ devices that relay a weak amateur radio signal so it has more power and reach. They share the 420-to-450-megahertz frequency with the satellite- and missile-tracking military radar.
The amateur radio operators, led by the American Radio Relay League, said they'll gladly get out of the radar's way. But the Air Force's request has left them perplexed.
For security reasons, the military won't tell them what is causing the interference, how to fix it or why, after 28 years of co-existing on the same frequency, there is only recently static in the air.
"It is a little bit like being in a crowded room and you want to hear one person speak and you ask everyone else to be quiet," said Geoffrey Way, president of the Falmouth Amateur Radio Association, which has about 150 members. "That would be the ideal answer as far as the Department of Defense is concerned. If you create total silence locally, it is easier to hear the echoes from far away."
Ham radio operators are part geeks-with-gadgets, part emergency responders. They set up home radio stations to bounce signals on earth or into space. They chat with buddies across the globe ☐ and they're certified by the FCC to do so.
In crises, when other communications break down, they step up, said Frank O'Laughlin, district emergency coordinator for the Cape Cod Amateur Radio Emergency Service.
Ham radio operators have helped during Hurricane Bob and the 2005 blizzard by communicating with the National Weather Service and providing assistance at shelters.
In those situations, the repeaters are crucial. They can pick up weak signals from low-power radios and send them off to far places.
"It's the kind of frequency that the average guy without a lot of money can get on and use," said Ralph Swenson of Falmouth, trustee of two Cape repeaters.
But hams aren't the only ones using the frequency. They're merely "secondary users," or band squatters who use it only if they won't bother the primary user, PAVE PAWS.
PAVE PAWS, located in Sagamore, has scanned the eastern skies for satellites and missiles since 1979. It's one of three such systems that provide complete radar coverage of the United States.
The system, like any kind of radar, sends waves into the sky, where they bounce off objects and send the radio waves echoing back to the system.

It's somewhere in that process that an Air Force engineer team found interference in the 420-to-450 megahertz frequency last year, leading to the recent request to the FCC to make the hams tone it down.
Lt. Col. Christopher Gentry, commander of the 6th Space Warning Squadron that runs the radar, said nothing has changed in the radar operations. But he said clearing the airwaves is a way to make sure PAVE PAWS maintains peek performance.
The Air Force engineers pinpointed 15 repeaters, including three on the Cape and others as far away as Rhode Island and Boston. At the California PAVE PAWS, they targeted more than 100, according to the American Radio Relay League.
The national organization for ham radio operators helped negotiate a deal with the military that includes dropping the power of the repeaters or lowering their height. But they are at a loss to figure out exactly how to fix the interference problem.
"We say, 'Well, what kind of interference are you getting?' And they say, 'It is classified.' It's just difficult to get to the root of the problem if we can't be told exactly what it is," O'Laughlin said. "It may turn out that maybe they won't want us on the band anymore."
The Cape repeaters have already dropped their power down to 5 watts, but that is not without consequences.
"There is no question the reduction of that (power) would seriously hamper the repeaters ability almost to the point where it may be questionable whether it is even worth keeping them on the air," O'Laughlin said.
This summer, the Air Force engineers will test whether the amateur operators' efforts have worked. Gentry said they'd rather work with them then evict them from the frequency. "Yes, we could go back and tell them to cease and desist. If we can come up with other mitigation techniques, that is where we want to be," Gentry said. "We don't want to shut anyone down if we don't have to."

Actually Oyen, the truth of your matter is, if you think there's a solution, you're part of the problem.

I wonder if PAVE PAWS has anything to do with the buzzing we all hear on 440.
I tend to think it's something local because I've heard it in the repeater and then heard it on my radio. It happens once every 8 seconds and the pulse rate sometimes changes. The rotation also can change it's period from the "normal" eight seconds. We do have Westinghouse in town...

Did not know that 440 mhz radar was still used, sounds like old WWII technology. But why now is the interference just showing up. I drought that the repeaters is causing the problem. Must be the damn UFOs.

LOL!!! No Eric. You & Jerry posted it in one trucking group 10 years ago. You then in a moment of joy decided over the next months to post it in every radio related group you could find. What in gods name would you want to post it in groups like rec.radio.shortwave alt.radio.scanner rec.radio.amateur.antenna ??
Where and what Joy did they get out of it?
Ask just the question Timothy Harold Hoffman, who knows him in the truck groups and you will get a zero response probably. You really should try doing a Google search on the statement before "YOU" start making claims that are no where near the truth
Your claim that it took only a couple of calls to congress man, what a crock!!!
It took Lance years to get him off the air. He was already warned and he still was an idiot to keep doing it. This is probably the worst case you could use as a reason for staying off 10 meters or catching an occasional trucker violating it.

Those kind of signals make me curious. In all these years I can only remember one that we were specifically unable to track and it was right after a hurricane blew through the area in 2004.

The art of dick sucking cums naturally to marqueer monkeys, but the more masculine gav type chimps must be trained.

You can pick up your Monkey Boy at the Morgan residence in Chassell, Michigan. Although, beware of the unruly beast, he will try to bite it off, and then run to your computer to spam Usenet.

I heard that!!! I agree they should have bigger things to worry about.
I thought they were just trying to recruit gay guys since they are always talking gay sex. Who knew they didnt like amplifiers... Well there is not much they can do about the amps since they are used so much everywhere. There are so many amps in my area and these guys dont even know this place exists. So now what???

Filter. Just add these dummies to the kill file daily. The squelch action is great! Let these "boys" preach to the choir, of themselves!

I have 8 RF amps here. Most for upper HF and working. Some are for 2 meters.
I sold a lot of my AM CB's and other junque at the hamfest last year to the tune of several hundred $$$. What a night/day that was. I got there for the overnight to watch over the grounds. Then worked the gate for my hour for three hours until my relief showed up. Then I set up and sold stuff, then after packing up my leftovers, I helped to stack tables and clean up the main hall. This year I didn't even leave flyers at the only overpriced electronics store in town. I may not even go to the club hamfest this year, but if I do, I have the "hamfest official" badge from last year. I know they reuse the same ones over and over. The admission tickets were 2002!

I can understand finding this one:
http://www.fcc.gov/eb/FieldNotices/2003/DOC-274352A1.html

but this one?
http://www.fcc.gov/eb/FieldNotices/2003/DOC-274350A1.html

There are a bazillion notices to stores selling analog TV's that don't have a DTV tuner. Those sets need this label:

"CONSUMER ALERT

This television receiver has only an analog broadcast tuner and will require a converter box after February 17, 2009, to receive over-the-air broadcasts with an antenna because of the Nation's transition to digital broadcasting. Analog-only TVs should continue to work as before with cable and satellite TV services, gaming consoles, VCRs, DVD players, and similar products. For more information, call the Federal Communications Commission at 1-888-225-5322 (TTY:
1-888-835-5322) or visit the Commission's digital television website at: [1]www.dtv.gov."

New sets need to have an NTSC/ATSC tuner. And you thought the only important thing in TV's were the ANT/CATV setting! For those that care, ATSC will happen in the UHF portion. The VHF and most of the UHF will be taken away for good.

Also expect an 800 megahertz rebanding in the future making obsolete older Motorola trunktrackering scanners. Thanks Sprint/Nextel! It's going to cost Nextel millions of dollars to accomplish. Scanner users will not be reimbursed.

I guess it takes one to know one eh?

anyway, the problem still exists... you say that I posted this, yet the information related to the post does not, nor has it not, matched any of my previous internet accounts to date.

the writing style cannot even be said to be mine. and no header information was provided that could be verified.

everytime I hit a nerve (with the truth) someone (like you) has to trot this little gem out again (and again) to distract from the real point of the debate.

Like I told someone else in another newsgroup: if you have a personal problem with me, you bring it to me personally. otherwise, your words in this public forum can be considered actionable.

is that clear enough for you?

Not really Eric, you made the claim that all you had to do was place a couple of calls to a senator or congressman and you would have someone busted. I called you on that BS and you are now upset.
As for information, you ever so conveniently deleted the Google link showing how it took lance many many years to get him off the freqs, again showing that your statement of :

"who needs tapes. a couple of well placed calls to a congressman or 2 often gets fast results (but having recorded conversations and digital fingerprinting ID's helps)"

is nothing more than wishful thinking by you.

I'm more than willing to debate Eric, I'm also more than willing to call BS posted by someone that's talking BS.

Oh my gosh ????? Are you going to threaten me with lawsuit? lengthy litigation on how I have some how threatened you? Harmed your employment? Hampered your life style? Hurt your feelings?
Have at Eric, I have posted nothing more than what is available from a quick Google
search (nothing more and a whole lot less than what was out there by you). As for having a problem with you????????????? Nope, you just have to learn not to post crap that you nothing about or trying to take credit for what someone else did.

You made claims that truckers in (your own words) "wrong again. a lot of them were talking then about the case and dozens even made comments in newsgroups and mailing lists (among other places)"

Maybe one or two commented, otherwise it was you that posted in dozens of groups
and was talking about.

> so, I give you leave to think (if thats even possible for you to do).

Oh I'm always thinking, if a person stops they might as well stop living.
I'll leave you with a bit of wisdom.....Before you make post making it seem like it's just a phone call away on a subject, you might want to do some more research on the subject (instead of acting like it was you who got him busted).

Here's the link to help you get around Eric (LOL!!)

http://www.valleymetro.org/bus/System_Map/index.htm

And here's the link you forgot to include showing that you did nothing more to bust that person, but sure was busy posting it in every group you could think of.

The "dumbing down" of Amateur Radio is very apparent.
Examples abound, especially on the area repeaters.

Case in point. How many Newbies with new HT's do you hear telling others that they are "full quieting" on a local repeater??
Duh!
And of course there are the Newbies who are unfamiliar with Simplex operations. What the heck is simplex? HT's are supposed to be programmed for all the local repeaters, right?

And if you Newbies can't get your new Radio Shack handlelds working right,.. take them back to Radio Shack so as to let the stupid sales person program it for you.

Two Meters these days ain't what it used to be.
I heard that, I did.

I love usenet, Oyen, because your posting history very clearly illustrates your hypocrisy. This little gem below illustrates how you were rollling and fingerpainting in your own feces with the same garbage someone is shoving down your throat right now. You're a hypocrite scumbag who can dish it out but can't take it.

Tell us about headers, Eric. And go ahead and explain how wrong you were in your accusations. On second thought, don't. Just fall to the wayside and lower your head and let the thread die off like you usually do when it has been illustrated what a lowlife scumbag of a person you really are.

What petty and small change crapp! Good hams come from being helped out.
I wish I had a dime every time I ignored some petty crapp from some one.
And the conversation or QSO turned into something great, like me

I suggest the unfriendly hams get friendly.

CW should have been thrown out when the telephone was invented. But if you enjoy it have at it. But the dropping of CW is not dumping down the amateur quality, but increasing the ranks of people who know and have experience with other technical issues. I have a newbie down the road whos is a super computer wiz-o can do and fix type. I love talking to him.

OK, you said this:

"Since you seem to have a problem with me personally, perhaps you should take it up with me personally and in private. otherwise, your words here (like all others) can be considered actionable."

Are you are threatening me with some sort of legal action Eric??? LOL!!. The funny thing is that there really isn't anything you can do, with one exception. Stop posting false facts. Again, I have not done nothing wrong other than call you on the statement of:

"who needs tapes. a couple of well placed calls to a congressman or 2 often gets fast results (but having recorded conversations and digital fingerprinting ID's helps)"

And:

"wrong again. a lot of them were talking then about the case and dozens even made comments in newsgroups and mailing lists (among other places). I find it rather difficult to believe no one has ever NOT heard of this considering that it got the attention of the first lady of the white house back in 1994! try again!"

All I did was a Google search showing you that no truckers were talking about it and it took Lance years to get results, all counter to what you claimed,

> weither way,
> I don't give a damned what you think or how you think it.

Well that's you're prerogative, but remember.....a closed mind doesn't learn anymore, while an open mind is infinite in learning. Also, please feel free to pursue what ever legal actions you can, I'm not worried :)

You appear very confused over the technical terms you are using. The misleading description doesn't fool anyone that works with radio.
The only thing that will increase range is more power or a better aerial and/or location. You will find that the oscilloscope required to correctly set this device with each radio would be put to better use setting the radio without it in the first place.
Why do CBers still insist on having overdeviated signals claiming that range will be increased? It causes a lot of splattering and most other radios with narrow filtering will simply cut the signal thinking it is "bleedover" as you call it.
On AM your radio will still clip the signal as it will on SSB if this extra compressor is set incorrectly.

The only thing to do would be to modify the radio completely and remove the TX audio conditioning circuits and replace them with this board.

I would say it's not required, certainly not in a modern radio. It will decrease performance.

I hooked up my 2950 today. I had barely turned it on when I heard a QRZ.
Tuned him in and was talking to Port City, FL on 28.310. He heard someone and made a comment that the frequency was in use and to stand by. My response was that if another station wants to get in, let them. I came from CB and the more the merrier, especially if it's a new ham, give them happiness instead of a load of crap and welcome them to the hobby. Well that guy was in the Poconos. Too far for ground wave and too close for skip...

CW should not have been a requirement for a license for years. It's something you can do or not. Who needs a test? If you can send and copy, you know CW.
I don't want CW to go away. I believe there should be a portion of each band exclusively for CW without encroachment from any other weak signal mode.

Hello Rob:

Wow what a bunch of negative vibs.

You bet it will increase distance, so will a linear amplifier, and a better and higher antenna. As for the overmodulated signals, sure I hear all the time, even on the lower bands. Shouldn't be a biggie.

We use to put a Diwa 440 speech processor on our CB Rigs, years ago. And they worked great on AM and SSB, way more on SSB of course. You could cut thru the skip with the processor on, and we didn't use no oscillioscope. But there was some honking linears out there tho.

A well designed (probably something telstar can't do) and properly adjusted speech processor can boost the average signal some, but most of the claims made are just hype. Most, if not all cbers will simply crank the gain wide open because it makes the meter "swang" more so they think they are getting a bigger signal, and I doubt they have a clue as to what an oscilloscope is much less how to use one.

My 2p, I mean 2c.

The job of an audio processor is to increase the 'average level' level of audio without changing the waveform. This can be done at both audio and RF frequencies (RF speech processors are commonly found in many ham transceivers).

However, even in the best processors a certain level of distortion is generated. It's down to the designer and the user to keep this to a minimum.

Yes, a scope is handy but I doubt your typical processor user would know what to do with one.

Hi Jay, long time no speak. I hope your antennas are selling well.

Sadly, no. I'm wondering what a "motived" CB is, myself.
Mark has been asked time and time again to use a spell check, but he is far too lazy to do so. He's so busy flaming the groups that a spell check program would serve only get in his way.
Mark prefers quantity to quality.

And don't believe for a nanosecond that he is in any way acting as a humanitarian when he says, "I think it rireasonable to tell the poor soul how to contact me off air and help him out"" The guy can't help himself, much less others.

That's because he just wants to sell something. He doesn't care what he sells because he thinks he can sell ice to an Eskimo. His marketing scams might work with his mommy and daddy so he can live in their basement, but it doesn't work with people who actually want something that's worth their hard-earned money. Ten years of spamming the group and he still hasn't figured that out. Not much slope to -his- learning

You have a point but the market for those noise toys sailed years ago for the most part, along with the bell bottom jeans.

He'll have to get a real job if he wants to upgrade from his folks basement.

No, I don't. That's why I want to run it through the bench. The only thing I'm sure that works is the noise gate, but I still don't see the point since all it does is shut off the audio when you're not talking to eliminate ambient noise. And it's that ambient noise that let's the other guy know that you're still keyed up. A noise gate would make your radio sound like a cheap speaker phone, or that crappy digital voice from Comcast. Hey, here's an idea -- when you're done talking, why not just unkey the mic?

That's ok, I have a few friends that will order it for me.

ieSpell is a free Internet Explorer browser extension that spell checks text input boxes on a webpage. It should come in particularly handy for lazy, dyslexic users like Mark Morgan who do a lot of web-based text entry (e.g. web mails, forums, blogs, spam, flaming, etc.)

http://www.iespell.com/

a.. Completely standalone spell checker for your web browser. Does not require Microsoft Office or any other third party components.
a.. Integrates flawlessly with Internet Explorer and other IE based browsers.
a.. Three ways to start the spell check; via the right click context menu, the toolbar or the menu bar.

KDon't Look Gay: Why American Men Are Afraid of Intimacy with Each Other
John Ibson, American Sexuality
Sex & Relationships: Why do adolescent boys often leave empty seats between each other when they go to the movies? It's a product of the culture of male homophobia in America which pushes men to avoid intimacy

Er no.

If you wish to look it up on any maps or even on-line resources, you will find it's real name is Kingston-upon-Hull. The Hull is a river, albeit one which flows into the Humber.

It's a bit like calling Henley-on-Thames (and anyone remember THAT episode of MAGPIE? Yes, that's right, Tommy Boyd isn't lying when he says he was never on the show: it was his far less famous look-alike Paul Henley!) Thames and expecting people to realise you do not mean Oxford...or London...

Nobody cares what you say, your in more killfiles than anyone. Mark, you are cheap entertainment, an oddity. I post you spam with your crazy logic. Your comical like a clown or monkey, where else can I say whatever, and have a grown man respond like a manic monkey. It's like playing with dirt, without getting your hands dirty. You are such a tool, aye. LOL

Ah yes, I remember now! There are quite a few decent sports teams to have come out of the city I think.
Kingston-Upon-Hull City FC, Kingston-Upon-Hull Kingston Rover RFC are just two of them.

Bovine excrement.

An amplifier will increase the average level, but by increasing all levels. As many references make clear (some listed below), an amplifier does NOT change the waveform.

The perfect amplifier or audio processor, would create zero distortion - no change to the waveform. However, the perfect circuit does not exist so some distortion will occur in any active circuit.
This includes circuits already in the radio.

A processor may be any circuit that carries out the process the designer (or marketing person) has decided on. This could be as simple as an amplifier... it is carrying out a process.

A processor which simply amplifies all signals and clips the higher levels can produce much distortion. A well designed and adjusted processor could produce little more distortion than a simple amplifier.

The question is whether "Telstar" and "well designed" go together. I would like to see an independent review from someone without an axe to grind.

Peter.

With all due respect, equine droppings.

Processor is a general term... someone or something that carries out a process.
For an audio or speech processor, as with any electronic circuit, the process is whatever the designer decides it is.

A speech or audio processor may be no more than an amplifier... it carries out a process on the audio you put in. It may be an amplifier with clipping, which can cause real distortion.
A well known speech processor, sold in the UK and USA (maybe even around the world), is exactly that - amplify, clip, amplify again.

It should be noted that a simple amplifier does increase the average level - even if by increasing all levels. What a simple amp does not do is to alter the dynamic range of the signal.

> This can be done at both audio and RF frequencies (RF speech > processors are commonly found in many ham transceivers).

The problem here is that we may see the way things are done at the top end, where equipment costs a friggin fortune, and assume that is the standard or the requirement.
Cheaper versions may do the absolute minimum required for the manufacturer to be able to legally defend the product.

As an example, what would you consider a "regulated" supply to be?
Personally, I would not call something "regulated" unless it has a way of monitoring the output and compensating for errors. However, manufacturers have sold "regulated" supplies which are no more than a rectifier and smoothing.

> However, even in the best processors a certain level of > distortion is generated.

Any active circuits will cause some distortion, including those already built into the radio. Perfect circuits would produce zero distortion, but there is no such thing as the perfect circuit.

> It's down to the designer and the user to keep this to a > minimum.

Not quite.
It is up to the designer to meet the balance between quality and price set by the company. Their job could range from the minimum to avoid legal action, through to top of the range products at top of the range prices.

In some cases, it may even be cheaper to risk legal action than to correct a problem or recall products.
Which of these would have been better off playing by the rules...
Cadbury (did they get fined?), Channel 5 (fined £300,000 for game show cheating) and West Ham (fined just a tiny portion of next season's premiership money).

A good quality speech processor will be designed to reduce the dynamic range of the signal, without overdriving the next stage, while producing as little distortion as possible.
But do the terms "CB" and "quality" go together?

> Yes, a scope is handy but I doubt your typical processor user would > know what to do with one.

Except those in Sheffield... they all have 'scopes on their submarines.
(I can joke about it, I had the sense to live on a hill).

Hey Brian, if I use your pre-production-stage-for-almost-a-year-now processor to ask why you refuse to post your now defunct non-linear linear, like I've been doing for over a year, would you be able to hear me THEN?

WOW, that was FAST!!! Is that all you do? Sit there in your parent's basement waiting for someone to order one of your hack-jobs when you can't even give an estimate on when they will go into full production?
Don't you have anything better to do? I mean, heck..... look at posts from yesterday afternoon, one of the biggest national holidays, when just about everybody can find something to do besides jerking off in front of a computer. It seems that the only people who posted were you and the trolls. And yet, even with all that spare time because you couldn't drag your ass away from the computer and out of the basement long enough to join the rest of humanity in a barbecue, you AGAIN refused to answer the tough question, just like you have done for several years now.....

Where's the schematic for your hacked amp, Brian?

4552. Mark, what does rape have to do with radio? Why did you bring it up here on June 21, caught you lying again...

Oh dear, are you selling oscilloscopes and test sets in order for buyers to set their radios correctly?
You really don't have any technical knowledge. All you seem to do is re-sell boards made by other companies.
You should see what people are saying about you in other groups, you have a terrible reputation.

Brian, I have -never- said the thing didn't work. I -did- say that your claims of what it can do are impossible. I can't wait to hook it up to the radio and watch the modulation meter dance as I talk, contrary to your claim that I will maintain 100% modulation 100% of the time. It will be fun to hook it up to the distortion analyzer and graph what you claim is less than 1% THD. I might even make a .wav of my own voice, processed by your gizmo, as it's heard by the receiver.

But the most fun will come when I post the results and watch you try and shovel a large pile of techno-turds trying to defend against how your box -really- works.

>I just find it comical that he blatently says one thing and then does >another. I guess he figures nobody will notice... lol

On the contrary, I hope EVERYONE will notice.... "lol".

>And the sad part is... they might not out here on this group!

Thanks for the tip, Brian -- I think I'll post the results to a web page as well, along with one of my favorite quotes from you:

"Now how did I know that Frank wouldn't have any ideas...
I guess he's too busy working on his Master's degree... LOL !"

BTW, where's that schematic?

Why don't you ask Twistedhed about that one. I fought him for years on a political issue only to find out that I was wrong. I still disagree with his freebanding, but when I'm proven wrong, at least -he- knows that I'll stand up and take my punches.

I'm giving you a chance to prove me wrong, Brian. If you product works like you say it does, and it doesn't cost you any money, why in the world -wouldn't- you be willing to sell me one?

No, but last March I did finish a study on EM wave interference pattern and polarization interactions in atmospheric media of varying ionization. It was a joint project with the meteorology department in the study of weather radar, with extended applications to satellite communications. Got any opinions on the subject, Brian?

Absolutely right. These are discussion groups, but some people would rather use them as their own personal media for spamming products that would otherwise be pulled from the market for patent violations and/or false advertising. It's truly shameful how these basement-dwellers act, isn't it, Brian?

You'd think he would have suckered someone by now. If not then why would he keep spamming the groups?

Ya know, you're 100% correct.

I'm not going to waste my time with the rotten faggot anymore. How the filthy,slimey fruit can sleep doing what he does to YZ's family is beyond me. Not that Mr Steve needs me to defend him. I only know of the man through my interest in CAP and radio related articles of his I have read.

But you ARE right. Morky is probably his own worse enemy.

Mark most certainly IS his own worst enemy.
Mark thrives on the comments that users post, and without the responses,
Mark will be left adrift.
Mark needs the attention. He cannot exist without it.
If you and I ignore Mark, he will be left without a forum.

Agreed. Hell, even during the heat of the debates Frank would go into extreme detail regarding the hows and whys of the subject. For years I've been willing to give Griffey the benefit of doubt regarding his linear, but no one has come forward with actual product review other than himself. Grif, my offer still stands.

Ok Grif, I'll check out the link. Imho, I think the linear has the potential to gain more interest than your other products, at least among this crowd as relates to CB use.

Then you aren't processing the speech waveform, just amplifying it. If you want to process the waveform for more average power, then the waveform has to be changed.

Does anyone run legal power anymore? I can sit in my jeep and work the United States and many times the world on any band from 10 to 40 meters running 40 watts. But I can't seem to make a damn CB contact. I modified my Yaesu FT840 for open TX when the 60 meter band became available to hams and I can TX on the CB channels now. Even running 20 W AM no one seems to hear me on any CB channel though I can tune up to 10 Meters and get a 59+20 signal report from Arizona an the same radio and antenna. I'm starting to think that every CBer runs 600 Watts with a bad receiver. I used to have a lot of fun with a little 4 watt CB when I was a kid and before I got my ham ticket.

That's such an oversimplification that it's flat-out wrong. What you are saying is just like if you adjusted your computer monitor or TV by turning the contrast all the way down, the brightness all the way up, then telling people that it's a better picture despite the fact that it's worse.

No, it isn't. What you are doing is muting the ambient noise only when the voice is loud enough to trigger the gate. Once the gate is open, both voice -AND- noise are passed. What it sounds like to the human ear is distorted audio because the audio "processor" in your brain hears the noise only with the voice and associates the two as one.

Noise gates have their place, such as stage audio applications where ambient noise is perceived as distorting the -desired- sounds. That's what it was designed to do. Your processor does exactly the opposite by making the noise audible with, and -only- with, the desired sounds.

Say what?

Not even close. Speakerphones sound choppy (like the noise gate in your "processor") because they are voice-operated half-duplex. They sound "hollow" because of the filtering needed to prevent the thing from triggering it's own VOX.

Same as turning down the contrast. Brights are dimmer, darks are lighter. Then you push the average modulation up to 100% which is no different than turning up the brightness. It's a perfect analogy,

So you can't adjust the threshold on the noise gate? That's pretty lame. So you set the threshold to trigger at a certain level, like during normal driving. So what happens when you are towing a boat up a hill with the windows open? How do you prevent it from chattering like a chimp with the hiccups? Does it have hysteresis to smooth out the chatter? If so, how long do you have to hum into the mic before you can start talking? If not, and you have to set it high enough to prevent chatter, how loud do you have to speak so your audio isn't chopped up?

I don't think you've thought through this whole noise gate thing, Brian. You certainly haven't tested it much under real conditions, if at all. If you did you wouldn't be selling it.

And BTW, since your non-linear linear has been discontinued, why won't you post the schematic?

The band is a bit noisy. I can make contacts all over on 10 meters, but I can yell until I'm hoarse on 11 meters with 125 watts.

How about some feedback from a customer (not a shill) after they have installed it and used it for a couple months in the real world? Or, even better, how about from some of the people on the other end (i.e, the RECEIVING end -- why do I have to spell it out for you?)?

And what happened to the rest of my post? You know, the part about how the human brain functions in a way that the use of a noise gate in this application makes the audio sound worse rather than better? Or how wrong you were about speakerphones? Do you think I'm just making this stuff up? When you go to college for an engineering degree, they don't make you take psychology and other seemingly irrelevant courses for nothing -- they are indeed relevant, especially when your minor is in communications. Human perception plays a paramount role in the design of any audio (or video) technology. You might even say it's absolutely critical. There's even a facet of engineering called "human engineering" which deals almost exclusively with interactions between humans and technology....

But I forget, you are so naturally gifted that you don't need to learn of such things. Whenever someone shoves the facts in your face you can reply with a snide comment and your credibility is magically restored.
Good for you, Brian!

Let me be sure that I understand what you are saying.

An amplifier increases or decreases levels, ie voltage and/or current.
Yet the resulting output waveform is identical to the input?

If that is your position then that is utter bovine, canine, feline and any other *ine excrement you wish to use.

The only way the output waveform is equal to the input waveform is when the stage is at unity gain and is distortion free, period.
Otherwise the output waveform is different than the input. Either or both of the voltage and current is greater or less than the input. A waveform of any continuous time varying signal is defined as a set of intantaineous points versus time that represent that signal. Simply putting it.

Correct in that a distortion free function is nonexistant in electronics.

only if there is sufficient filtering to remove most of the distortion. Generally distortion results in harmonics and other highfrequency components of the signal. A properly designed filter of signifcant response can filter most of the objectinable harmonics and/or high frequency components.

Actually he poses a very interesting question that relates to the performance of the noise gate and it's response to rapid changing background noise levels.

I think it is very germane to the evaluation of your product.

You admitted just a few posts ago that you modified your two radios with your hack-job of a processor: "I have two installed in both my Cobra19 and Cobra25 using the stock mic on one... and the Astatic 636L on the other. They both work like a million bucks." So either you are lying about them being installed in your radios and working "like a million bucks" or you are lying about being 100% legal. Or both.

Considering you live and "work" in your parent's basement, you must be sleeping with a walkie-talkie. That's perverted, Brian.

Sam was traveling through Canada on vacation when he lost his wallet and all of his identification. He cut the trip short and was stopped by a US Customs Agent at the border.

Agent: "May I see your identification, please?"

Sam replied: "I'm sorry, but I lost my wallet."

Agent: "Sure buddy, I hear that every day. No ID, no crossing the border ."

Sam: "But I can prove that I'm an American! I have a tattoo of Ronald Reagan on one butt cheek and a tattoo of George Bush on the other."

Agent: "This I gotta see." With that, Sam dropped his pants and bent over in front of the agent.

Agent: "By golly you're right, go on home to Chassell."

Sam said: "Thanks, but what makes you think I'm from Chassell?"

Agent: "I recognized the picture of Mark Morgan in the middle."

I can think of at least a dozen reasons why people would leave positive feedback regardless of whether the item is tested or not.
Some of those reasons involve scams. Happens all the time.

>Everybody knows by now you would never be satisfied with any evidence
>I could produce.

Everyone who knows me, after all the time I've posted in this group, knows that if I'm wrong I'll eat my words. I told you that just a couple days ago, and others even stood up and vouched for me on that very issue.

> So hang it up Frank.

I don't think so, Brian. Let's put it this way: Suppose I test your box and post the results. If they are good then you have a fantastic testimonial from someone who has ridiculed your lack of electronics knowledge and experience for ten years. If they are not so good, as I suspect, then you are no worse off than if I sit here and criticize your incompetence based on your own ignorant claims. So you really have nothing to lose except a sale. And EVEN IF the results don't turn out the way you claim, you may just gain an advocate who can at least explain the proper operation of the box. Or, at the very least, offer some constructive criticism that you could implement in the next incarnation of this device (which I have done many times before, and you have secretly taken and applied to your amps even though you publically ridiculed my advice -- where's that schematic, Brian?).

There can be only one logical reason why you don't want me to test your processor -- because it sucks.

> You must think everybody is >really stupid out here... persisting in this attack... with not one >shred of proof of what you say.

Until I see credible evidence of your claims, instead of your usual half-baked technical hocus-pocus and self-aggrandizing spam, I'm not going to stop. If you don't like it, spam some other newsgroup. Or don't, I couldn't care less. Actually, your ignorance has done some positive things in this group. Not intentionally of course, but by initiating discussions about how people can get suckered by false technical claims and specifications. So do what you want. But just remember that if your "business" suffers it's nobody's fault but your own: YOU choose to spam this group; YOU choose to build and sell your junk; YOU choose to hack other people's ideas and designs -- don't even -=TRY=- to put any blame on me or anyone else in here.

Now go upstairs and find mommy, have a good cry on her shoulder, and move on with your pathetic life in whatever direction YOU choose to take it.

I don't think people want to screw with cutting or hacking their radio. I think you would sell more as an external box. If amplifiers were this way, they would never sell. That is why people buy them separately, granted, the size would have some effect. But you can still get stinger boards.

Revisit the idea.

I'm sure some of his feedback is legitimate, but not much that deals with his "business". It's a classic 'backscratching' scheme -- you scratch my back and I'll scratch your's. It's a con that's been around for a very long time, and sometimes perpetrated by very large and very organized groups of people. Ebay is the perfect hunting ground for these kinds of crooks. And the venue makes it easy for everyday people to try their hand at being a con artist.

But then again, there sure are a lot of suckers out there.... how much would -you- pay for a very stale fried cheese sandwich?

It's not for me, but I am showing interest, and you're blowing me off. The funny thing is, I don't have the theory expertise that you, James, or Frank have. But I am one of the few people that uses CB, that can open the radio up and read schemtics, and follow directions for mods. I would guess that 95% of the people still in CB, cannot do this, and would have to take it to a CB shop and have it installed for anywhere from $30-5-. Why would they do this? As far as the battery problem, there are a couple options. One is to put 12VDC terminals on it, or simply use a 12V battery. Hell, the 9V battery in my mike lasts for years.

Second question is, before I hack into my radio, how much better is this than my Turner +3B with Speech Compression?

Power mics have batteries but people still buy them. Or why not tap 12 volts from the power leads to the radio? If the box is so great I'm sure people would be willing to do -that- much.

Wrong. They are set at the factory for 95 to 98% modulation, as per just about every service manual I've ever seen. And that's a lot of manuals. An additional 2 to 5% is, for all practical purposes, insignificant, translating to a peak power increase of less than 1%.

Wrong. The limiter in the radio is set for the specific radio, and is usually integrated into the audio AGC that's already built into the radio (which makes your processor somewhat redundant except for the noise gate). Disabling the internal limiter and using an external limiter will almost certainly result in clipping, especially when the person setting it has no calibration equipment.... that is, assuming your processor's limiter can be adjusted. Can it?

It sounds like you have no plans to open and read a few service manuals and find out how these radios already work.

The answers are a result of a good education, extensive experience in the field, with a generous serving of simple logic and common sense.
You are clearly lacking in all three, so it's understandable why my answers don't seem plausible to you. The sad part is that you are

The only reason I see for doing a internal board and not an external unit is that a board has to be bought for every radio a person owns if they want to have the same capabilities on all their radios. Thus more potential sales. The rest of your explanation is pure hogwash.

Yeah, if I had a nickel.....

Eventually I will get one of your processors. I haven't even asked any of my out-of-state friends to make the buy, yet three people from the group have already volunteered to do it. When I get it I will test it -thoroughly-, both on the bench and under practical conditions. And I will post the results, both here and on a web page. Consider it a done deal. Sticking your head in the sand won't help. It only makes you look like you can't answer the tough questions. You can't answer them anyway, but by refusing to address the issues you effectively concede that I'm right, which I am. So ignore me all you want, that's fine the time. But we both know -that- ain't gonna happen.... "LOL!!!"

Hogwash and plenty of it.

the SSM2166 draws about 10mA of current. Four NiMH AA batteries have 1800mAhr capabilities. At full charge that delivers 5.6VDC to the chip. Well within the operating range. Should get about 150 hrs of operation. Add a charging circuit and you have no more issues.

Yep the internal audio power amp has some form of limiting (compression) that keeps the modulation percentage in the 85 to 100% range. Often that feedback path is the first thing that most CBers cut out when they buy their radios. So what is the need for another internal compression unit when CBers don't want aduio compression?
Secondly why add another compressor when you already have sufficient compression built into the radio? If I wanted more, I would increase the negative feedback to the controlled gain stage of the audio modualtor section. Often this is just a resistor value change.

Beisdes increasing modulation percentage from 85% to 100% gains little in range or intelligability. Often not worth the effort. Adds about 7% audio power into the each of the two sidebands. Even if the limiter section of the modulator section is not disabled adding your compressor is not going to increase the percentage of modulation. So why waste the money to buy and install it unless you disable the radio's internal limiter?

After doing all that to gain up to 15% increased modulation percentage? Cheaper to clip and/or alter the feedback in the modualtion stage.

I have shown you more than enough of my work for you to see my credentials. If you need more then just ask, I'll email you a copy of my graduation certificate from USMC Ground Radio Repair Course (MCCES,

You, for obvious reasons, have yet to post the schematic for your amp.

It would be better for them to post their questions in the group so those of us who know what we are talking about can set them straight after you attempt to dazzle them with your RF hocus-pocus..... like trying to sell people an aftermarket compressor when there's already one built into the radio.... what a scam.

interesting.... and yours isn't?
pardon my butting in here, but it does seem that he has a point. that original article was forged (on the net, it is fairly easy to use someones name, but a bit harder to disguise where it came from). He is also right about one other item: you accuse him of lying, yet you cannot conclusively prove that he is.

no. he snipped a forgery and the resultant tripe that was generated on your part to support its validity (validation of a forge as fact is still a forge, it just now has the 'air of authenticity"). What was it the Goebbels said? "If you tell a lie, often enough and for long enough, eventually it will be believed to be the truth".

Interesting. :) I don't know who Eric Oyen really is and I don't know who you really are.. I do know this: those to claim that someone cannot accept personal responsibility are often those who have the same problem accepting their own.

Now it may seem like he enjoys controversy. However, no man deserves the amount of grief he gets from people who should, by definition, know better (I have know people who have gone postal over far less and one of them was killed for his actions). Mind you, I don't like him much either, but that is no reason to lie about him, forge comments in his name and harass him endlessly for years. Its no wonder he feels the need to pick fights with you so often. You just can't let it go (and neither can he it seems).

Oh well, perhaps he is reading this and will call it a day (or perhaps you will). Either way, there are a fair number of regular users here who just wish you guys would shut up and go away.

David,
You might be right on that. I hear much the same up here In Washington State. I am wondering if its because of all those fools running 600 watts sitting right next to one-another and burning up their front ends doing it.

I have been hearing some skip on 10 of late (and I did hear a familiar callsign or 2 out of phoenix on 28.350 USb this last week).

anyway, I wouldn't worry too much about those 11 meter operators and their "LEENEEARS" <snicker>. just have fun working the other bands and know that you can do so on under 100 watts. :)

At the input of an amplifier, you have a single frequency signal...
10mV @ 1Khz
The waveform is...
sin 2pi f t

The signal at the output is amplified...
100mV @1KHz
The waveform should now be
sin 2pi f t

That is assuming a perfectly linear amplifier. We both agree that perfection doesn't exists in this world.
Transistors are not perfectly linear but, with good design,
an amplifier can get pretty damn close.

> Generally distortion results in harmonics and other

Distortion of a waveform will add components at other frequencies.
Pure amplification is not a distortion, it does not add any extra frequency components to the signal and does not change the waveform.

Empirical data has no bias. Just install the device according to his instructions, take some measurements that can easily be duplicated by anyone who chooses to do the same tests, then present the results in comparison to Brian's claims. That's about as objective as it gets.
Bias is strictly limited to the conclusion, and everybody can draw their own (they usually do anyway).

Sounds like a plan, I've been using CB CH6 to see when 10 is open and one day I just thought I'd try tuning down to CH 19, "27.185 MHz on a real radio" and see what I could do. I have a few local HAM friends that still have a CB in their car or truck so I just ordered a Uniden PC68XL so I can join the fun with out breaking any laws. If it sucks it was only $79.99 at Amazon.com with free shipping so not much lost.

I was going to order a Cobra 148 GTL for the SSB but I stumbled onto a picture of the inside of the radio and it was built like a piece of crap so I went with Uniden. I can't imagine why Uniden dropped all SSB CB's from their line, they sell nothing but AM now.

CFR95.425(a): You must not make or have any one else make any internal modification to your CB transmitter.
CFR95.425(c): You must not operate a CB transmitter which has been modified by anyone in any way,....

You radios are illegal and operating them is illegal. You manufacture and sell a product which has the sole purpose of illegal modification and operation. Not only that, manufacturing and selling CB amps is illegal, which is what you have been doing for the past 10 years. It would be foolish to think that you don't use them, too. You are hardly 100% legal. You lied.

Also, you said that you weren't going to respond to any more of my

Partially correct in your formulae.

Consider this and reflect with your noted lecturers and writers.

let the input signal of an amplifier be:
f(t) = Ai * sin(2*PI*f*t)

Where Ai is the input signal amplitude.

Now let the scalar value of the transfer function of the amplifier be a real number greater than one and represented by the constant K. This becomes essentially a distorionless amplifier and does not consider internal noise generated in the amplifier.

The output signal from the amplifier:
g(t) = Ai * K *sin(2*PI*f*t)

Now if you can prove that g(t) is equal to f(t) when K greater than one I will be glad to nominate you for a Noble prize for mathematics.

The frequency component of the function, sin(2*PI*f*t),remains the same in both equation. The amplitude does not. Therefore the two functions are not equal. They will have similar waveshapes in that they will be mathematical multiples of each other. To state that they are the same is ludicrous. Now I can believe the mathematics that I have been taught or accept your hypothesis.

Hmmm. Let me get back to you on that.

Outside changing batteries on a regular basis or a some charging

Unless it's an old tube-type radio, your original radio was broke.
Just about every solid-state radio built since the 1960's has the modulation set for 95-98%. I mentioned this before, but like every other fact I have stated that is easily verifiable, you ignored it.

>This 85% is by no means the average modulation... which is really >around 40% with voice signals.

It varies as much as people have different voices and speaking styles, but it is generally accepted to be in the 20 to 25% range (peak to average ratio from 5:1 to 4:1).

> The VoiceMax brings the average >modulation to 100%! That means that every voice... high or low... soft >or loud... will modulate the radio at a constant 100%.

Impossible, and you prove it yourself with your implementation of a noise gate. You can push 40 to 50% with heavy filtering, and that's about the best you can do, but it still causes moderate distortion.
Even if your "constant 100%" modulation applies only to unmuted voice, it would be completely unintelligible. You can pick up almost any book on radio communications and it will say the same thing.

Assuming you set your processor's limiter to 100% mush, you still need to set the output level to the radio so it doesn't overmodulate. Even just 101% modulation means clipping; pump that with 100% average noise and you have the potential for some serious bleedover. And there's no way for the average user to determine the precise point at which his radio is at 100% modulation. Radios are set at the factory for 95% to 98% modulation to allow for slight variations in tolerance that happen during normal operation; for you to claim that your processor limits modulation to 100% all of the time is not only absurd, it's impossible because of the tolerance limitations of the radio.

These are the hard questions, Brian. And this is not a rant. I'll even grant you clemency from your now broken promise not to reply to my posts. You have no excuse not to reply.

But fake feedback does happen, even from genuine people. Even Wilipedia has pages which may have been written by the company - self promotion. There are also pages written by people who are self proclaimed experts.
Some pages relate to secrets - if they have guessed wrong, who will put them right? Those who know the truth could be in trouble if they post the real facts.

Even consumer organisations seem to give top ratings to companies or products known to have a bad reputation with customers. One in this country, apparently labeled as the "best", has forced a government department to make their guidelines legally binding to protect the public from this company's tricks.

The problem is, however, that this can leave you unable to believe any "reports" on a product. So, what do you do - never buy anything just in case it's not as good as the claims? You could starve to death while wondering if branded beans really are worth the extra pennies.

But, by making it internal only, you ARE encouraging the hacking of radios.
I don't know about America, but there are very few real radio techs in this country willing to take on CB work. It simply doesn't pay what a real tech is worth. If they try to charge what they are worth, the CBer will simply find a cheap "rig doctor" who has no real training.
Alternatively, they will try to fit it themselves... they will ask in some group, and most likely get help from one of those "rig doctors".

Either way, "rig doctor" or DIY, they are likely to end up with a hatchet job. When the system sounds like crap, will they really blame their work - or your product?

> I agree that there are many people that don't have the > expertise to install such a device. These folks would have to seek the > mention.

Some time back, a regular customer brought in their radio and a speech processor, which they wanted fitting. The speech processor was a well known type, and had been obtained from a well known UK supplier.
I believe that that the shop purchased the processor in kit form, putting it together, to allow for their profit margin... because I simply refuse to believe that the manufacturer makes such a hatchet job of their soldering and wiring.

Proving that, even if your product only goes to retailers or is only fitted by retailers, it may still end up as a hatchet job... and your product could get the blame.

> As for your question about the Turner... sorry... I have no > knowledge regarding this unit.

You have no knowledge of the products you are competing with?
And no intention of providing what the customer desires?

I can understand you ignoring the rantings of a bitter, twisted old man who may have a grudge... but someone interested in your product?
This seems to suggest that YOU decided that YOU want to make and sell a product based on YOUR desires... not on what the consumer wants or needs.

It reminds me of a certain singer who said that he didn't care that his latest stuff was not what the public wanted... he liked it.
Last I heard, I believe he was cleaning streets somewhere in America.

This group has shown much hostility towards Brian, and I was about to Email one of the regulars to ask what the history is. Because, so far,
I had not seen the reason for it apart from the usual p1ss1ng contests and opposing groups within rrcb.

However, Brian himself appears to have given what could be a real good reason to avoid his products... his apparent disregard for the customer's needs or desires.
That, for me, raises concerns about whether he would provide good customer care or simply blow the customer off once he has their money.

> The funny thing is, I don't have the theory expertise that you,

Most CBers do not have technical expertise, it is not a requirement. In fact, CB is for those without such expertise.
That is why, as a consumer, you need to be aware. Many companies have used this lack of knowledge against their customers, selling them total crap.

> But I am one of the few people that uses CB, that can open the > radio up and read schemtics, and follow directions for mods.

I don't know about "few". Over the years, I have seen a large amount of fekked up equipment, due to people who are willing to go inside their radio... and those willing to do other people's radios the same way.
One person I knew would do this with every radio he had, he was famous for it. Every time he got a radio, he would go inside and feck it up. He would then sell it cheap t a tech, and buy another.
The tech would put everything right and make a killing on the sale.

> As far as the battery problem, there are a couple options. One

Over the years, I have seen many battery operated CB accessories and many with wires for 12v supply.
Power microphones, base microphones, echo boxes, speech processors, VOX, preamps, power amps, etc.

None of the manufacturers had a problem with external units, or the selling of them.

> Second question is, before I hack into my radio, how much better > is this than my Turner +3B with Speech Compression?

Do they still make this, to the same old specifications, or is it an old one still in use?

This is from an old catalog, really old...
Model +3B
Frequency range: 300-3500Hz
Impedance: 1K Ohm
Output level: -42dB adjustable Battery type: 7v Turner / Mallory.

That is all it gives, and it is not clear whether that "-42dB" is dBm and whether that is maximum, minimum or some middle figure.

There is another processor in this catalog, anyone remember the MC902 processor? Remember the days of "Solid-State" equipment?
Loads of switches, knobs, and even a meter on this one.

Does Brian give out full spec on his processor?

Peter.

Brian,

Apart from the question raised over the typical radio settings, was the idea of the processor not to reduce the dynamic range of the audio, rather than simply increase the maximum modulation?

You appear to be suggesting that this processor works by the person turning their radio up.

> The VoiceMax has built in limiting... so a > redundant system is not needed.

Unless, at some time, someone decides to remove the processor? Maybe they don't like it, maybe they want a standard radio, who knows - but I have heard of many non-standard boards being removed for various reasons.
This may not be the person who fitted it, so they will be totally unaware of the removal of important cricuits within the radio.
Then they have a radio with no limiting.

> It sounds like you have no plans to > open your radio... so VoiceMax is not for you.

This is where I start to get some serious concerns...
1. Do you really want to supply the customer, or simply make up your own ideas and con people into buying them?
2. If I had issues with a product I got from you, why should
I expect anything more than Vinnie got... a big "blow off"?

The suggestion that you would not sell your product to Frank also suggests a couple of things...
1. You have something to hide, something that Frank could find.

2. You have a limited customer base, and intend to keep it that way - no selling through dealers, so you can control who is allowed to buy one.

You should know very well that I have no issues with you personally, but these are the impressions I am getting. I also doubt if you impressed Vinnie, a potential customer. How many more will question your commitment to the customer?

Frank can stand there throwing punches all day, he is not the one stood in quicksand.

Peter.

Humans, with brains... are you forgetting this is a CB newsgroup.
We keep our shoes on and leave our brains at the door.

A short while back, I changed telephone provider. The new provider had different systems.
It is difficult enough talking to "customer service" staff, who clearly didn't learn English in an English speaking country, but the noise reduction was cutting off bits that really were important components of speech.

Even without that, the silience between words or phrases is not natural. It leaves you unsure whether they are just not talking, or the line has died again.
Every now and then, the sound of them tapping (hard) on computer keys would give it away.

> Human perception plays a paramount role in the > design of any audio (or video) technology.

It should, but I believe that too much is done on a bench, behind a desk or on paper. Even large organisations can forget that real life may be different.

> You might even say it's absolutely critical. There's even a > facet of engineering called "human engineering" which deals

Tell that to Web site designers.
Have you ever been to a Web site and given up before the first page even loaded? I know I have, many times.
No consideration for the people who it is for, the visitors, whether it will be usable by them or even if site provides what they really want.

I wonder if Brian has considered whether another speech processor is really what the CB community really needs right now. Tell me, is America screeming out for processors aimed at the CB market?

Not just scams, human nature.

There are people out there who have tested "miracle" magnetic products and other fake items. They will swear that they worked, as claimed or better.

Have you ever seen the effect where David Blaine levitates in the street? What about the reports, from eye witnesses that he levitated several feet off the ground?
It was not as they claim, but they were NOT shills or stooges. They genuinely believe that is what they saw, and will most likely remember it that way until the day they die.

People can see what they want to see and remember what they want to believe happened.

The only real way is to find out for yourself, put your hand in your pocket. By then, if it's fake, it's too late now - you have been had.
But, unless you have done that, or have the proof, you really cannot state that a particular item is fake.

The other option is that, as a gesture of goodwill and to show how honest he really is, he sends each of us a free sample to test.
Oh yes and, either way, we get to keep it.

lol.

That's what I was talking about when I mentioned Comcast digital she keeps hanging up or the line goes dead. But she's stuck with it

It's really pretty redundant, since almost every radio built since the 1960's has had some form of AGC in the mic line. If he were to use the noise gate to trigger a keyer relay, use the processor to increase the peak-to-average level to 40 or 50%, then put it in a box and not lie about the specs, he could easily sell them for SSB rigs of all types, ham included. But alas, as you stated before:

Brian,

I apologize for starting a pissing contest, as that was not my intention. I was interested in testing it for you, but would have rather had an external box type unit. I did not mean for this thread to go out of control.

Not possible. Older power amps were lucky to get as low as 1% distortion -without- compression. Compression, by any other name, -ISdistortion, whether it's by clipping or by AGC. You can filter out some of the harmonics but the distortion remains -- and is evident by a change in the output as you readily admit. As far as harmonics are concerned, if you have a brick-wall filter at 3kHz you still pass harmonics generated from fundamentals below 1.5kHz, which includes most of the intelligible speech.

(Anyone who wants a primer in the audio spectrum should find a .wav file of a standard 1kHz tone and try to duplicate it with their own voice. Unless you are Mariah Carey, good luck!)

So even if you -think- you have filtered out 99% of the harmonics generated by compression, think again. Only a distortion analyzer will tell you how much THD remains.

>You are correct that the 100% average applies to the unmuted signal...

>The audio signal is perfectly clear and has less than 1% THD.

Can't happen. If your peak-to-average 1:1 (which is required for 100% modulation) then all ...=-ALL-=... the audio peaks are at the maximum. With a 3kHz spectral limit, this would require an AGC response of less than 20 uS, assuming you want the output to at least vaguely resemble the input (that's 1/6000 with a very generous 10% response delay). The chip you selected simply doesn't work that fast. You would need an AGC amp with a slew rate at -least- 100 times faster than what you have.

Now assuming you have such a chip, and you did get 1:1 peak-to-average voice power while muting everything else, your output would sound much like dried shit. It's not hard to duplicate; just run a 10Vp-p audio signal through a couple 1N34A's and filter at 3kHz. It will achieve 100% average modulation all the time, but it sounds like crap and is completely unintelligible. And it ain't "less than 1% THD" -- the DA says it's closer to 80% -after- the 3kHz filter.

If your processor has "perfectly clear" audio while at maximum compression then I can guarantee you that it -isn't- running anywhere close to 100% average modulation. 40% at best. And that's no better than the AGC already built into the radio. On the other hand, if you built what I already told you was a 'constant volume amplifier' (that you confused with a 'voltage controlled amplifier') then your average modulation is going to be closer to 25%.

Either way, your performance claims are contradictory and unrealistic (i.e, impossible). At best they show ignorance of the principles used; at worst, they show deception in marketing.

Such a procedure is pointless unless the assistant is monitoring on the second and third harmonics.

Adjacent channel bleedover is caused by audio harmonic distortion bypassing the 3kHz filter. RF Amplifiers only amplify the bleedover.
Modulation level is not a factor because overmodulation only creates RF harmonics (e.g, being heard on 54MHz, 81MHz, etc.), which is also caused by non-linear linears.

I have a shelf filled with CB manuals, both Sams and factory manuals. Except for some of the old tube-type radios, the modulation adjustment for all of them is around 95 to 98% -- I didn't pull those numbers out of a hat. If you've never seen more than 90% then either your scope is too slow or you need to learn how to use it properly. And that's why scopes are not recommended for modulation alignment, which is usually done with an RF voltmeter or demod probe, and an audio source with a fixed amplitude and frequency (a sig-gen, not someone yelling AAAUUDIO into the mic). You should really read some of these manuals -- some of them also describe how to adjust the mic audio AGC circuits....

In the "real world", stock radios do indeed have AGC. I've mentioned that many times before, it's been stated in this group many times since I've been here, and the alignment of mic AGC was even a topic of "discussion" with Dave the Hypocrite. I would think by now you would have read a few service manuals but obviously not. Yes, they do have limiters. Sometimes the limiting is done by the AGC (sharp elbow), and sometimes it is a seperate circuit. But they all have mic AGC, usually serving double duty as receive audio AGC. I'm not going to scan my library to prove it to you -- manuals are available on ebay for pocket change. A lot of people in the group already have a few and know I'm right. Get some of your own and read them. THEN you can tell me about the "real world".

I addressed the issues without ranting. I laid out logical arguments in a clear and concise manner. I used verifiable facts to support my conclusions. I posted well within the protocol that -YOU- established.
But it's clear that when you are proven wrong all you do is break from your own protocol and go into a "sour grapes" mode of damage control.
Well, no more clemency for you, Brian. In fact, why don't you go back to ignoring me again.... it's more fun that way.

You can get an RF probe for just about any DMM. It won't show waveforms, but it costs a -lot- less than a scope, and in this application is more accurate. As for a signal generator at the input, any old audio oscillator will do, even the output of the sound card on your computer. Just run it through a pot to get the desired voltage.
And the manual will cost you all of $10 on ebay. So you can keep your scope and your gray world -- I prefer a little more contrast in my reality, especially when it's easier, more accurate, and a lot less expensive.

And BTW, I live in Washington, not California. I've stated where I live about a jillion times since you've been in this group. Learn to read.

Brian,

I have just been to your site and, according to that...
In over 5 years of business, only three products appear to have been created... two of which have been discontinued (already).
Between discontinuing previous products, and offering this latest, there appears to have been no products for sale - no income, no business.

A business with just one $60 product (when it becomes available), two discontinued items, and large gaps in trading.
You may not be using kits, but just what do you think your Web site and it's figures say about you and your business?

Right or wrong, he is saying what people see when they view your site... and what will they think if they ever see these newsgroup threads.

I do. And part of running a business is catering to the market. Trying to manipulate the market to suit the product (pet rocks, white salmon) might net you a few bucks at the beginning, but the market eventually wises up. Looking at your business history, it appears the market was

And with less than 1% distortion, no less!!! Except for the fact is that compression -is- distortion. There are two types of distortion, Brian: desireable and undesireable. Compression is one type of desireable distortion, which is why manufacturers of REAL compressors don't lie about their distortion specs. They stick it right out there for the customer to see because that's what the circuit is designed to do -- distort the signal. But in a -good- way.

The fact that you have never made that distinction throughout this entire discussion (which has lasted about a year) proves, once again, that you have no idea of what you are talking about.

Not at all. Your procedure requires cutting a trace, which is the most common reason you can't find a decent used radio anymore. It's not always a simple task to bridge a cut trace. It requires soldering, and not everyone who can scratch a trace is capable of soldering. Are you willing to pay the cost to repair the radio when the customer doesn't like your processor? If not then that's a pretty shitty deal.

True, but only to those who spew technical voodoo and hocus-pocus. And I'm proud of it.

I do, however, apologize for being so anti-illegal in the past -- the FCC is impotent and the government so corrupt that nothing is going to change until they are -forced- to change. It's too bad it has to work that way. But I still have hope that maybe the next election will turn things around.... Lou Dobbs in '08!!!

> He is

On the contrary, anyone should feel free to challenge anything I say. But you better be prepared to back it up with facts and logic -- none of that "the world is gray" or "it's part of a bigger picture" crap.

> As you see he very abusive/>abrasive.

Very true.

> I certainly don't need... or want customers like that.

Yes you do, Brian. Because unlike you, I usually don't make statements that I can't support with facts. And abusive or not, I'm usually right. It's not so hard to do when you can suspend your typing long enough to hit a couple books or search for a couple authoritative references. So when a customer like me advocates a product then you can bet your bottom dollar that it's good. For example:

Frank's CB Consumer Report for July '07:

The Mattco model SWR2 meter is small, portable and accurate. It's also tough as nails; I've dropped mine countless times and it still works great. Operation is very basic with just a FWD/REF switch and CAL knob. Quality of materials and construction is excellent. The metal box is painted in black crinkle enamel, and has two X-slots in the back for mounting it permanently or even semi-permanently. The only problem I've ever had was a loose meter face, and a little epoxy cured it without breaking a sweat. This is one of the best SWR meters I've ever owned, Bird included, and is the most used in my shop.

Now do you really think your business would be -worse- if I posted something like that about your processor? Of course not.

>You're right... I will be distributing this device at first. After the

What happened to "we"? Are you actually starting to take your pills and keep your appointments?

Well, you certainly accomplished -that- goal....

So you will only sell it to those who are convinced that it works before they use it? before any independent testing? before the product has been vetted by other consumers?

Wrong. You prey on people who don't understand the meaning of the false specifications you are spewing, and give them an explanation that satisfies them just long enough to get the sale. You work on people's lack of technical knowledge with a "too good to be true" pitch before they learn why these things really -are- too good to be true. You're a con artist, Brian. And you're BAD AT IT!!! "LOL!!!"

Of course they do. All these posts are archived on google and elsewhere. Go ahead and google "Telspam Electronics" and tell me what you see. Do you really think people won't check your credentials when buying something that is relatively unknown, with no reputation or testimonials, and can't be found in any reference material beyond your

That's my choice. Whether or not to buy one of your hack-jobs is the choice that people who google your name and product must make.

Don't apologise, you simply stated what you would like. To most businesses, that should be important feedback - market research.

Besides, there's nothing the regulars here enjoy more than a p1ss1ng contest. Why do you think they are so keen on the beer... one has to keep the bladder full, it gives you a competitive edge in the p1ss1ng contests :~)

For me, an important issue is whether a company listen to the customers. If they are unwilling to listen, before they have your money, what chances will you have once they have your money?

Brian started this thread by advertising his product here. He must expect some questions and comments. I have nothing against Brian, but his replies do not fill me with confidence in the company or product.

The words of the noted lecturers, one of whom also worked for the Ministry of Defence, are incredibly clear... the waveform does not change.

So I think that what we have here is a perception issue. Try this...

You say that the waveform changes so tell me:
If you amplify a sinusoidal waveform, what waveform does it become?
At what level does a sinusoidal waveform become some other waveform?
Or, at what level is it a sinusoidal waveform?

Can you see where I am going with this?
To say that a large sinewave is not still a sinewave is like saying a large circle is no longer a circle.

With pure amplification, the signal may have altered in amplitude, but a sinusoidal waveform will still be a sinusoidal waveform on the output. The sine, angular frequency and phase shift are all unchanged.

I am not saying that the signal is unaltered, but that the waveform is still whatever waveform was put in.
Now I don't like to disagree with you but, if you really believe that an amplified sinewave is not a sinewave, then I really must stick with the named lecturers and Heads of Departments.
Nothing personal, you understand, but they do have a sh1tload of letters after their names :~)

BTW: Sometimes I may take a while to reply to messages, it's just that I have other things to do and just fit this

Was that:

No it was not to reduce the dynamic range or Yes, it was to reduce the dynamic range

or, maybe,

> What I'm saying is that to get the maximum benefit from VoiceMax...

So the manufacturers all set the modulation wrong, radios should really be at 100%?

The problem I see is that most of the fitting will be done by "rig doctors" and DIY CBers. You think you can trust these people to correctly set the modulation at 100%?
If you asked 100 typical "rig doctors" and DIY CBers to adjust their modulation to exactly 100%, how many do you really think would be spot on?

Personally, I would prefer they settle for the 85% or 95%
(whatever the real figure on their radio), rather than risk them f*cking it up.
But, maybe I am biased... due to all the hours spent putting right all the damage done by such people.

Oh yes, especially if I had fitted it.
But, when I get a job in - remove this board - I don't have a clue what the person who fitted it has done apart from connecting the wires.
I may know what he should have done, but we are talking of "rig doctors" here, what we on this side of the pond also like to call "cowboys".

Yeeeharrrr
Pass me the poker from the fire, I want to solder this board in.

How did you decide upon your choice of product and, in fact, your whole marketing mix? Did research tell you that millions of people are begging for a "quality" processor at a "quality" price - enough to keep Telstar going with those $60 payments?

Did research tell you that they would prefer the hassle of fitting it in the radio to "plug & play", even though plug-in and battery operated accessories have sold for years?

Is the Voicemax what the customer has made clear that they want, or what you have decided they will have?

Maybe it came across as rather curt, abrupt, and unwilling to listen to what the customer wants.
Are you really that snowed under, with no product currently available, that you cannot consider offering the option of the device as a plug in accessory?

I don't know, you appear to be a small business. People trust large well known companies with a long reputation (and TV advertising). They are attracted to the small business by the way they can be so flexible and accomodating. No need to ask the manager to ask a director to bring it up at the next meeting - then pass it back the same way, so you can come up with a plan and ask the manager to ask... etc.

There are companies that I have dealt with who will take on unusual jobs just to keep a customer happy. They will even take on jobs as loss-leaders, just to obtain or keep customers.

> Frank has been a constant irritant here for years... yes years.

Frank and I have butted heads a few times, so I do know what he can be like. However, if he wanted to by a product or service from me, I would not hesitate to take his money and give him the same service as any other customer.

> He is a frustrated electronic technician in California that doesn't Does anyone like being challenged in that way?

How do you feel about the challenges on this group... my comments, for example? I am only being honest, saying how it appears to me.
Maybe I have some things wrong about you, but you have the chance to put them right or sort out any image issues... normal customers may simply keep quiet and go elsewhere for their items.

> You're right... I will be distributing this device at first. After the

Once you take out the trolls, Frank, Steveo and "some others", that does not leave many on this group. If you then take out those who need impressing before they part with hard-earned cash, then we are starting to run a little short on people here.
Out of those few remaining possible postential customers, you just turned one away.

Maybe this group is not for you, the time could surely be better spent. Seriously, will any sales you make from this group really pay for the time you have spent discussing the topic?

> they are spoilers. That is... and has been their mission all along.

You also have to be willing to listen. Several on this group are simply saying it as they see it. If they are wrong, then maybe you need to look at image and perception.

Just as people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones, people stood in quicksand should not throw punches.
Maybe time to cut loose and run, unless this group is your only source of potential customers.

Now, there's a point... how do you effectively advertise a CB product to the remaining enthusiasts, is there a CB magazine in America with a decent circulation?
None now on this side of the pond, the last one got taken over by some Hammy types, who systematically bastardized it for their own gratification. Or at least that is how it seems :~)

Now, if you really want to chat, should we take it to email?

Regards,
Peter.

Excellent point. I bought a Sierra Zip Ztove (zip stove) a while back.
Unpacked it, read the instructions, tried to put it together, but the top and bottom pieces didn't fit together. So I contacted the company (ZZ Manufacturing) who told me that the two parts were manufactured in different years. Then they blew me off.

I guess the method is to keep it cheap. Years ago almost any TV mail-order gizmo was sold at the "special price of $19.95", always under $20. Several years later a marketing executive disclosed that they did research to figure out the highest price they can charge for a junk product before the buyer returns it for a refund (on a sales versus refunds curve, I would assume). At that time the magic number was about $20. No doubt it's higher now, and I'm sure the price of Brian's processor falls below the current threshold.

The guy who recommended the Uniden PC68XL to you has it down. I'm a bit of a radio expert designing RF circuits for a living and such, and after looking at all the specs of many radios I ordered myself a PC68XL. I was going to go for the Cobra 148GTL for the SSB but I came across a picture of the inside of one of these radios on the net and it was built like crap so I went with Uniden.

Wrong

Depending on how the amplifier is configured there is a phase shift.
In a Common emmiter configured transistor amp there is a 180 degree shift in the pahse. So the waveform is altered by phase.

Only the emitter(source) follower in a semiconductor amplifier will not cause a phase shift.

Correct that the angular frequency is not changed and that a sine wave is a sine wave, but still the amplitude has changed. Therefore they are not identical weaveforms. Therefore they do change, if only in amplitude.

I think the key word here is 'waveform', where 'form' is the issue and scale or phase are not. Because ANY device, active or passive, will introduce some phase delay and amplitude variation to the signal. So be practical or be a purist, but you're both really just saying the same thing.

Now if you wanted to take this to a philosophical level, no two signals can EVER be identical for the simple reason that they can always be differentiated, if not by amplitude or phase then by temporal location (one is the input, the other is the output) or by physical location (you measure this one here and that one there). But by the same rule of identity I guess that means no two opinions will ever be identical either, so argue away.....

The "tripe" you allude was originally presented by Oyen when he insisted a forge was authentic. I agree with you 100% that such attempts at validity are "tripe" which is exactly why they were presented to Oyen in such fashion....it was his tripe, his words, not mine. Agreed. I've done none of those things to Oyen. And it's not about liking or disliking anyone..it never was, at least with me. That would make it personal and nothing could be more impersonal than typing to a faceless internet stranger on some obscure corner of the net. Sorry, but the internet doesn't affect me in such a manner.

What the fuck are you talking about? What is this "it" you refer to? Sorry if I offended you by holding the man(?) to his own words. If you don't like it, don't read it. I'm going to extend to you the benefit of doubt this once and take the `position you had no clue what you were talking of. Since you are now informed, you know not to make the same mistake twice.

This latest edition also covers slider and broadbanding tricks, FM conversions, and much more!

BOOK #2: THE CB PLL DATA BOOK. List $20. The only complete reference source on CB PLL synthesizer circuits ever published! Detailed PLL theory explained in layman's terms. How they work, and how to modify them for many more channels. Includes specific PLL block mixing diagrams, truth charts, & IC pin function diagrams for nearly every PLL chip ever used. Covers all the most popular U.S. & export chassis, with specific listings of all models using the chip.

BOOK #3: UNDERSTANDING & REPAIRING CB RADIOS. List $42. Giant 370-page technical book for the professional repairman. Picks up where the "SCREWDRIVER EXPERT'S" GUIDE leaves off. Includes circuit descriptions & troubleshooting guide for 23- & 40-Ch., crystal & PLL, solid-state & tube, AM, FM, SSB, CW, American & export models. Covers test equipment (& where to find it), transistor basics, synthesizers, receivers, transmitters, power supplies, T/R switching, antennas, interference, parts & accessory sources. Over 350 illustrations including schematics, charts, and photos. Huge subject index also lets you look up repairs by symptoms. This is "must" reading for any serious CB technician!

since you seem intent on continuing this bullshit, straying from the facts, digging up forged posts and redirecting the conversation to places outside

The facts of the matter are exactly what I posted which is why suddenly I became -your- focal point as opposed to my words. You can't impeach a single word which was written concerning your actions and words and your hypocrisy which is why you need attack the poster as opposed to the >conversation of whatever it is you call it.

The context -is- your double-standard. you have one set of rules for yourself and another for others, that makes you a hypocrite.

You never had any use for any debate, Oyen. You don't know how to debate. You lie, make false accusations and are too much of a punk to admit when you're wrong, even when you're caught and your behavior is illustrated to the world.

>either get a brain or shut up.

Gee Eric, you seem to be surrounded with self-pity, self-loathing and self-pity, but everyone knew that.

In a way this could be considered nit picking. I agree that the overall form is a sinusoid. I just don't like the implication that all sinusiods are unchanged by amplification, positve or negative. Granted the amplitude of the form is alterd and little on none of the rest of the function is not. Yet the amplitude is a partt of a sinusoidal waveform.

True, and your point is perfectly valid. You are technically correct that amplification, inversion and phase shift are types of distortion.
But for the purpose of -this- discussion (audio distortion caused by Brian's noise-board), it seems you are trying to sand the table-top before cutting down the tree. Now if this were carried over to a new thread it might be fun....

Hello Jim:

Yeah I have a few in the kill file, and if they get too froggy I kill file them. Makes it nice. But its best to just ignore the goof balls, and not reply to them.

We still have a good news group here. I still get some e-mail from here at times.

When your mathematics appear to disagree with so many well qualified engineers, lecturers, heads of educational departments and technical authors, it's time to check for some little error... something that can slip through or seem insignificant.

> The frequency component of the function, sin(2*PI*f*t),remains the > same in both equation.

It will always appear constant, it is not an absolute value...
f*t
Through a complete cycle, the maximum result will be 1, regardless of the actual frequency.

> The amplitude does not.

Of course not, you are using an absolute value.

The waveform is the relationship between changes in amplitude and time. By putting in an absolute value, peak voltage, you are now comparing signal levels rather than waveform.

The amplitude should have a maximum value of 1...

<quote ref=1>
The maximum voltage of a sine is 1, thus Vm is the maximum or peak value of the alternating voltage.
</quote>

Diagrams in the book show exactly that. But, as you may not have the book collection that I have, check out the diagram here...
http://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/thumb/1/13/Sine_Cosine_Gra ph.png/300px-Sine_Cosine_Graph.png

(NOTE: URL wrapped to two lines)

Now,
v = Vm sin 2pi*f*t
= sin 2pi*f*t

So, as said before...

<quote ref=2>
Amplification This essential process involves an increase in the amplitude or size of a signal without any change to the waveform.
</quote>

> Now I can believe the mathematics that I > have been taught or accept your hypothesis.

Those are the words of well respected and qualified engineers, lecturers, heads of educational departments and technical authors.

Yep, as long as the radio is not modified. The only external device that is prohibited by Part 95 is an RF power amp.

That's U.S. rules, BTW.

You are not Mark. He couldn't write a post that long and not have at

I just received the subject unit and I have to say, I don't have a very favorable impression of the build quality of this product. The knobs and switches are all slightly offset toward the top of the unit's faceplate, to the point where one of the knobs (the squelch butoon) doesn't turn freely for about 60% of the available arch.

»»» So, here's my question: is there a brand out there that actually takes some pride in the build quality of their units?

I'm sure that Unidens are a trusted workhorse of the industry and all that, but I'd rather pay $200+ for another brand if I can be assured that it is well made.

Any recommendations?

Thanks.

PS - I should own up to being a bit of a perfectionist (a la some more-than-neglegible obsessive compulsive tendencies). So, part of my reason for posting this is to get some feedback... like a sanity check.
Perhaps the answer is something like "what you have (PC78...) is about as good as it gets in the word of CB radio build quality; so learn to live with it!" If this is the case, I guess the sooner I find that out, the better.

PPS - In light of the above (PS) paragraph, do you think it's a waste of time to return the unit in question, expecting something better? Thanks again for any help.

Should've said, "...to the point where one of the knobs (the squelch knob)..." -- but you probably knew what I meant. Oh well... 8-|

Love you too :P LOL!! It was great, got to "drive the tail of the dragon", did some great rock crawling, got soaking wet on Saturday. I was at Telico, up on Lower trail
#2, it started to rain lightly, but on the way back to the campground, it opened up.
Of course the rig I was in had no wipers or top, but it was hoot. Getting there and home was a different story (Flights from HELL).

Next event will be Oregon then maybe Hot Springs Arkansas.

F Beckham. He was on the downslope when Utd sold him. He was a decent or some would say a good/great mid field player. With that in mind and the low quality of american footie (soccer) he will stand out. American soccer sucks plain and simple. English Premier League IMHO is the best on the planet because it throws money at players like the NBA.

For fun. Not interested in profit. When I get bored of one I fixed, I'll trade it or sell it. But I hope to do 2 per year.

I haven't been reading the newsgroups as much as I used to but I see way yonder less messages when I get a hankering to gander in, nowadays.

I've spread 14 gallons of paint on my barn recently too..the second coat should eat less, right!?! (i only bought 35 gallons of that color, in 5 gallon buckets)

The Medical Community's Cheap Trick

A cheap trick played on medical doctors and students, untill they meet up with a human cadaver, is the cheap trick or lie that is perpetrated by the medical establishment on students of the medical profession.

How students of the medical profession stay quiet, after learning the truth, I do not know. It is a matter for each doctor to reflect upon, and for each medical student to reflect upon, and come to a reasonable answer for him self or for herself.

In other words, are they going to tell the truth or not. It recently came to my attention that the medical community is foisting, or purposely telling a lie to the public, with regards to the internal organs of the human body.

In particular, a stomach is not made up of twisting, turning, guts, or intestines, that go to one side and then downwards, and then side ways, and so forth, as depicted in this particular picture, of the so-called large and small intestines.

Please see, "Anatomy of the Large And Small Intestines"

http://medpics.findlaw.com/generateexhibit.php?ID=1696&ExhibitKeywordsRaw=Anatomy+of+the+Colon+(Large+Intestine)&TL=1889&A=42409

A similar faked drawing of the tummy tube, or shank, the descending colon tube, which is titled "intestines", along with a faked stomach drawing, by the Lesbianists and their bogus 'medical' establishment, can be found at:

http://medpics.findlaw.com/generateexhibit.php?ID=23&ExhibitKeywordsRaw=stomach&TL=1825&A=42409

Another bogus drawing of the abdomen and the supposed 'intestines', can be found at,

http://medpics.findlaw.com/generateexhibit.php?ID=13860&ExhibitKeywordsRaw=&TL=4294967295&A=42409

These pictures, and all other pictures like it, are totally bogus. There are no guts, bending and twisting to one direction, and then to another direction, that eventually find an outlet at the poop hole in the human body.

Chimps, apes, and monkeys may have these types of stomach 'tripe' that is longish, twisting to one side or to another, going back and forth, and then wrapping or folding down under other tummy tubes, and then twisting in and then moving outwardsly, as chimps, apes, and monkeyes live on banana foilage, twigs, seeds, hard shells, and other difficult to eat, hard, rubbery, plant roughage, of one kind, or of another. Some oselots may have this kind of tubeing, and so may many other animals, but not the human being.

In the human being, there is in reality, no such guts or tripe tubeing, and there is what is called a 'shank'. A shank is the human being's tummy tube, or the desceding colon tube.

Your tummy tube descends from the front right side of the tummy, in the near to upper to middle to near lower area or section of your tummy, depending on the person. Some people, may have their tummy tube, the ejector pipe, also called the descending pipe, a little higher up, than other people. Some people may have their ejector pipe a little lower than other people. That is not significant.

The muscles inside of the tummy, and surrounding the tummy, cause a pushing motion, to eject the tummy food, that has made its way to the back side of the inside of the tummy, and to the lower or middle area, near the eject pipe, on the inside of the tummy. Once your tummy food makes it there, the muscles begin to squeeze on it, and the muscles on the inside and on the outside, squeeze on it, and force it up and out of the ejector pipe, and down a chute, or the descension colon pipe.

The descension colon pipe goes in a nearly straight line, almost perfectly straight, in some people, directly to the out put terminal, which is the poop hole.

The intake for food and beverages from your lips, mouth, to your throat, or food pipe to connect your mouth to the tummy, that connector location is on the top side of the tummy, on the left side of your tummy, as you face forward. There is a tiny amount of terminal area, that's your stomach area, that is the terminal area, on the top side of the tummy, that is to the immediate left of the intake tube terminal entry way, itself. That means, there is a descending tube from your mouth to your stomach, and it connectes to the left side of your stomach, not all the way to the left, but nearly all the way to the left side of the stomach, but on the top, generally, and in some people's cases, it is a little down, from the top, less than an inch or two from the top.

So the intake tube from your mouth sort of goes in to your tummy, from the front of the tummy, a little lower than from the top side edge of your tummy. The top edge of your tummy is located just about at the same height as your titty nipples are located on the chest. The little inwardsly pointing, dimple, in the middle of your chest, a very large dimple, just above where the rib cage begins to open up and spread apart and where the tummy muscle cavity can be felt, that dimple, or inwardsly pointing cavature, or the caving inwardsly of the chest bones in that area, some times slightly below, sometimes slightly above that point, is where the tummy's top edge is found. The tummy's top edge runs horizontally, more or less, across from one side to the other. It does descend at the outer edges of the tummy, to form a pouch system.

A bogus drawing of the Lesbianists' pretend 'esophagus' for all the med school students to ponder over, and of a pretend tummy, which has the connections on the back side, where they are not located, but on the front side, where they are located, can be found at,

http://medpics.findlaw.com/generateexhibit.php?ID=4599&ExhibitKeywordsRaw=esophagus&TL=1825&A=42409

The tummy does not look like a cashew peanut, like in the drawing. It is a pouch, and it is more oval in shape, kind of like a box, but a little long or rectangular, some may say it is similar in shape to a peanut, or to a raisin, or to a plumb, and it runs lengthwise from one side to the other, with the narrow part of the oval running horizontally. It is nearly a perfect, very slightly long, oval in shape.

The descending colon pipe, your tummy tube, which goes nearly in a straight and almost perfectly vertical, in many cases, direction, to your poop hole, from the ejection outlet port of your tummy, which is on the front side of the tummy, on the front right side, as mentioned above is very long, and in some women, the tummy rests slightly higher up, a tiny bit, to allow for a longer 'shank', or sexaling tube.

What Is The Shank?

The shank, if we look at the opening and entrance to the shank, the butt hole entrance, the shank is a multiple duty, instrument. It is a nearly straight tube, and it allows food to exhaust from the tummy pouch. It also allows a dick to be placed up into it from the rear upwards, and a dick can be very long, in some cases, and there for, the tummy tube, or shank, is very long, and also, importantly, it is generally straight in most women and girls and in lots of men and boys.

Discoloration Of Sexaling Organs

If we look at the dick, or if we look at the scrotum, we will see it is a darker, slightly discolored body instrument. The vagina is slightly discolored, and so are the titty nipples. So are the lips, the inside of the mouth, the throat inside, and in various other places, depending on the person. The palms of the hands, the undersides of the fingers, the soles of the feet, the toes, the ears, the cheeks, and the underarms of people are all discolored to one extend or another. The discoloration is an indicator of the fact that these sense organs, or love making instruments, are major sexaling instruments. The other organs of the body, are minor sexaling instruments. All of them, are sexaling instruments when you activate them, by massaging them, and by rubbing them, and so forth, and they will begin to shoot off energies, and those energies will purify and holyfy your life and clear up your karma and the karma of the people around you as those energies will shoot out in all directions cleaning up my universe, as they go zinging outwards. The energies will erase your karma, over time, and if you pray with a prayerful minded statement in mind, while sexaling, your karma that is related to that prayer, that needs to be erased, will get erased, little by little. For examply, "I pray that I will be able to have the good health and prosperous life, that will allow me to live, comfortably, and without distress."

Sexaling And Prayer Statements

The negative karma that you have, that would prevent you from living a healthy life, that is also prosperous, and without distress, will slowly, over time, get erased, as you make your statement, every time you begin sexaling, or every time you begin a sexaling session. If your sexaling sessions are going to go for days, say, three to eight days, for instance, you might want to repeat the prayerful minded statement, every eight to twelve hours, to fifteen, to thirty, to fifty hours, or so, to 'freshen' it up, once every so often. The more you freshen it up, the better it will work. The prayer will apply to not only you, but to every one else who is sexaling, if you say, "I pray that I and every one else will be able to have the good health and prosperous life, that will allow not only myself, but all other people, as well, to live without distress." This statement is a bodhisatva minded statement, and it will produce better results. Prayer statements said with others in mind, in addition to your self, produce better results, as a general rule. Why is that? Because we want to purify not only your karma, but every one's karma, and you get extra points for thinking about every one else and their needs, as well as your needs. Not only your self, but every person who is sexaling, during the time you are sexaling, and during the time, you continue or plan to continue sexaling, as one long sexaling session, will benefit from this prayer statement.

The Butt Hole Sexaling Organ And The Shank Sexaling Organ

The butt hole is also discolored, in all human beings, and that is an indicator that the butt hole is a sexaling organ.

The discoloration of the butt hole entrance, is an indication of the fact that the butt hole entrance is a sexaling organ. If we look inside the butt hole, we will notice that the entire length of the 'shank' is discolored, and therefore, the entire shank is a sexaling organ. Sexaling organs are different in coloration, than the normal skin coloration of the body.

The discoloration is due to the fact that there are a gazillion plus tiny blood carrier veins and arteries, that are very tiny, so tiny, you can not see them with today's 'current' medical microscope technology that is in the hospitals and labs, used by doctors, scientists, and lab technicians. These tiny blood 'capillaries' or fluid flow ductways, are too small to be seen by a doctor's microscope, or by a lab technician's microscope. These fluid flow ductways, or capillaries, are all clustered together, in high densities. When they cluster together, that is for a purpose.

They are clustered together in high densities to allow for fluids to flow to the nerves in that area of the body to feed all the mouths in the nerves of that area of the body. There are clusters of sense nerves that are extremely dense, in all the sexaling organs. Where there are high densities of sexaling nerve clusters, there are lots of fluid flow ductways, or capillaries, and the area of the skin that is visible to your eyes, will show a slight to moderate, to heavy discoloration, due to all the fluids flowing through the area, carrying food and nourishment.

Nerves

Nerves are organs in them selves. The smallest nerve organ is a nerve cell, perhaps. My memories are not very good, so we might find smaller nerve organs, as my memories improve. A nerve cell has all the organs in it, to allow it to function as a normal, living being. That means, it is alive, and it thinks, and it cogitates, or mulls over thoughts, and it considers, for instance, 'What am I going to do, now', and it has lots of thoughts, and it stays busy doing lots of thinking, and by doing lots of cogitating, and by doing lots of communicating with other nerve cell organ kids of mine.

Nerve Units As Living Beings, I.E., Creatures

Nerves, just as nerve cells, form units, and as a unit, they form a living being, or creature, and all of them have mouths, since all my creatures have mouths, and they all need to be fed.

The sense nerves, the erotic nerves that are clustered together, need to be fed the foods and nourishment that they need to be healthy and fit, so as to be able to respond, to stimulus. They need to eat to be healthy, so that they will then be able to respond when stimulus is applied to that area of the body, where they are located.

Each organ in the body, has a brain, and a mouth, and a stomach, and a poop hole, and a pee hole, and all the other organs they need to survive with.

Some organs, maybe all of them, need to feel comforted by other organs, i.e., creatures of the same kind as they are. Some organs like to not only speak to other organs creatures who are like them, but they also like to snuggle up to one and another, and they get cozy with one and another, all snuggled up, suddenly, before any one new it, pwoop, and they make a baby organ or creature who looks like mommy and daddy.

Organ creatures of course can sexal, because if they could not, they could not make baby organ creatures. Organs can sexal just like human beings can sexal, but they sexal in their own particular ways. They like to sexal, just like human beings like to sexal, and they also go ouch, when some one or some thing pokes them, or pricks them, such as the doctors needle at the doctor's office.

Each nerve cell is built with all the organs it needs to survive, and each organ is built with all the organs it needs to survive. The number of organs in the human body is almost limitless, but not quite limitless, as you can still count them, all, if you have the time.

Brains And Notational Thoughts

Each organ is a living being, or creature, with a brain, and with notational thoughts. Notational thoughts are memo types of thoughts, such as about, 'oh, boy, that sure felt good', or 'golly, gee, I am really bored'.

One notational thought, for instance, that is of use to you, is when you are in need of water, and you begin drinking water, when you get the feeling that you need lots of water, and you get a message to your brain that you are in need for water, because you know you are low on water, and almost out of it, well, the inspirational thought that tells you, "keep drinking, keep drinking, you are too low on water" that is an inspirational thought, that your tummy and its brain is passing on to an area of your conscious mind, where you can then pick it up, and then act on it.

There are many kinds of notational thoughts organs can have and organs can pass on to our 'brains'. Organs, as living beings, also do lots of chit chat with other organs, not only with the organs inside of your own body, but also with the organs inside of the body in other animals. Brains are brains, and they are very smart, if they are to do the duty they are assigned to do, which requires them to be smart. They are so smart, they spend a lot of their time, communicating and chatting with other organs, to see if every one is alright, and to find out what the latest gossip is. They can do many things, and that is the topic for another time. But one thing they can do is talk to each other. They have their own languages, they speak to each other with. Did you know that? I bet you didn't. If you are a Lesbianist, you may probably know this, as you probably studied about it, in your school days. Some kids, five or six years old, study these things, on planets, where education is up to the standard, that I set it at.

If we understand that brains are in every organ in the body, and some organs, have multiple brains, almost all of them do, and if we understand that they are able to communicate to each other, than we can understand that the vagina is a living being, and it has a brain, and it talks with other vaginas, in other women and in other girls. The dick has a brain, too, and it talks with other dicks, and it talks with vaginas, as well, when a vagina calls to a dick, and asks it questions.

Feeding The Organ Kiddies The Foods They Need

We need to feed the body, many foods, not only tomatoes, potatoes, asparagus, meat, and fruit, etc., but we need to feed foods to our body for feeding the organ kiddies, the organ animals, the living beings, or creatures with brains, called organ kiddies who are inside of our body.

What are we doing when we feed the body? We are supposed to be feeding not only our face, loading food in that tastes good to us, and to our sensibilities, but we are also supposed to be feeding the animals that live in side of us, as well as, we are supposed to be feeding the organ kiddies, who also need food to stay alive. We also need to be feeding all of the other animals kiddies, the living creatures of various kinds, that are living inside of our bodies. Most organ kiddies are on a starvation diet, nearly, and they survive on nearly only water. Some are lucky and get some pee and poopy juices from animals that live inside of our bodies.

Most of the organ kiddies are not lucky, and they languish, from day to day, with nothing to eat, and they hang on, and they do their best to perform for us, but in the end, they are defeated by our not feeding them, and they give out, and give up, and throw in the towel, and say, "To hell with it. I don't care anymore." and with that, they cancel their agreement to work with us, and they say good bye, and they then slowly perish, and as they do, so do we. We perish because we do not feed the organ kiddies in our bodies, and because we do not feed the cell kiddies in our bodies, and because we do not feed the amoebe kiddies in our bodies. If we feed them all, we would not die, and they would continue to live, properously, and progenerate, or give us babies, to take over the jobs of mom and pop, Sr., the first organ kiddies in our bodies, who want to work with us, and who want to be fed, while they work for us, when mom and pop, Sr. are near the end of their run, that is their work life, and when it is time to call them in to my Epcot Centers for them, for them to get their check up, and repairs that they need, to their brains, and to their nervous systems, and to relieve them of any undue or unwholesome stresses, nervous tension, migraines, and so forth.

You might be thinking, "This is a joke", but it is not a joke. You are completely wrong if you think this is a joke. If you feed the foods that organ kiddies like to eat, to them, they will become alive with activity, and they will work hard for us, and we will feel a new sense of vitality, and we will regain our good humor, to some extent, as it is a karmic issue here, as well, having a good humor, or a pleasant personality, and when it is time for mom and pop, Sr., organ kiddies to pass on the work load to baby Mac, and baby Sarah, organ kiddies, Jr., they will pass on the work load to them, and Poppa and Momma will retire and make their way, with assistance from their kids, and with assistance from my kids, to my Epcot Centers for them.

This is a complex topic to discuss, and I won't try to discuss it in full, obviously, as I am too stupid, and my brain is not working, and I can't remember every thing about it, obviously. But, you should know, that if you feed them the molds animals, the molds fruits and gardens produce, and the funguses they like to eat, and that they enjoy eating, and the other foods that they eat, from fermented mash, made correctly, and from molded foods, and from molded breads, molded chesses, properly cooked meats, and so forth, they will feed on the animals in that food that you prepare for them, and you'll get healthy, and they'll get healthy, and they'll live for three hundred to eight hundred to fifteen hundred years, or more, depending on which ones you are talking about, and they will work for you, with zest and vigor, before it is time to hand over the work load to baby Mac, and baby Sarah, organ kiddies, Jr.

If We Were Able To Be Born With "Owner's Manuals" For Our Body And Brains

We are not born with an owner's manual for our body and brains, etc. If we were born with one, we would be told that if we feed our body properly, the body will last us forever, and we will be able to live forever. This is the norm for the human body. It is not a 'dream' or 'hope', or 'wish'. It is merely the truth, and once you learn how to feed your body, and all of the animals and creatures inside of your body, you will begin to make all the animals and creatures inside your body, happy, and they will begin to work for you, as they were intended to work for you. They are all my worker animals, and they are here to work for me. I have many worker animals, and we will learn about all of them, and we will find those who we need to help us feed our bodies properly, so that we can all live in the body that we were born in, that is meant to last you forever, if your feed it and nourish all of the animals in it, properly.

If you do not feed my worker animals in your bodies, the nutrients, the animals and the plants animals and the foods that my worker organ animals in your bodies like to eat, that will allow my organ worker animals, and all of my other worker animals, to live with vigor and tenacity, strength and good health, they will not work very well for you, and in time, they will all perish, and so will you. I mentioned my worker animals in the molded foods, molded fruits, molded citrus fruits, fermented beverages, and so forth, that we will be making. They are all there in those foods that we will make, and then use to feed ourselves with, to then help feed all my worker organ animals, my worker cell animals, and other worker animals, that are in your body, and that need to be living in your body, working hard for you.

If you do not feed them the foods that they like to eat, they will not live for long, and they will perish, and die, and that will be that, and you will not have a chance for living more than a hundred or two or three hundred years, in that body of yours, if your karma is good, and if you were not being poisoned by the petro chemical industry, and the chemicals industries, and by the foods manufacturing industries, and by the pharmaceutical manufacturing industries. We will never hear the Lesbianists admit that they are intentionally poisoning us, but they are.

Once you find a way to survive on molded up, wholesome natural healthy foods, with no pesticides, and on water that is not chlorinated, and that is wholesome to drink, and after you learn the abc's of proper eating, to feed every one in your body, as well as you, then you will not die and you will begin to live forever.

The Lesbianists are afraid that you will learn to eat properly and then, when you begin to get your diet together, not only for your self but also for all the animals and organ kiddies in you, and for all the cell animals in you, or cell creatures, who are smart living beings, by the way, you will begin to be able to extend your longevity, and then, in time, you will be able to live forever.

If you stop drinking the poisonous coffee in the office, as I've explained about, previously, the Lesbianists make it with diesel fuels, and with gasoline, and with kerosene, if you stop smoking the poisoned cigarettes, if you stop using the plastics furniture, and other plastics products, if you stop inhaling the gasoline fumes kiddies that cause fibromyalgia, and fumes animals cause the sharp pains in the body as the fumes animals eat up and destroy the organ animals in the body discharging energies or electrical currents, as they mate, and as they sperminate, and vagicate, or eject female animal sexaling juices, like some jelly fish do, and like some deep sea snakes, and worms, that are lit up, with pulsing lights in them, when they mate, do. Fumes animals also cause arthritis, ligaments problems and diseases, and other health problems. If you stop inhaling the plastics fumes kiddies, which also give you fibromyalgia, arthritis, etc., and kill brain cells, and cause brain rot, Alzheimer's disease, and parkinson's disease, and a number of other illnesses, and if you begin to eat properly, in accordance with the proper rules for diet, that our body and brain owner's manuals would explain about, if we were to be born with these manuals at the time of our birth, then, you will begin to get healthy, and you will begin to live forever.

So, good luck, and do not vote for Hillary Clinton, or any of the other presidential candidates, and if you see them, give them a beaver cheer, some people call it a 'Bronx cheer', and the noise you make sounds like someone farting in their direction. That may sound childish to say, but it is what the Lesbianists deserve as you are being played for a fool, every day of your life, and you should snap out of it, and do some thing about it, as soon as you and your friends can get it together to begin sexaling, in the ways I've explained about.

Duplicator Tests

In a duplicator test, there is one strand of a piece of the body, and you take that strand, and with medical and scientific technologies, you attempt to make a copy of it.

Why do they make a copy of a strand of a piece of a human or ape, monkey, dog, or cat, etc., body?

To test for various possibilities as to who the strand came from and how the strand came from the source, and what has happened to the person, if it was a person, if the person is no longer here to stand in for himself or for herself, in the case of a missing person, for instance.

What is meant by a strand of a piece of a human, etc., body. Usually, a piece of flesh is a good place to start. A clipping from a person's finger nails, can be duplicated, if the sample is tiny enough, and it can be analysed, and then compared with an original shard or piece from a person's finger nail, a known subject's finger nail, and then a match up can either be made, or not be made.

Human blood cells can be duplicated and matched. Human skin tissues can be duplicated and matched. Human organ tissues can be duplicated and matched.

These matching tests are in fact, one example of a organ animal giveing birth to a baby organ animal, or to a number of baby organ animals.

I'm not sure what they call the test, in the laboratory, but that is a duplicator test, in my vocabulary, and it should be a simple test that all county, municipal, and other police medical technical labs, forensics labs are capable of performing.

This example of a matching print from the one strand of a piece of the body, is an example of organs animals, giveing birth to baby organ animals.

Red blood corpuscles, are often tested, in this manner, I believe. A corpuscle is an organ animal, and it will give the same results, and you can make baby blood corpuscle organ animals.

A high school, or jr. high school science lab technician or teacher, or in some school labs, including jr. college science labs, and technical labs at medical technical schools, teaching assistants, should be able to perform this test as it is a simple test to learn how to perform, and even off duty police officers, are taught it, in their free time, for fun, or for advancing their career. Licensed Practicing Nurses (LPN's) generally know about this test, and so do all doctors as well as your general medical school student, and two year college, or four year college, nurses course students. Botanists know or should know this test, and there are many professions where in this test is common, such as in paleontology, the study of human remains, bones, and so forth. I don't know what people on this planet, understand a paleontologist (Note: 'paleo-entologist' I think may be the correct spelling, but I'm not sure) as, but in my vocabulary, as it is comming back to me, a paleontologist explores and investigates old bones, fossilized bones, old grave sights, and so forth.

Elementary school students, and maybe some kindergarden school students, in advanced kindergarden schools, such as in Japan, and in Europe, and in different countries around the world, can do this test, if their science lab teacher lends them the technical books, and tools to take home, study, and then show the family and parents, how a duplicator test is done. It's not a difficult test to perform, if you can read, and if you know what a beaker is, and so forth.

This will give you a start for the search for proof as to whether or not there are organ animals in the human body, and in all animal body's and in all living being's bodies. It will provide proof that organ animals, once you've identified them, can in fact give birth to baby organ animals.

There are a number of types of duplicator tests, lab technicians perform, in their day to day job routines, in medical labs, and the duplicator tests are generally for making comparisons, of one type or another, or for one reason, or another. They all give the same results, they provide you with proof that organ animals do exist in the body, and that organ animals do make babies.

Sexaling With Family And Friends

Sexaling with your family, relatives, trustable neighbors, and so on, will help you to begin to erase your karma, if you begin your wholesome, purifying, and holyfying sexaling with your family, relatives, kin, trustable neighbors, and others who are trustable. As you erase your karma, little by little, you will begin to get better karma, and you'll begin to be able to get rid of these Lesbianists who make fools of all of you, and who toy with you, one life after another, as you go into my Epcot Center, and then come out again, as a tummy baby to a tummy mommy and to a tummy daddy, on a fairly predictable basis, meeting up with your former friends and colleagues, over time, and then going through the six, or ten, or twelve, or forteen, or sixteen, etc., years of schooling, each time you come out, to lead a very short life span, with, once again, all of your organ kiddies and other animals and living creatures in you, nearly starving to death, the whole time you are out here, with your friends, playing, golf, swimming, playing tennis, football, entertaining the Lesbianists, and so on, until it is funeral time, and then back, once more and into my Epcot Center, until a new tummy mommy and a new tummy daddy, are waiting and ready for you to come out again.

This is not a joke, I need to repeat, and you should start thinking about doing something to bring a stop to this abuse of your organ animals and other living creatures in you, and to bring a stop to the abuse of you, by the Lesbianists who will not tell you how to do any thing that is good for you and that is good for your health.

Massaging The Butt Hole And Shank

If you work massaging the butt hole for a few hours, fluids will begin to form, and the tissues of the shank, and of the butthole, will become more pliant. They will become stretchable, and they will, after a number of hours of massaging the butt hole, and the inside of the butt hole, little by little, as you insert a dick up the hole, as it gives way, and becomes more pliant, after a few hours, or so, it will soon be able to become opened up completely, and a dick can then be inserted and the shank then becomes a sexaling tube.

On the end of the dick, there is a 'pooper scooper', or head level scoop pipe. The head level scoop pipe is the peculiar shape of the dick at the tip of it. This shape allows you to insert the head of the penis into the butt hole, and then take a wee wee, and then mush up all the food that is stuck in the cavity, and after a little mushing up of the food in the tummy pipe, or shank, you can then begin to scoop it out, little by little, with one dick shovel head, after another.

After seven or eight dicks, to twelve to thirteen, or so, on the job, pumping, and peeing, and scooping out the poop, and ejaculating, as well, you can eventually scoop out most of the poop from the shank. Some may remain near the top, so a few more pee pee's into the butt hole, will help wash out the tummy tube, and it will become clear and free of digested food matter.

The large and small, i.e., the meaning or intent of this paper, or note, is to let you know that the poop hole is a sexaling organ, and that the poop tube is a straight tube, and not a twisted up, bundled up, chimpanzee, or oselot guts piping, or bear guts piping, or horse guts piping, or pigs' guts piping, or cows' guts piping, as the medical community, would like to have you believe, along with the hoards of bible thumpers, who colluded with the Lesbianists of the medical community, to keep you in the dark ages.

You are being played for a fool, every day of your life. If you can allow the Lesbianists to make a fool of you, every day of your life, and if that is alright with you, than go right ahead, and play their game, and let things stay as they are, but if you are not willing to allow them to make a fool of you, then you had better get busy, sexaling, and so forth, as I've already told you what we need to do, to help bring about the changes we need to make.

Sending Hillary And Obama On Their Final Rides

A vote for Hillary Clinton for president is a vote for stupidity, on your part. A vote for Obama for president, is a vote for stupidity, on your part. Now why doesn't somebody kill Hillary Clinton, or Obama, or both. I just do not understand. Do you? I don't.

Next time you see Hillary, you can ask her if you can open up the front of her chest cavity, and take a look inside to see if she has a shank, as I described it, or if she has a twisting and turning, animal type set of guts, like many animals do. I think you'll find that she has a 'shank', and not a twisting, turning, animal set of guts.

All human beings have shanks, and not one human being has a set of 'animal' guts. Human beings have shanks for fuckaling, that is, butt fuckaling, but no one, except the Lesbianists, know about it, and as a result, no one ever thinks about butt fuckaling, as a type of sexaling enjoyment, and a sexaling past time.

Explosives To Kill Hillary Clinton, Obama, George Walker Bush, Jr. Barbara Bush, Jr. And All The Congressmen and Congresswomen, And All The White House Staff, Etc.

Well, I have told you about many bombs you can make, on my web site, and I suggest you begin to think more seriously about taking out Hillary's cavalcade of automobiles, next time she is riding through Washington DC. Or the next time you see Mr. Obama, please consider blowing his cavalcade of cars and limousines, up and out of the upper solar atmospheres, with the bombs you can make, as already explained about, in my notes, on this bulletin board.

After you blow them up into bits, and pieces, they will be fine, as they will soon be coming out of my Epcot Center, as tummy babies, and they will be two less threats to the ordinary and normal people on this planet, for some time to come.

A Note On Hillary Clinton, George Bush, Jr., Barbara Bush, Jr., And A Number Of Other Lesbianists

Before you blow up Hillary, find out if she is with us, on this, or what. I think Mr. Obama is not with us, yet, but it may be the case that Hillary Clinton, along with a lot of her friends, is now on board, and she is hoping to set sail with the rest of us, but is not quite able to break away from the Lesbianists' and their organization, since she has been a friend with them, and a member of their organization for umpteen millions, billions, trillions, and zillions, plus years, since long before they ever even came to this planet, to settle it. These people, Hillary Clinton, and a number of her friends, are ready to make the change over, but lots of Lesbianists are not ready to make the change over, and so Hillary Clinton is kind of stuck, and so are all the other Lesbianists, who want to make the change over, and who want to say good bye to their former organization.

In any case, this planet is crawling with animal people of all kinds, as I've mentioned, and it is a very unpleasant situation, and the Lesbianists know this, as most of their membership has already been eaten up by animal people, and there are many types of animal people. Many of the animal people who ate up the Lesbianists below ground, are walking around, as they imitate, or take on the form of human beings, after they eat one. Not many of the original Lesbianists are still alive, down below the surface of this planet, in their underground cities, as I've recently learned, as most all of them, close to ninety nine plus percent to nearly one hundred perecent of the Lesbianists down below the surface, have already been eaten up. There are still a lot of Lesbianists down below us, below the surface, but compared to the numbers of them who were there, before, there are fewer, now.

What To Do, Now?

I thought my kids were ready, with an underground system of 'safe harbors', but it seems there is a delay, and I'm not sure when the delay will be resolved. Until it is resolved, I guess we are stuck where we are. So, the only thing to do is to get the government to make the needed changes, and to step up to the microphone, and denounce the Lesbianists organization, by telling every one that it exists, and that we will now build a one world, government. When the politicians decide to do that, and when we begin building a one world government, then maybe we will begin to see some resolvement to this situation.

I have some more ceremonies to do, and I have a lot of time to wait, till we see a resolvement to this situation. The additional ceremonies will assist us in making a safe harbor, as far as I have heard, that is fully integrated, and that has all the protection and safety systems that will be needed. All the different components to the fully integrated system, for covering our immense universe, all at the same time, are not available, yet.

There is a lot to learn, about who else lives in our universe, and about where my kids live, and about what my kids do for me, keeping my universe running for me, along with a lot of other information, for you to get and read, and then understand, about my kids.

As soon as the local, or federal governments around the world release the software that will allow people to upgrade to the 'Managing My Universe' software upgrade, from the databases, that are located in the underground bunkers the Lesbianists used to use when they first arrived, and when they were in the 'sexaling for a living' program, which all of them were in, when they arrived. These databases are also located on other planets where there are bunker systems, and where there are communities of people, who are in the 'sexaling for a living' program.

Also, once the 'Managing My Universe' program software is released, and once people start using it, and once they set up their own network, that it will run on, and once enough people are running that software on their computers, we can have a partial soluition to the problem of the animal people, as well as a partial solution to dealing with Mormons, and Clerics, and Protestant leaders, who believe in "Jesus Saves" and other such useless nonsense.

I think the Jesus Saves group, i.e., Christianity, the Mormons, Protestants, Lutherans, Catholics, Presbyterians, and so forth, is built on Islam, and on Judaism, or rather, on one of the schools of Judaism, plus maybe some other things, made up, or grafted from other religions that were primitive religions, such as Voodoo cults, and worship of the dead cults, as well as other cults, and they were all squished together, and the result was, "Christianity", but that was after all of my teachings were clipped out of the two above mentioned religions that I had taught.

In any case, not a one of them has a clue that sexaling is a 'purifying' activity, and women and their sexaling bodies are like 'purifying' engines, or washing machines, as I've mentioned before, and men and their sexaling bodies, are also capable of becoming 'purifying' engines, and washing machines, though we all have our karma, and it will be a while before we erase enough of our karma, to make a difference, for some of us. That means, some people are better able to sexal than others as their karma for sexaling is better for sexaling than the karma for sexaling of others. We have a lot of karma to erase before we all begin to pick up enough steam to get any where, sexually speaking.

I think that is the general situation, for most, but there are some people who are more gifted than others, and there are some people who are, when it comes to their sexaling capabilities, generally speaking, fine.

With the use of aphrodesics, fruits that we can grow, that must be taken off the 'banned' foods lists, vegetables, nuts, and other foods that also are useful aphrodesics, that must also be taken off the banned foods lists, we will be able to make better progress. Sessame seeds can mold up wheat bread to make a nice aphrodesic, from what

I've heard, and I will give it a try, one of these days, as I'm busy, molding up a few other things, first, sort of for experimentation, as this is all new to me. Peanuts supposedly, might be aphrodesic, once you mold up wheat bread with them. I believe they have minor pain killing properties, as well. Dark green garbanzo beans, sold in Indian food markets, also mold up wheat bread and are useful as aphrodesics. White bread is too poisoned to consider for use. Please use only whole wheat bread, or a bread of fine quality. Do not use white bread or normal white french bread, as the flour used in making them is treated with bleaching agents, that are poisonous.

Compliance With The General Terms Of Their Settlement Agreements

In any case, we need all the laws changed, as I've mentioned about, before, and we need the governments to form a united, single planetary government, and we need every one to begin to get the information they need, and the assistance they need to begin to cooperate with each other, in science, and in agriculture, and farming, etc. We need to ban pesticides, the use of petro-chemicals in the manufacturing industries, the promotion of natural fibers, and natural oils for manufacturing, and the switching over to non-polluting, hydrogen based technologies, and so forth.

We also need the volumes of Greek literature released, as well as all the other literature, that needs to be released, that the initial settlers of this planet, were given, to use to set up their planetary government, with.

When we start to see that these and all the other neccessary steps are being undertaken, in an effort to accomplish them, we will be in a better situation to begin to see a resolvement to this situation. The Lesbianists do not like to be forced into doing things, but in this case, there is no other way of getting these things done, and so if we need to force them to get them to move off their fannies, and get their butts in gear, than we will have to do just that.

We need the Lesbianists, and all the other groups of people on this planet, who legally, or rather, legitimately settled this planet, but who are not in compliance with the terms of their settlement agreements, get into compliance, and the sooner they get into compliance, the sooner we will have a resolvement to this situation.

Persons Who Wish To Participate In The Previous Sexaling For A Living Program

I have talked about the previous sexaling for a living program, that people were signed up with, a long time ago, when they first settled this planet. I mentioned the underground bunker systems, that my kids still keep for eligible card carrying members. I suggested that there might be people who died, and after they came back from the Epcot Center, they no longer knew any thing about the 'sexaling for a living' program, that they were affiliated with, and they forgot that they were a valid card carrying member of the program.

Even though these people, may not remember that they were once in the program, since they don't usually bring that information with them, when they are tummy babies, in mama's tummy, these people, if they wish to get back into the 'sexaling for a living' program, that they were once a participant in, they may write a statement, and state that they wish to get back into the 'sexaling for a living program'. They need to sign it, and press their energies into it, just as I explained, about, before. For example,

Affidavit

I, ____name____ would like to get back into the sexaling for a living program, that I was an active participant in, previously, and that I continue to belong to, as a valid card carrying member.

Signed: (signature)
Date: (Date)

Then, press your finger, or thumb, or elbow, or toe, or nose, or lips, or palm into the paper you wrote, above your signature and date area, and make sure you press in your energies, as well as you can, and that should wake up my kids, and get their attention. When my kids have verified that your request is legitimate, they will buzz you in, or rather, teletransport you into the underground bunkers, that still exist, in many places, on this planet, and under the surface of this planet. These bunker systems exist on other planets, as well, and so every one who is qualified, no matter where they are, and no matter what planet they are on, can get back into the program, so long as my kids authorize and approve their request for entry into the program.

This will get you started. You have to be certain, that you wish to start off, again, and that you are sincerely interested in getting back into this program, to sexal for a living, in accordance with the rules and guidelines of the original program.

Once you are in the original program, now as a participating member, you can begin sexaling for a living, and you can also, begin to study about the new 'sexaling for a living' program, and the 'managing my universe' program, and the other programs that are now available, in the Gurkian Age. There are introductory courses for people who are not familiar with the program, and your questions will be answered in the seminar like introductory courses.

Once you decide to join with one or more of them and once you decide to get into the Gurkian Age Religious Revolutionary Movement, and then begin sexaling for a living, as you get fit, and healthy, by your participation in these and other activities, as well, such as the club activities, as I've mentioned about, before, so that you can sexal more adequately, and robustly, for, eventually, days, then weeks, then months, then for years on end, without tiring out, too much, and in between sexaling activities, you will have lots of other activities, such as the club activities, to vary the pace of your life, to make it more interesting, and more engaging, by meeting with lots of people in the clubs, and by learning about these people, and by sexaling with them, once you've decided you would like to join, then you can switch over to the new programs, in the Gurkian Age Religious Revolutionary Movement, and get started when the facilities for them, are constructed by my engineer kids, and by others of my children, who will be helping them.

When we have all of the facilities needed, the new programs will open, and you can switch over to the new programs and my kids will help you with the paper work to transfer over your membership to the new programs, in the Gurkian Age Religious Revolutionary Movement.

Qualified Card Carrying Members

Some of the people who I've mentioned before, such as Jodi Foster, Jennipher Lopez, Madonna, Angelina Jo-li, Jack Nicholson, Angelica Huston, many actors in the New York actors' guild, many members of the west coast actors guild, and many members of actors guilds around the world, and also, many members of dance troups, and dance guilds around the world, singers, musicians, entertainers, members of the military, members of law enforcement agencies, and so forth, many of these people, and others, as well, are qualified as valid card carrying members of the original sexaling for a living program, that the initial members and follow up members of the out bound programs for the settlers to this planet, were all a member of.

Even if you do not think that you could possibly have been a member of one of those out bound settler's programs, you may have been one, and if you write an affidavit, in the form as I've mentioned above, you may find that in fact, you were a member of the out bound program of settlers to this planet, or, you may find that you were a member of one of the other out bound programs, to other planets, and you may find that you are still a qualified, card carrying member who is entitled to rejoin the sexaling for a living program, that you were once a member of.

How is this possible? How can you still be a valid member, after all this time? Well, it is just that we need to get you started, and so these facilities, the underground bunker systems, that I've mentioned about, before, are there, and I was told by my kids, that you can make and sign a statement, or an affidavit, in the manner in which I mentioned, above, and that will be all you need to do, to get back into the program, you were once in. We are extending the time limit on the previous sexaling for a living program, as a short term measure, to help get things started up, again.

Zealot

Joining the original program, applies to all valid card carrying members, whether they currently know they are with an out bound settler's group, or not. That means, that Ms. Hillary Clinton, can get started up, again, as the time limit on the program has been extended, and so can Mr. Bill Clinton, and so can Chelsea Clinton, and so can all of the other people, who prefer to consider them selves as 'radicals', and they prefer the term, 'Zealot' as in, a person who has a lot of zeal for living, to the term, 'Lesbianist'. So when you see some one you might recognize as a possible 'Zealot' it is polite to use the term, 'Zealot', and not use the term, Lesbianist, as 'Lesbianist' has too many negative feelings attached to it, and people might start using it as a way to make others, angry.

You do not get points, for starting fights, or for getting other people angry at you, for teasing them, and so forth. So, let's all behave, and let's all get into the program, those of you who are eligible, and let's go from there. If you have a friend, who might not be eligible for the program, you can make an application to allow the person into the program, and then my kids will approve it. The person will then get accepted into the sexaling for a living program for the out bound settlers.

What Is Tin

Tin ore is a metal ore, and it is found in cassiterite, as listed in many books, and it is also found in iron pegmatites.

Iron pegmatites are its chief source for supply of this mineral ore. It is like gold, or barium, or silver, and it is found in many pegmatites.

What is barium? It is a mineral that is found in steel ore, or iron ore, and it is a tough metal, and it is very strong, with great tensile strength.

What are pegmatities?

Pegamatites are large stones that contain mineral ores.

A pegamatite ore stone can be found in silver deposits, and in gold deposits, and in many types of mineral deposits.

Pegmatites are generally found with quartz, or a type of quartz, that is a pearly white in color.

It is a cluster of ores, of various types, and the ores can be any thing from silver, to gold, to iron, to boron, or cadmium.

What is boron?

Boron is a chief component of the metal industry, and it is used for making steel. It is found in iron deposits, and it is also found in gold deposits. Boron is a chief component mineral ore found in iron ore deposits.

What is cadmium?

Cadmium is also a chief component of the metal industry, and it is found in large quantities, when found with silver ore, and with iron ore, and with gold ore, typically. It is a shiny grey ore, and it is very useful for making steel stronger.

The processes of melting tin ore out of cassisterite, is a difficult process, but the Lesbianists use it to help confuse people about what tin is. Tin is chiefly found in metal deposits, or metal bareing loads, where there is much iron ore, and steel ore.

Steel ore is similar to iron ore, but steel ore is stronger than iron.

Iron is a little brittle, and with out the use of steel ore, and with out the use of other ores, to stiffen it up, iron ore is a poor choice for durable, pots, and durable cast iron statues as it will fragment, very easily, and it turns to dust, if scraped with a strong hardened steel knife blade.

The home hobbyist, or workshop metal smith, as seen on PBS, the small sized smelting industry, as seen in a recent Las Vegas PBS program that touched on metal smithing, makes a big deal out of white metal, and that is iron, basically, the real brittle metal that comes in through the metal smith's doors from people who own statues made of iron. That brittle metal, if scraped with a knife, will start to shatter, and fall apart, and the metal smith was saying, he could not weld any thing to it, as it would just keep coming apart, layer after layer. That is iron ore, and it is different from steel ore.

I suppose the Lesbianists' made up the periodic table of elements to help confuse scientists, and it does not jive with reality, and the metals animals minerals animals, elements animals, and other animals, that we have in our environments. The Lesbianists periodic table of 'elements' does not help to describe the many types of 'elements' animals and other animals that we find in our environments, under the ocean, in the forests and jungles, under the ground, or in the deserts, and so on.

How Many Elements Animals Are There?

There are so many elements animals, you will take many years to study about them all, if you decide to study in depth about them. Maybe it will take several hundreds of years, to learn about some of the things about them. If you wish to study about all the mineral animals, metal animals, elements animals, and other living animals that are in my many universes, it will take you a far greater amount of time to study about them all.

We will have courses for you to study about them, once we set up our new civilization, and once we get around to setting up the many other new civilizations, that will all be patterned after our civilization, that we will be setting up, shortly, with the cooperation of the Lesbianists, the Zealots, and their many other outbound planetary settlement groups radical friends.

New Sciences

Elements animals are many types. There are thousands, and millions of elements animals, if not more, maybe many times more, into the kazillions, plus many times more, I think.

Just like animals on the ground, or in the ocean, or in the fresh water lakes, or in the sky such as birds, or in the lagoons, or in the swamps, and so forth, there are untold, countable numbers of different animals.

However, the elements animals are very far greater in number, than the animals we can see with our eyes.

Animals of all sizes, and some of them are very tiny, exist in huge numbers, all throughout my universe.

Tree animals, and plants animals, we learned about recently, the drafts babies, and the wedger mama's, they are in each and every plant, and they are different from every other type of plant animal.

There are quite a large number or plants, and flowers, and bushes, and sea weeds, though we don't see sea weeds too often, or kelp plants, but there are lots of underwater plants, but perhaps not as many as above ground plants, as we have destroyed our environments, and in the ocean, the oceans are so polluted, not much grows in them, any more.

Elements animals are very large in number. So are molds animals. Molds animals are very large in number, but who is there more of? I don't know, but maybe with all the different types of molds there are, there may be more molds animals, than there are elements animals, but it is a close call, I think.

But maybe not, as there are so many types of animals in molds, maybe the animals found in molds, are far greater than the number of animals found in elements.

Anyway, I suppose molds animals, if we look closely at all the different types of molds there are, with a microscope, will far out number the number of elements animals.

Never the less, there are a far greater number of elements animals, than the Lesbianists are going to let anyone know about.

Why is that? It's because they do not want to educate people about the real world we live in. They want to keep us dumb, and stupid, so they can laugh at us, or at least, as dumb and stupid to them, anyway, so that they can laugh at us.

Well, it is a pretty unpleasant situation, here, because we have to learn what science is, and we have to learn the real sciences, and not the phoney sciences the Lesbianists teach.

My memories are not good enough to even begin to teach any thing, but any way, we need some Lesbianists, such as George Bussey, or Clint Eastwood, or Morgan Freeman, and Liz Taylor, and Mila Jovovich, and Mrs. Barbara Bush, Jr., and Mrs. Barbara Bush, Sr., and Mr. George Bush, Sr., and Mr. Ronald Reagan, and Mr. George Bush, Jr., and their radical friends, to teach us the real sciences, along with the rest of the Lesbianists, or Zealots, all of them.

Not a lot of them will want to comply, with that, but we can get some of them to comply, if you make friends with them, and then invite them to your houses, and sexal with them, and make them your best friends, and your sexaling partners. The longer you remain friends, and the longer you sexal with each other, the more compliant they will become over time.

That's the best way to get the Lesbianists, or Zealots to become your friends and then have them teach you stuff, about molds, and science, that you didn't know about, before. As you learn about science, you will learn about making molds, using different methods, and then you can learn how to feed your body, and then you can learn how to feed all the organ animals in your body, a proper diet, and then you can live forever.

If your organ animals all get the foods they need, you will have many happy animals inside of your body.

Professional Moldists

Lesbianists are all professional moldists, and they all have the capability to teach people how to mold up any thing that is worth molding up. They study for millions, and billions of years, and even longer, in some cases. They get their professional degrees, and then they qualify for the outbound settlers' program, and then they go off to settle a new planet, that has not very long ago, recongealed, after it was last smashed apart by a passing sun, or large planet, traveling at a very high rate of speed as it smashed into it, or as it smashed into something, such as another planet, or even a sun, nearby.

That can be very catastrophic, and not many people will survive, and many planets in the vicinity, will shatter to pieces, when a sun or large planet is hit by direct impact, by a large size planet, or fragment of a large planet, or a sun, or fragment of a sun, traveling at a high velocity, near or even past the speed of light.

The shock waves that go shattering out, in wave after wave, will destroy every planet and sun, for a long ways around.

This happens, some times, and the planets and suns and moons, are reduced to dust particles, and after some time, they begin to recongeal, as they go spinning around due to magnetic waves that affect them. After spinning in various formations of circular movements, they eventually recongeal into numerous planets, and many different sized suns. Lots of moons also form, and you have the birth of a lot of new planets, that need settleing.

We always send out people to settle the new planetary systems that need settling, who are most qualified, to establish and lead a new civilization, that they must construct, as a part of their agreements, for their being selected to settle the new planets.

This is how it is typically done, and so we get the best and the brightest, and after their certification, they go out to settle a newly formed area of planets that are habitatable.

We send out many groups, one after another, of highly qualified people. Hulk Hogan was one of those people, who came in a different group of people, but he is friends with the Lesbianists, and he supports, more or less, what the Lesbianists are doing. There are a lot of Hulk Hoagan's friends, who also came and settled this planet, in one or more of the out bound planetary settlement groups.

We need Mrs. Barbara Bush, Mr. Hulk Hoagan, and all of their friends, including Hillary Clinton, and Mr. Obama, to get into compliance with the terms of their agreements, that they initially signed onto, and penned their names to, so that we can get further aide from my children.

My Working Children And Where Are They?

My working children take care of the support work, once the settlers in the out bound settlement groups are in agreement with the terms of compliance, of their out bound planetary settlement program.

How this is done, takes some explaining, but it is fine to leave it as it is, for now, as it will take a lot of explaining to do, to let you know exactly how every thing in my universe is set up, and where all my kids are living.

There are multiple dimensions to this universe, and I weaved together this universe, in such a way as to support the activities of my kids, and at the same time, support the activities of other groups of my kids, living in different dimensions, and at the same time, support the activities of us, living here, in this large universe of ours. This is the central area for us to live, and we have a different job, as it turns out, and that is to purify our universe that we live in, for eternity, so that we can all live in all the universes I have made. There are many universes, too small for you too see, as you are just too big to possibly see them.

I also made many dimensions, and weaved every thing together, in such a way as to support the religion that I am now going to teach to you, over time, and that you are all going to learn about. You can decide for your self if you wish to practice my religion or not, but your practicing my religion, is essential for us to have a nice place to live in, for eternity. That also includes all of my kids.

Different Jobs For My Different Groups Of Children

We have a lot of different jobs to do, my kids, and you, and to keep every thing running smoothly, we must practice my religion, that I am now begining to wake up to and learn about, as I come out of my condition of amnesia, and that I am now begining to practice, in my apartment.

This is how I planned, it, with me waking up, and coming out of my amnesia, and then, over time, introducing my self to all of you, as you all begin to practice my religion.

We will be here for eternity, and it is our job to purify our universe, and to erase the karma, that is a continuous problem, for all of us. There is much we must understand about how my universe is built, maintained, and run or managed. All of my kids make karma, and to keep this universe running properly, we have to divide the karma up, into manageable sizes for each one of us to bare. We are in the best location, here in this universe that we live in, and it is our responsiblity, because we it is our job, to keep our universe pure by practicing my religion.

Advantages To Living In This 'Central Bus Station Terminal Building' Universe

There are lots of advantages to living in this universe, the 'Central Bus Station Terminal Building' universe, that my kids do not share with us, as they live and work in their many, tiny 'Bus Station Terminal Building Support' universes, to support what we are doing, in this 'main' universe. There are lots of things that you can do in this 'main' universe, efficiently, and effectively, that you can not do as well at, in the tiny universes that my kids live in.

The list is long, but one thing is, taking karma, and figuring out how to deal with it, and then dealing with it, efficiently. Another thing is, balancing out karma. We need to balance out karma, to keep every one and every animal alive, thriving, and well, and we can effectively balance out karma, in this 'main' universe, better than in the tiny universes that my kids are living and working in.

With my religion, that we will begin, soon, to accept and practice, some of us in our universe, and in time, more of us, and with my kids practicing my religion, along with us, but in their support network of tiny universes, and more needs to be explained about the support network of tiny universes and what my kids are doing, as they work in them for keeping things running smoothly and harmoniously, we will effectively have a way to balance out karma, much better than ever before.

Practicing my religion is also good for erasing our karma, and we can more effectively erase our karma, and keep things running smoothly, for our 'main' universe, as well as for all of the many support universes, that my kids are living in and working in, and that we need integrated with our 'main' universe, to allow us all to live in this very big universe of ours, which includes and is central to all of the other many 'tiny' universes and central to all of the other living areas, that goes on, beyond the walls of this universe, in all directions for almost nearly infinity for all practical purposes, that I have for all of my working kids to live in and work in, supporting what we are doing in this universe and supporting, in an inter networked and inter connected manner, what they are all doing, in their universes, and living areas, as well.

My human being kids all have jobs, and so do all my worker animals, and I have lots of working kids, and I have lots of worker animals of all different kinds.

You and I, who are in this main 'Central Bus Station Terminal Building' universes, are the only ones who do not have jobs assigned to us. Therefore, we are all going to work, forever, from now on, at practicing my religion, and this will be our primary job, for keeping our universe running, and for keeping all of my kids universes and living areas, running in proper order, as we erase the massive amounts of karma that need to be erased and as we balance out the massive amounts of karma that need to be balanced out.

This is a difficult and lengthy topic to discuss, and so I'll have to leave it for another day. Sorry.

In any case, we all must have a job, all of my kids and I, and now, of course, you are all going to join my kids, whether you like the idea of it, or not, and begin working for me.

Getting Into Compliance Of The Outbound Settlement Program

Mrs. Hillary Clinton, Mrs. Barbara Bush, Jr., Mrs. Barbara Bush, Sr., and all their friends are now going to have to get into compliance with the terms of their aggreements for the outbound settlement program. Once they do that, we can begin to get things started, for the rest of eternity, with you practicing my newest religion.

This religion will take the best from each of my earlier religions, that I taught, and combine all of the best of them, into this one. There are also some other special features to this religion, and we'll learn them over time.

In any case, we are going to place women in their rightful place, above men, and we are going to place men in their rightful place, below women. That's one of the main things that we are going to achieve with this new religion. It was never a big issue, before, in I think maybe most of my religions, if not almost all of them, where women stood in relation to men.

Anyway, we are going to get an understanding of the fact that there are two races of people, and one of them is the female race, and one of them is the male race.

That's one of the primary things, that we are going to get straightened out, now, with my religion, with out ever getting it confused, again, for the rest of eternity.

In any case, we need all of the friends of Hillary Clinton, Bill Clinton, Chelsea Clinton, George Bush, Jr., Barbara Bush, Jr., George Bussey, Mila Jovovich, Bruce Willis, and of Hulk Hogan, and of all of the other people who came in the original outbound planetary settlement groups, who are still here, and still alive, and who still remember that they all have planetary settlement agreements to get into compliance with.

Unless they do that, there is not much we can do, except wait around until they finally do decide to get into compliance. They must then take the neccessary steps to inform every one, about the facts of this situation.

The Planetary Government And The Laws For The Citizens Of This Planet

Until they do that, we can not get much work done, as all the laws, and the way the societies on this planet are set up, will not work for us. Nudity and nakedness must be permitted, and so must public sexaling. All forbiddance laws must be dropped, and all laws on behavior, and the types of plants people can eat, and so forth, must be all dropped.

The sets of laws that are the basis of the outbound planetary settlement programs must be then instituted. The governments that the Lesbianists have set up, must be dropped, and one planetary government must be formed with those laws as the foundation for all of the citizens of the planet.

Those are the first steps that we must take. After that, we will get and have the needed arrangements, to set up my religion, globally, so as to make it accessable to every one.

We are also waiting on the release of the software and operating system, that I released to the FBI, through their twenty four hour a day, audio and video surveilance of me, which I've talked about, before. When that software and the operating system are released, we can begin the 'managing my universe' program, and the 'sexaling for a living' programs, that will then be instituted, after the Lesbianists and their friends, get into compliance with the terms of their agreements.

Once they get into compliance, and once we get the software from the tapes of the video surveilance, we will be able to institute the 'managing my universe' program, and the 'sexaling for a living' programs.

Until then, there is not any hope for any meaningful change. So, until then, please make friends with the Zealots, or Lesbianists, and their friends, and become good sexaling partners with them, and get them to teach you more about the real sciences, and about molding sciences, etc., and make good relations with each other. It may take some time to get their attention, and to get them to begin to accept your offers and invitations to your homes, or to their homes, on occaision, for sexaling sessions. After sexaling for several weeks, non stop, they will all become more pliable, and more compliant, and they will begin to loosen up, and then open up and talk about things, as you all begin to learn to trust each other, and to treat each other with care, consideration, and respect. You can then begin to build on your understanding of each other, and your relationships with each other, will begin to blossom.

Sexaling Professionals

The Zealots, and their friends are professional sexalers, so they can teach you many things and secrets about sexaling, that you may not know about. You will make good bed partners, and after some time, you can learn lots of things. There are cures for herpes, of course, and for genital warts, and for all venereal diseases, and so forth. These Zealots, the Lesbianists, know all about them, as they had to study all of that stuff, to get qualified and certified for the outbound planetary settlement programs. You will also be able to learn proper diet techniques so as to be able to feed your body, and all the organ animals, and other animals, that are living in your body, and that you need to feed. You can also learn proper skin care, health care, and body hygene.

Wedding Arrangements

Currently, the way things are set up, with one person, a male, and the other person, a female, getting licensed to marry each other, will not work, under the new system. Thus it is neccessary to get into compliance with the terms of the outbound planetary settlement programs, so that the new laws will allow for multi person marriages. Multi person marriages, I discussed, before. Women and girls need multiple men and boys to sexal with, properly, as women and girls are very capable sexalers, once they learn how to sexal properly. Multiple person marriages will allow for mulitiple women and girls, and multiple men and boys, to marry each other. The current laws must be dropped, and the current governments must be disbanded. After that, the new government and the new laws will allow for multiple person marriages. Once multiple person marriages are allowed, after the new government is set up, then the sexaling for a living programs, will be instituted, as a part of the compliance terms.

Informing The People Of This Planet About The Terms Of Compliance

The Lesbianists need to inform every one about what the terms of compliance are, and they had better get to that, soon. They must then, with their many friends, who came after them, or along with some of them, as they arrrived on this planet, by space carrier, or space ship, begin to get their Lesbianists friends in all the governments of the world, and their other friends in the governments of the world, to comply and participate in setting up the one world planetary government.

The software and operating system software, have in them, access capabilities to access data bases, to down load all of the information, that is needed for every one to learn about and to begin participating in all the new programs.

Building The Infrastructure, And The Needed Facilities, Etc.

Once you begin accessing the databases, and once you begin to study, and learn about the new programs, my kids, who work in other universes, and in other dimensions, will then begin to build and set up the infrastructure, housing, food production facilities, medicine production facilities, recreational facilities, academic facilities, hospital facilities, prison facilities, and so forth, that will be needed to further advance the programs every one will be required to begin and will need to begin to participate in.

Once we get to that point, we will begin to be able to have a stable society, with all of the new technologies that will be provided for security, and personal safety.

Molding Up Bread And Metals Animals, Etc.

I said, before, that you need only a square inch or so of metal in each one gallon of bread you are molding up. That may be a minimum, but it is better to use more. If you are using a plastic container, you can line the bottom of it, with aluminum foil, and you can line the in side walls of the container, up to one half to two thirds up towards the top, for better results.

Some molds animals like silicas. Some like quartz. Some molds animals like tourquoise. And lots of them, like various mixtures of minerals and metals, and elements animals, as well as other animals, we do not know much if any thing about, who are hiding inside of rocks, and stones. Anyway, we'll find out, in time, all about what molds animals we are trying to make, and what they like to eat, and then we will find the right types of rocks, ore rocks, mineral rocks, and other types of rocks and stones, and we will provide them to the molds animals, and funguses animals, so that they can get fed well. The more well fed we feed them, with all of the many types of worker animals of mine, the healthier they the molds animals and funguses worker animals of mine will become. The more healthier they become, as we raise them, in the containers we find to farm them in, when we are finished farming them, and then when we eat them, the more healthier the organ animals in us, will become.

The more healthier the organ animals in us become, the better able they will be to make babies, and the more successful we will be at prolonging our longevity. Our bodies are meant to last for eternity, if we feed them with the right worker animals of mine, and all the proper foods and nutrients they need to stay healthy. We have much to learn about all of this, and the sooner you begin making friends and making sexaling partners with the Lesbianists, and their radical friends, the sooner you will be able to begin to understand how to feed your bodies, properly, so that you can begin to live forever, and so that you can begin thinking about working for me, in this main, Central Bus Station Terminal Building that we are living in.

What Will Be Your Main Jobs From Now On?

It might take you awhile to decide to begin working for me, but the sooner you decide, the better off we will all be, as we need all of the wonderful sexaling energies you and your sexaling partners will be helping to create, to fill up this universe of ours, and to fill up all the many universes of my kids, and all the living areas of my kids who live outside this 'Central' universe we are in, which is a very big place, as I've mentioned about, before. It is very hard to fill up this 'Central' universe we are living in, with all of the wonderful sexaling energies, that will allow us to begin to breath, easier, once again, and that we are starving for, and that we are currently depleted of.

We will, though, over time, fill up this whole universe, and all of the many other universes, and areas my working kids live in, with all the needed sexaling energies animals, and other types of energies animals, we do not understand too much about, and that we also have to study about, one day.

My working kids are all doing their best, sexaling for a living, so that they can erase their karma, and balance out their karma, in addition to working at their main support jobs.

Those of us, you and I, in this main, 'Central Bus Station Terminal Building' do not have any support jobs, so we will have lots of time, for the 'managing my universe' programs, and for the 'sexaling for a living' programs so that we can also erase our karma, and balance out our karma, as well as erase all of the karma of my worker animals, and also, help balance out all the karma of all of the worker animals of mine.

That is your main 'job', from now on, sexaling for a living, as well as working in the 'managing my universes' programs.

We will have lots of time to study about every thing we need to and want to study about, so we can better understand the many things we need to learn more about, so that we can appreciate what my working kids are doing, to keep all of the many tiny universes, and all of the living areas, as well as our universe, in proper working order so that you can all live and work forever, as one big family of children.

There is much more to learn about, with regards to my family of children, and about all the new human being kids we will be greeting, and welcoming into our large family, as the ladies and girls begin to bring them into our 'Central' universe, as tummy mommies, along with the tummy daddies, and we will learn more about the many new working kids of mine, that my working tummy mommies kids and working tummy daddies kids, will be bringing into, and welcomeing and greeting as they come into each of their universes and living areas, another day. We will also be seeing many new worker animals of mine, over time, as many, many new ones, of all types, will also be joining the working force of my worker animals.

Getting Busy, Cleaning Up, In The Gurkian Age

It will take us a long time to get every thing into good order, and to clean up our universe, and erase our karma, and balance out our karma, along with my worker human being children, who are all busy, cleaning up the many support universes that they live in, and cleansing their karmic records, etc., and who are all busy, cleaning up the many support living areas, that they live in, and cleansing their karmic records, etc., as they begin to practice, more and more, my new religion for the Gurkian Age that we are now in and at the begining of.

This may sound hard to believe, or 'fictious', but it is not 'fictious', and over time, you will learn all about every thing in detail, and you will begin to get your selves grounded in reality, more and more, as you begin to work in the 'managing my universe' programs, and as you begin to work in the 'sexaling for a living' programs.

Taking The First Steps Towards Resolving Cooperation Issues

Making friends and becomeing sexaling partners with the Lesbianists, the Zealots, and with their radical friends, is your first step in the correct direction towards resolving the difficulties we are encountering, now, to some extent, because of the Lesbianists, and their radical friends reluctance to cooperate. The more friends you make and the more sexaling partners you make, the more the Lesbianists and their radical friends will begin to 'cooperate' with you, in all the ways that are important to resolve the cooperation issues, and non cooperation issues, that are currently in need of resolving.

Air Raid Shelters And Play Time 'Fetish' Sexaling Underground Dungeons

People with underground air raid shelters, may wish to add on to them, and expand their size to accomodate all the new friends from among the Lesbianists, or Zealots, and their radical friends, who people with underground air raid shelters, or other convenient places, underground, such as play land dungeons, which some people who like fetish sexaling, may have, will be inviting in to their underground air raid shelters, for a long duration stay to have the Lesbianists, or Zealots, and their radical friends, teach them about sexaling, and teach them about molding, and the sciences that these people know nearly every thing about. Almost one hundred percent of the course work had to be completed, and in many cases, it was one hundred percent of the course work that needed to be completed, to make them an eligible candidate for an out bound planetary settlement program.

Becoming Trusting And Loving Friends With Each Other

As you invite these people into your homes, you will need proper accomodations, such as extra rooms, and extra beds, and so forth, so people with underground air raid shelters, and with underground fetish sexaling rooms, or dungeons, will need to expand the size of these underground rooms, so as to accomodate all of the guests they will be inviting in, to meet and sexal with the family, the relatives, the neighbors, and other trustable persons.

You can learn many secrets about sexaling, and you can learn a lot more, than you would imagine, as all of these people were certified as instructors for teaching sexaling techniques, judo and ai kido techniques, as well as impromptu ninja type, assasin techniques, for use in a pinch, to protect their lives. They were also certified to teach molding sciences, and all the earth sciences, and planetary science, all the math sciences, and so forth. They were also trained in government sciences, nutritional sciences, medical sciences, and so forth, so they could be all around, professional, well trained persons. All this training was for the bright of the brightest, and they spent many hundreds of thousands, and millions of years, and billions of years, and some times, more, training and getting certified in all the career sciences, as well as in fitness and health sciences, that they needed to learn to set up a new civilization, with a fully developed government, in accordance with the instructions and requirements for that government, which was to be based on the same pattern of government, where they trained to become certified officials on the planet they were to settle, and in the galaxy they were going into.

They were trained to be excellent leaders, and capable people, in every sense of the word, to get and hold the attention of all late comers, and to prevent the late comers from attempting to dislodge them, from government, over some petty, dissatisfaction, about their performance. Their performance issues were of major concern, so they were highly over qualified, so as to make it clear to all late commers, people who would be arriveing later, either as new additions to the population, on the out bound planetary expeditionary settlement program, or as tummy babies, to tummy mommies, and to tummy daddies, who they all new they were going to become.

They are so well trained, they can teach you practically any thing, not only with regards to medicine, government, the sexaling sciences, and so forth, but even about the martial arts sciences, and ninja sciences, and the techniques they learned, which they practiced, many of them, diligently. They can do some very fancy martial arts and ninja assasin tricks, if you ask them to, and they can be very entertaining as some of them are very adept, or skilled at performing these tricks, and secret martial arts attack and destroy skills. As a rule, in the Lesbianists organization, any way, they are only allowed to use those skills, in a life or death situation, so you should treat them, well, and be courteous, considerate, and kind to them, and make sure their stay is comfortable, and that they are well fed, and offered only the best foods, and the best wines, etc. They will help you to learn how to make good tasting wines, which are not only good tasting, but also, good for you, which will help feed all the animals in your bodies, including the organ animals, so that you can regenerate and rejuvenate your bodies.

Of course, when they were in training, for the out bound planetary expeditionary settlement program, when they trained in the martial arts, and when they trained in the ninja sciences, they were certified, and got their diplomas, as well. In the guidelines, they are not allowed to use their ninja attack and destroy skills, or their death threat level, response and offense to attack and destroy an enemy, who might like to dislodge them, forcefully from government, and perhaps kill them, if they could, to get them out of the way, permanently, unless their lives are in danger.

So long as you do not threaten them, and make hostile remarks to them, and so long as you remain courteous, careing, considerate, and kind to them, and so long as the men and boys act in gentlemenly manners, and so long as the women and girls act with lady like, polite manners, to whom ever your guests are, you will certainly be able to get along with each other, without any problems, at all.

They were trained in the sexaling sciences, and in the molding sciences, and in all the academic sciences, so that they could also offer educational programs to all of the new comers, whether tummy babies, and off spring, the children of the members of the out bound planetary expedtionary settlement program, or whether new members, incoming from else where, who would like the additional academic training.

Try to get along as best as you can, and remember to be polite, and talk politely, and be courteous, and make every effort to allow them to enjoy the luxury of relaxing days and nights, fully sexaled, and fully fed, and allow them to make lots of aphrodesics molds, and other molds, as well as useful and tasty beverages, such as those they can make with fruits, and juices, and molds of various kinds, which will increase the amounts of nutrients in your body to help feed all the hungry animals, and organ animals, and cell animals, and amoebes animals, etc., who are all in your body, and who are all in need of nourishment.

Remember too, to always test feed the drinks to farm animals, such as pigs, hogs, goats, lambs, sheep, dogs, cats, and so forth, including other animals, such as guinea pigs, mice, rats, ferrets, and wart hogs, first, if your guests will not drink the beverages they make, for some reason.

We want every one to remain healthy, and happy, and there should be no toxic poisonings of the food and drink permitted, due to tricky knowledge of poisons the Lesbianists, or Zealots, and their radical friends, can make, with their knowledge of the molding sciences.

Make sure every one remains on the best of terms, and make friends with them, after sexaling with them, for several weeks, or longer, and when they begin to truly enjoy their stay with you and your family members, and with you and your family's relatives, and with you and your family, and so forth, and your neighbors who will be dropping in, every day, hopefully, to enjoy extended sexaling sessions, for days, and weeks, and even months, and even years, in lots of cases, as they haven't had the chance to sexal very much, ever since they all came up from underground, where they were living, and sexaling with all their friends, all the time, for their 'tour of duty'.

The Lesbianists, i.e., the Zealots, and their radical friends, must perform a 'tour of duty', every so often, to stay in good standing within the organizations they belong to. They plan these tour of duty trips to the surface of the planet, to engage the locals, the ordinary folks, the dim witted folks or rodent population, as they call them, well in advance of each tour of duty. We ordinary people, are the dim witted folks, in their view, and they enjoy making fun of us, and making fools out of us, as much as they can, for their amusement. We shouldn't mind this, as every one needs to have fun, once in a while. So be gracious hosts, and invite many of these people, freely into your homes, and treat them almost as you would treat the members of your family. Remember to sexal with each other, daily, as much as possible, when time permits. Have lots of friends, and associates, all trustable people, come to your homes, to meet your guests, your 'new' family members, and have your trustable friends engage them in pleasant conversations, and in lovesome sexaling. Lovesome sexaling, is passionate sexaling.

You can find their likes and dislikes, as to who or which type of person, male or female, and so forth, each new guest likes to sexal with, as a preference. Make sure that every one is compatible, with each other, in terms of their sexaling preferences. As time goes by, you will all begin to love one and another, and then the issues of non cooperation, will fade into the past, and into ancient history, and we will eventually get full cooperation, on all the points neccessary, for then setting up a one world, planetary government, with their kind assistance. They will be happy to teach to you the terms of compliance, once you become cherishable, loving, and tendersome friends with each other, as you sexal with each other, daily. Tendersome means, loving and caring towards some one.

In time, when you have begun to break down the walls of hostility, some of them may feel, for being guests, against their wills, some of them, anyway, will never the less have some tiny amounts of hostility, for your bringing into your homes these wonderful people, despite their busy, daily schedules, and rigorous duties, or routines at work and on the job, in government, or in the field of academics, and in television, as news casters, weather reporters, anchor persons, camera men and women, and stage and screen acting jobs, and stage hand jobs, from police departments, fire departments, ambulance attendants, doctors, lawyers, ad agency workers, and so forth, or in what ever the work they are doing, during their tour of duty.

As you, the hosts, gradually break down the walls of antagonism, unpleasant feelings, and hostilities some may feel towards you, or resistant feelings that some may have, when you invite these people, your new 'family' members, or guests, into your homes, as you sexal with each other, the longer you sexal with each other, sooner or later, you will begin to be able to love and trust each other.

When you are able to love and trust each other, and when there are no residual hard feelings, or unpleasant memories left, when you all love to snuggle and sexal with each other, having lots of fun and laugher with each other, then you will want to begin to get the shopping lists of delicious foods for them to eat, and you will want to get the shopping lists for the items, that they will need, to make the delicious molded foods, and the delicious snacks, given their incredible know how on making delicious foods, and delicious snacks, and delicious beverages, based on all their academic learning, training, and teaching, that they acquired over the many long years of study, public service and volunteer work they performed, to qualify for the out bound expeditionary settlement programs.

In time, you will all be able to regenerate your bodies, look younger, feel great, feel more fit, and your stamina for sexaling will have improved, if you follow their advice and tips on how to improve your sexaling methods, and your sexaling techniques. As you listen to them, and learn from them, you can level up your sexaling sciences knowledge, along with your sexaling skills. In time, you will also be able to learn all about the molding sciences, and you can even have them teach you some of their 'sneaky' tricks, that they know, that could kill you, if they were allowed to mold up, any thing they wished to mold up, without supervision.

Remember, a loving relationship is not the only thing needed to build a trusting relationship. Understanding, respect, and careing for each other, all go a long way towards helping you to deepen your trust with one and each other, so that you can deepen your tenderness towards each other, and strengthen your bonds of love, for each other.

Supervise carefully, every thing they do, and remember, if they will not eat or drink what they make for you, you should test feed it to the pets you have, as I've explained about, before, for several weeks, as there are fast ways to poison people, and there are slow ways to poison people.

This is a very difficult area to manage, but once your guests, your new 'family' members, begin to show true love and affection, and unflattering love for you, and for your family members, and for your friends, etc., with respect for you, your family members, and for your friends, along with care, consideration, and understanding, these problems will become less of a threat to having a happy and mutually cooperative, and prosperous relationship with each other.

Unflattering Love

Unflattering love, is a type of love, where you accept each other, for who you are, with all your faults, and frailties, no matter what they are. It's like a brother and sister relationship with each other, with love and respect for each other, no matter what.

In time, you will develop your love relationship into one of unflattering love and affection. When you have succeeded at that, then the hazards, one may encounter, as hosts to your guests, may become a tiny bit, less serious.

It takes many years of cooperative association, many thousands of years, and then, even more, before you will develop any thing that is worth while between you and your guests in so far as being able to trust each other. So prepare well for the long term long haul journey ahead of you, as it will take you millions of years, before your guests, even begin to calm down, a little. People are very good at hiding disatisfaction, and disgruntlement. They can linger, and they will linger, until they find a way to express them selves. You need to be cautious, at every moment, and suspect every thing that is in any way, suspicious or ambiguous behavior. Even after billions of years of mutual sexaling with each other, there may still linger hard feelings, in some people, if not in many people, for having been forced to experience, a sudden change in life and in a sudden change, forced upon them, in life style.

The Importance Of People's Rights To Freedom And Their Rights To Freely Choose The Course And Direction Of Their Lives

Being forced to cooperate is not a pretty issue and hard sentiments will linger for a very long time, if not handled properly. Counseling can help, but basic freedom is what is expected, and so until or unless you give your guests, complete freedom, to act and think, and do as they like, there will be problems and head aches for every one, with minor issues, possibly causing, major catastrophes, such as an early death and a visit to my Epcot Center, from an over dose of too potent, lethally potent, molded up substances.

Freedom, denied to a person, is the worst thing that can happen to some one. Until your guests can experience life, freely coming and going, as they like, and as they choose, voluntarily helping you and your family, and your friends, out of love and respect for each other, to learn the sciences that you need to learn to allow you to feed all the hungry animals inside of your body, and to feed all of the hungry organ animals, and cell animals, etc., inside your body, so that you can begin to live forever, you will experience difficulties in your relationships with each other, that will now and then appear, and cause possible problems for you, your family, your friends, and also for your guests.

Freedom to choose is a basic right of all people. So let's all be kind and loving towards one and each other, and over time, you will begin to be able to loosen the restrictions on personal freedoms, and in time, you will be able to do away with them, and dispense with them all. This will be a major turning point, in your relationships with your guests. When your guests can come and go, with unrestricted access to your home, just as a sister or brother has, to their home, and when your guests can freely choose what they wish to do, without any coercive forces placed upon them, then you will be making a major turn in the direction in which you all wish to go, towards a happy, healthy, settlement, over past confusions. With this as a goal for you, you should cooperate with each other, and make life as easy, comfortable, and satisfying as possible for your guests, to minimize their possible hostilities towards you for your forcing them to get into a situation of cooperate or else. This is not a good thing, and you will not get any cooperation, at all, if you approach your relationship with each other, with that attitude, and with that approach. A long, dependable, reliable, and mutually enjoyable, sexaling history with each other, is the begining of a trusting and loving relationship, that will one day lead to the loosening of restrictions on personal freedoms.

Molds And The Potential Dangers Of Potent Molds

Sometimes, you may have a mold on the bread that you are molding up, that may be too strong, and may need some trimming. As you mold up you need to trim your molds. What is trimming a mold? You need to make it more useful, by using various techniques, to make it edible, that is, eatable.

An eatable mold is what we want to make. We do not want to make a mold that is too strong in nickle animals, or too strong in copper animals, or too strong in iron animals, or too strong in stronthium animals.

What is stronthium? Stronthium, is a mineral that can be useful to your health, and is useful, but if it is too potent, or too strong, that is, if there are too many of my worker animals making gardens with lots of stronthium in the plants, and bushes, etc., and the number of gardens increases, and they my worker animals cover the whole piece of bread with their gardens and forests of stronthium rich plant life, then the piece of molded up bread, if you eat it, may make you ill, and vomit, or you may get cold chills. If there is too much stronthium, then you can even get seriously ill and die.

This is true with any molds gardens that my worker animals make. There are secrets about how to make molds gardens, and how to get the right number of worker animals, from the right sources, onto the piece of bread that you are trying to mold up. Different worker animals from different sources, will be busy making molds gardens, and you want to try and get right combination of my worker animals onto your bread, so that they can make you a nice salad of molds gardens of many different and useful kinds so that your salad will be healthful for you to eat.

You need to know a little about molds, and what types of molds grow on bread. You also need to know what types of molds grow if you put, for instance, lima beans with bread, in a canister or molding pot, and the pot is made of copper, instead of steel, or iron, instead of gold or silver, or lead,

You have to study about molds, and you have to learn about all the different molds. This can take many long years. You need also too know, what in combination with what, will produce what molds.

Lima Beans And Molds Types

There are many millions of combinations that you can make. Lima beans is one with bread. Lima beans grown in Peru is another. Lima beans grown in Alaska, in a low lying valley in Alaska is another possible combination. Lima beans grown in a snowy mountain village, in the summer, but in a green house, with a hot springs water supply, and geothermal, and hot water sulpher springs heating is another combination. Lima beans grown in Siberia, in a snowy mountain village, in the summer, in a green house, with a hot water supply, and geo thermal, and hot water malaxacite springs heating, or iron sulphide laden hot water heating, are two other possible combinations.

Worker Animals Living In My Universe

There are many millions of worker animals families in different parts of the world, who will each work on different lima bean plants. The worker animals all have different friends working with them. Many of the workers are different all together, and maybe they came from other planets, even, and settled on this planet, when they got a ride on a person's pant leg, or on a person's shoe, when that person came to this planet.

You can travel by air plane to different countries. You can also travel by air plane, to some planets, if you know how to make an air plane that will travel up and through the upper solar atmospheres, and out into the areas between planets, at a fast enough speed, so that it can pass through a dimensional barrier, and then in a different dimension, it can fly wihout hitting objects, directly to the planet the passengers wish to go to.

Special Automobiles That Travel Through Space

Some types of auto mobiles, which have special technologies, also travel through dimenisional barriers, to other planets. They have the technologies, to be able to get a lift, up and out of the planet's gravity pull, and then out onto a platform, landing and take off space. Once okayed for a take off, it can go to the next platform, and then to the next platform, and it finally reaches the final platform, and then it gets the okay to land on a planet, and it comes in, and it lands on a landing strip, and then after passing security and customs, it is free to drive to a person's house, or to an opera concert, or to a theater to listen to a symphony concert. Lots of people travel this way, in many parts of our universe.

When people, land, they bring all kinds of rubbish, with them, including lots of air, from their lungs, and from inside their automobiles. Inside the air, there are lots of tiny bugs, that crawl around in the bronchial tubes. Inside the tummy, there are lots of animals that crawl around in the tummy, and some of them, end up getting pooped out, when you go to the bathroom.

Bugs, Bugs, Every Where

Lots of times, little bugs, of all kinds, may find their way into a package of flowers for a girl friend, or chocolates for a boy friend. Or some times, people exchange, rasberries, and strawberries, and other types of edible foods, that are eaten, and pooped out, and then, the remains are thrown out in the garbage can, and then later, the trash company comes and picks up the trash, and they go to a compactor site, and they make use of what they can recycle, and they mulch up what they can mulch up, and they dismiss the items, they can not have on their planet, that are toxic, or that are not allowed on their planet, for one reason or another.

Many bugs travel from one planet, to another, in cars, in strawberries, and in groceries, that people pick up on other planets, and carry home, to their planet, to eat at their homes. This is perfectly legal, and every one, knows about it, and they are all laughing at me, because they all can read what I am typing, as I type. They have the technologies to read directly what I am typing on my computer, and that is nothing, special, as far as technologies go.

There are no laws that say they can not watch what I am doing, when I am sleeping, or when I am in the shower, or when I am dressing, or when I am typing, or when I am out side, walking to the store.

There are no laws on privacy, as privacy is a myth. We think we have a right to privacy, but remember, all you girls and women were married to all the men and boys in the universe. All you men and boys were married to all the women and girls in the universe. You were all sisters and brothers with each other, umpteen who knows how many times. You were all fathers, and mothers, and you tummy mommies gave birth to every person in our universe, all your sisters and brothers, from previous lifetimes. All you tummy daddies, also shared in the work with the tummy mommies. Every one knows every one else, and every one has been butt naked with every one else, umpteen countless times. So, privacy is not an issue, any more, as you all know what you each look like, when you are butt naked, or sick in bed, or in the hospital, and so forth.

Any way, many bugs travel from planet to planet, and there are lots of bugs, that may have gotten here, from the past, as the Lesbianists always have friends visit them, and their friends from other planets bring gifts for them, and they bring lots of produce, and things to grow, and this has been going on, since they got here.

How often their friends visit them, these days, I do not know, but some times, in the past, they visited them, often, and they have stopped, lately, as they do not want to get caught. They stopped about fifty five years, ago, and before that, they often met on some secret military bases, that all the soldiers on the base, are Lesbianists.

There are many military bases, that only Lesbianists are allowed to join, and allowed to live at. The Lesbianists have them all over this country, and all over the world, in fifty five places, approximately. Some times, even now, the Lesbianists have guests who visit here, but not too often. When they visit, they come in and land on the run ways, and in secret places, where they can glide in, at night, in special light carrier cruise ships, that practically glide in, from the parent ship, waiting up above. When they land, they land very softly, and quitely, and no one even wakes up.

They stay for a few days, to a few weeks, to five or so months, or even longer. They are here, now, and many are in hiding, with the Lesbianists, as guests of theirs.

They bring in bugs on their pants legs, and they bring in all kinds of micro scopic animals, and even tinier animals, and you do not have the technologies to see them, because they are so small, and because the Lesbianists prevent the 'ordinary' people from getting the patents and licenses, to build them, and they execute the patent owners, and any others who are part of the company or companies, who wish to build the microscopes, or other useful technologies, and that is that.

These animals that are very tiny, are living all over this planet, and there are millions of different families of tiny animals, that eat up each other, on the lima bean root and root stalk, and on the stalk of the plant, and there is much warfare on the plant, in very tiny places.

The out come, is there are many tiny animals, eating other animals, and pooping and peeing wastes from their bodies. Their poopy materials get into water and the air, and onto the roots of the plants, and onto the stalks, and onto the leafs, and we have lots of different kinds of tinier animals, that eat up that poopy material, and those pee liquids, and they live on that stuff, just like pigs live on dung from cows and from horses, and how flies live on dung from cows, camels, horses, bears, dogs, cats, humans, and so forth. There are lots of animals, we can not see, at all, because they are too small, and because we do not have the microscopes, and the lenses, and viewing technologies needed to see them.

The lima beans in different parts of the world, all have different groups of animals living on them, when they are picked, and when they go to market.

When you take the different families of animals living on the lima beans, and you have a handful of lima beans, you can put them into a container, that is lined with one or more layers of aluminum foil, and then you can put into the container, rocks, gravel - if they are clean - and pretty amethysts, quartz stones, agates, opals, garnets, and other pretty mineral stones.

You then put into the container, some bread to mold up. Depending on where your lima beans where growing, and depending on who was working, from among my worker crews of worker animals, on the roots of the lima bean plant, and on the lima beans, and in the leaves, and so on, you will get different poopy materials, and different types of pee liquids, and in the poopy materials, and in the pee liquids, there are lots of other animals, that are very tiny, and difficult to see, without the right technologies that will let you see them.

You can have millions of different molds gardens, from lima beans, with bread, in a container, as a result of all the different crews of worker animals that I have working in the soils, in the rocks, in the air, in the water, in outer space, on each planet, and on the moons, every where, with lots of them all mixed up, with one and another. The different animals living in the rocks, or in the aluminum foil, or in the walls or on the surface of the container, will also increase the number and types of poopy materials, and of pee materials that mix in, and help produce different types of molds.

There are so many possiblities, just with lima beans, there are more than millions of molds that are possible. When you think, well, there is also sessame seeds, and there are walnuts, and almonds, and pecans, and cashews, and figs, and fruits of all kinds, and seeds, and berries, and leafs, and roots of plants, and different plants, on land, and in the water, in lakes, in streams, in seas, in oceans, then you begin to see that the number of possiblities for different types of molds, gets very high, as I have so many worker animals, working in different places, they make me dizzy, when I think I would like to count them all.

It takes too long, to count them, but the important thing is to know, that there are many types of molds that can grow, just from lima beans.

When one mold begins to grow, another mold also will begin to grow, and so will many other molds begin to grow. One type of mold may grow in one part of the bread, and other types of molds may start growing in other parts of the breads, after you leave the lima beans, in the container, just for a few weeks, and you make sure there is enough humidity for the animals inside, to get some thing to drink.

You do not want to make my animal workers go thirsty, or they will not work for you. So you have to learn how to be a gardener, if you want to grow molds, properly. More over, you need to learn a lot about tending plants. That is, tending the types of plants that grow in molds gardens. Since there are so many molds that grow, you will need a lot of time to learn all about being a gardener, for all the different plants that grow in all the various molds gardens that grow.

You will also need to study about all the different kinds of animals that live in the molds gardens. You will also need to learn, what kinds of molds gardens will grow near other types of molds gardens, or on top of molds gardens.

Molds Grow In Layers

Many molds gardens get over grown with other molds gardens, and they grow in a double layer, one over the other. Sometimes, they grow in three layers, and in four layers, and in five and in six, and in seven, and in eight layers. They grow in many tens of hundreds of layers, if you let them grow for a long time.

How many layers, can they grow in, well, it depends on how long you want to grow them, the soil conditions, the growing conditions, the humidity conditions, the weather and climate conditions, and on many other factors.

I don't know how many, you can grow, if you really try to grow a lot, but there may be quite a few of them, that will grow, and way to many for any one to count, in lots of cases.

Some of the layers of molds may be alright to eat, depending on what the molds are, but some of the layers may not be alright to eat. Some molds layers are not useful for people to eat, because they are filled with some molds gardens, that are better for tiny animals to eat. Some molds gardens are better for large animals, like pigs and hogs, to eat.

People can eat lots of molds gardens, but you have to study about molds gardens, and about how different molds gardens grow with other molds gardens, in one layer, after another, in a container, with different types of rocks, under different conditions, on the different types of bread, to know which ones you can eat.

Some molds gardens, will give people stomach aches, so it is good to learn and know which ones give people stomach aches, and which ones are safe to eat, rather than not know which ones are good for our stomachs, and for our bodies, and are safe to eat.

We do not have any courses on molding sciences in our schools. This is because the Lesbianists will not teach any one about molding sciences. Why won't they teach any one about molding sciences?

Because, they enjoy living a long time, alone, by them selves, and they like to watch us ordinary people, come and go, one life after another, back again, then gone after eighty or ninety years, then back again, then gone again, and they think it is funny that all the while, we never catch on to what they are doing. They make friends, with people who they like to make friends with, and they enjoy fooling them, and dumbing them, or making fools of them, and they enjoy finding out if the people they meet, were friends of theirs, in previous life times, and they find out who they were, by checking in special databases, they or their friends have access to, and then they confirm whether they knew them or not.

Most of the time, they can already tell, once they meet them, and hang around with them, for awhile, if they had known them or not, in previous life times, as they know so well the persons they usually meet, again and again, and the persons they've met so many times, who they know all of the personal habits of, and the likes and dislikes of, these people they used to know, that they can pretty much guess if they know them or not, this time, when they meet them, and after hanging around with them, for a little while.

What Do The Lesbianists Enjoy Doing?

They like to take your tax dollars, for one thing, so that you will support them, pay for their salaries, homes, vacations, their all expenses paid holidays allowing them to visit their Lesbianists' friends in politics, all around the world, showering them with lavish gifts, presents, round trip tickets to visit them in Alcapulco, or elsewhere, with all expenses paid, and they enjoy the perks they get such as your paying for their kids' college educations, and their kids' trips during college breaks to far away places, such as Portugal, Spain, Lisbon, Istanbul, Singapore, Korea, Japan, and other countries with your tax dollars paying for all the expenses, as well as all the expenses the Lesbianists need for doing the fun things they like to do, on their credit accounts, with various government agencies, set up to help them pay for their lavish, over seas' lifestyles, while they make fools of all of you.

They enjoy watching you fall for the scams they set up, where they saturate you with their talking 'experts' who tell you how to live your life, and what to invest your wages in. Then they like sending you, seemingly out of nowhere invitations to their 'specialists' talking tours, where they talk to you for a weekend or for a week or so, and they try to talk you into buying what ever it is they are trying to sell you.

They get close to you, this way, and they find out things about you, that they will use to track information on you, in the databases that are set up in my universe, that they or their friends can access, to identify you from your previous lifetimes.

They have a 'sexaling for a living' account, that they are allowed to use, and track their old friends with, to see how they are doing. They all arrived here, on this planet, on the 'sexaling for a living' program. They are still registered members, and they have access to databases, if they are still in good standing, and if not, they have friends, who can access the databases, if their friends are in good standing, and there is much abuse, and fraud, that goes on, and it is not punished, as my kids are recording it all, and in time, my kids will take action, and dispel them from the program, that means, kick them out, and not allow them access to the underground bunker houses, that my kids had put in for them, to live in, and my kids will make them live on their own with their friends, and not in the facilities that they were originally allowed to live in. Once they are tossed out of their special facilities they earned the right to use, as members of the 'sexaling for a living' program, they are forced to live in the down below, underground cities my kids built for them during their initial getting used to the planet and to it's solar conditions, and to it's other conditions, that they must aclimate them selves to, before they can safely emerge and begin living on the surface of the planet.

There are several hundred thousand persons, such as Boris Yeltsin, who has a registered fortress dwelling, as Boris Yeltsin, sexals for a living, still, from time to time. He and the others, are the only ones who are left, and the rest of them find accomodations elsewhere, or with friends, from time to time, in the underground bunker like homes. They do not have to worry as much about the abominated 'animal people', I've mentioned about, as the others former members do, who are no longer legitimate members of the 'sexaling for a living' program.

Note: I was told by my kids that the number of people who are still legitimate members of the sexaling for a living program, was several hundred thousand, on this planet.

Then, accessing the databases, they learn who you are, who you were in your past life times, and then they remember the many occasions they met you, and were friends with you, and they also remember all the unpleasant things that happened, that made them angry at you. They then plan their game for getting revenge against you for the mean things, or unpardonable things, in their twisted minds, that they remember your having done to and against them, and against their friends.

'Spokes Persons', And 'Experts' On Television

You can hear, on any radio station, probably, no matter who runs it, civilian, i.e., ordinary person or, Lesbianist, advertisements from their 'spokes persons', people with credentials, who like to tell you how to live your life, and what to do for getting the most out of life, as I can hear, daily, on KOAS, 105.7 Jazz, Las Vegas, Nevada.

These 'spokes persons' are on every 'propaganda' interview talk show on TV, and on other programs, as well, such as the supposed 'educational' series done by credentialized anthropologist, Desmond Morris, a major Lesbianists' propagandist and they have set up programs where all they do is feed you bull shit, such as on PBS, the famous Road Show, where they are bullshitting you on and on, about what your 'priceless' family hand me downs, and possessions are worth, when they know they are not worth a dime, because these Lesbianists have been on this planet, for over gazillions of years, ever since they settled it, on the outbound expeditionary planetary settlement program, for qualified people in the 'sexaling for a living' program, who were supposed to set up a planetary government and a global society, and give birth to lots of my kids, by making babies, and then teach them in courses they were supposed to set up, every thing they had agreed to teach, and then educationaly nurture in the people who would come, as tummy babies.

The Lesbianists have set up so many civil wars, and other wars, for their fun, and entertainment, as they have many scenarios for their kicks, thrills, and enjoyments, and they constantly are changing the scenarios, every time their plans collapse, after their illegitimate societies fall apart for one reason or another, and they then have to start over again.

The societies do not always collapse, entirely, and some times, things going on in one part of the world, is very advanced, technically, while things going on elsewhere, are in the stone ages, nearly. They keep people away from areas that are not yet ready to be seen by ordinary citizens on the planet. They put out travel advisories and warnings issued by state department counselates, of chaos in jungles, and tribal militias, in rugged, untraveled areas, and so forth.

Mormon 'Peace Brigades'

This way, they keep people apart from each other, and they keep modern up to specifications people, people with 'worldly' or 'global' agendas and ambitions, such as private organizations that send out counselors to countries where people are less fortunate, than others around the world, from the reports they have seen, or from video images they have seen. They keep these 'do gooders' usually, a lot of Mormon 'Peace And Charity' bringers, the young men who go out, for a set period of years, to bring the 'gospel' into the 'lives' of 'non believers', from seeing the things they do not want them to see, such as technically advanced structures, none of the primitively living people in a mountainous, rugged area, for example, have any idea as to how it got there.

Soldiers Stumble Across Unexpected Sights, Now And Then

Soldiers sent on expeditions to fight with guerillas, find these technologically advanced structures, as they come across them, as they are searching out the area, for the 'enemy'. The soldeirs are warned that they are not to disclose any information on what they found, as it is too sensitive to let any one know any thing about, and their mouths are sealed, at the threat of retaliation for insubordination, sabotage, spying, or infringement against laws of engagements, the articles of war, that prohibit soldiers from disclosing enemy information, so as to keep it secret, for legitimate, in a normal society, purposes.

Historical Documents Found In Attics, And Shown On The PBS Program, 'Roadshow'

There are so many copies of treaties, and declarations of independence, not one of them is worth a penny, as the Lesbianists set each war up, and each society up, and they are laughing at you for thinking the documents actually mean something.

On the other hand, you can see them bullshitting you with their experts, who tell you how cheap something, is, or that it is a 'recent' creation, made, for instance, within the last fifty or so years, or within the last one or so nearly, hundered years, such as an irreplaceable lamp, with a beautifully made lamp shade, the creation of which, is worth a fortune, as it is so rare and so beautifully executed or made, and in fact, it was made umpteen millions of years ago, for instance, or even longer, ago, and they know it is worth a fortune, and they get nervous, a little bit, and they stammer, a little bit, and they get edgy, and they show signs of perspiration on their forehead, and you wonder why is the person so nervous.

Well, it is because that what they are looking at, they plan to tell their friends about, so that they can go and burn down the house of the owner, after killing the owner, typically, and after either destroying the item they found that the guest/owner brought into the studio, to show on the PBS program, the 'Roadshow', and get 'authenticated', by 'experts', or after killing the owner, and his or her family, and then stealing it, and keeping it for themselves.

You come around and go around, again and again, and you all have talents, and have always had talents, as you developed your abilities during past lifetimes, and once you got your abilities in a certain area of your interest, up to a certain level, it isn't hard to see how you take those developed talents with you from one life time to the next. It is just a matter of reviving them, if there is an opportunity for you to get into that area of your interests.

The experts crafts persons among you, make nice things, and then the Lesbianists trash your lives, and some of your work surfaces, some where down the road, at a time, later on, in some old attic, and no one knows how it got there, and it is something of great value, that just happened to escape the holocaust, that devasted the last civilization, or a previous civilization, the Lesbianists set up, and that went missing, and was of such exquisite compensense, and compensense means, nice looking and exquisite in form, texture, beauty, style, meaning, and composure, that they can't even hold their breath, because they are about to pass out, and they tell you it is worth a few bucks, or twenty or fifty dollars, and all the while they know they are bullshitting you, and they are nearly fainting, and when their friends see how well they bullshitted you, they will make their friends feel they are getting some kind of revenge against you, for your being so stupid, as to what is what, and what came from where, and who made it, and what it is worth, in true value.

The Lesbianists who run the program, 'The Roadshow', and PBS, regularly rate cheap items, as expensive, to some extent, when it is just a piece of rusted junk, such as a civil war sword, that some southern soldier had the unfortunate circumstances in his life, to go off and fight a war the Lesbianists staged for him and you other ordinary persons, to go and fight, so they could laugh at you, as you killed each other off, and bloodied the country side, with your torment, and grief, at their beckoning and call, all the while you thought they were worth a darn, and they weren't, all the while, and they were just interested in using you, and in making fun of you, and then having a good time, with what ever it was, that you left behind, such as children, who they enslaved, or houses, farm steads, and so on.

The Lesbianists have caused so much harm and devastation to so many people, and they just laugh at it. The ugliness of what they've done, is well documented, by my kids, and one day you will all get to witness it, your self, as my kids keep video data, and audio data, on every one, and on every thing that occurs, nearly.

PBS's 'This Old House'

The Lesbianists have their specialists talk to you on 'This Old House', for instance, or on one of the other propaganda programs they have, and they bullshit you, on TV, and their friends are watching, and they get laughs, and every one knows who they are bullshitting, because by the time the program airs on TV, they have already told every one among the Lesbianists who would be interested, with their secret communications capabilities, that they have installed in homes of important people in their organization, and that information is forwarded to other Lesbianists who they know would enjoy watching them bullshit you.

They televise their bullshit sciences, they created, and information on the supposedly important and famous people, who have passed away, for instance, and in one of their sick jokes, they bought or stole, or forclosed on his or her property, and then opened up a swank gallery with his or her work, and they keep it all for their viewing pleasures, and for their enjoyment, and they do not allow the ordiary people on the premises, unless a person happens to be invited by a Lesbianist, who is just going to enjoy some time, bullshitting the person.

They televise the 'visit' to the premises, gallery, or the estate on PBS TV, to tell you and 'teach' you some thing about the 'deceased' person, who was 'famous' for such and such, which they know is based on a numbskull science they taught him, or her, and what ever he or she actually became famous for, they bought for a meager sum, usually after swindling the elderly owner, or they forclosed on it, and then they enjoy it, with their friends, and they sort of taunt you, on TV, saying, look at this, isn't it beautiful, and too bad, but you can not enter the premises, without a special guest pass, and they broadcast this on a feature program on PBS, or on one of their other public broadcasting channels, over seas, the BBC in Britain, or NHK in Japan, and so on.

They are constantly mocking you, and poking fun at you, and making them selves laugh at how stupid you are, for not catching on, and for thinking it is something you should look at, as a serious viewer, when all the while, they are making fun of you and the snookering job they are doing on you, laughing at your stupidity for not knowing that the science involved, is a bogus science, and for your not catching on, and that they are just shamming you, or snookering you, once more.

They hold you up to these patriotic "I Pledge Allegiance" to the flag nonsense, in schools, and they couldn't give a darn about whether you are born in Scotland, or Queens, New York, or Paris, or Darwin, Austrailia, because they know, that no matter where you land, when you come back as a tummy baby, they or their friends around the world, will just continue snookering you, no matter where you are born, and no matter to whose family you are born.

They then send your son's and daughter's out on war and peace campaigns, where they make minced meat of you, as they force the soldiers to engage the 'enemy' in mock, to them, wars, and peace keeping campaigns.

Your son's and daughter's, if they are lucky enough to survive, come back from the wars, and from the peace keeping campaigns, and they are not happy with their experience, and there were many dreadful things that happened, such as being caught by the enemy, then tortured, or crippled. These are all made up wars and made up peace keeping campaigns, and it is set up to keep you busy, so that you will pay your taxes to them, for the 'important' things they do, to maintain 'peace' and 'stability' in the world, so that you can 'sleep' at night.

Getting Revenge Is What The Lesbianists Enjoy, Most

Most of all, the Lesbianists enjoy getting revenge on people who they dislike. They enjoy going out with their old friends, and they enjoy fooling them, and they remember the bad things their old friends, did once to them, a long time ago, and they never forget these things.

The Lesbianists then enjoy kidnapping them, and then they enjoy torturing them and their family members who they always knew as well, in previous life times, and who they always had problems and complaints with, as well, and they typically hated them as much as the people who they bump into, and become friends with, and after torturing all of them, then they enjoy eating them, and then they enjoy killing them.

They enjoy being able to take all the properties, and all the land that every one owns, making sure that they keep all the valuable property, as far as they are concerned, in their hands. That usually means, making as much of the land, public parks, national parks, wild life conservation areas, indian reservations, BLM land, or other publicly, or privately owned property.

They are a very foolish, stupid, fiendish, menacing, and evil group of dangerous people, the Lesbianists, and we have to stop them, now, as it is time for them to give up the game, and it is time for us to force them to stop pretending and lying.

Lesbianists Will Never Tell You The Truth

They will never stop lying, no matter, what. You can threaten them with death, all you want. That will not help, at all. They know how things work in my universe, and they are not at all afraid of torture, or death. The only way to stop them, is to either kill them all, or you can kill most of them, take over all the jobs they had, and then make friends with the ones who are left, after you finish killing as many as you can.

You can start killing them, if you wish, by killing Hillary Clinton, Bill Clinton, Jeb Bush, the two George Bushes, the two Barbara Bushes, all the congressional members of capital hill, who are Lesbianists, and then all the important cabinet persons, of the White House, and department heads of all the important departments of the U.S. government. You'll have to kill most generals, admirals, and commanders in the military, as most of the military leaders, with a few exceptions, are Lesbianists. Many of the state National Guards are nearly all Lesbianists, so you'll have to get rid of as many of the commanding officers and soldiers of the National Guard as possible.

Stopping The Lesbianists, Please Detonate And Destroy All The Airports The U.S. Congress Members Use

If you happen to be in Washington, D.C., please blow up Washington National Airport, now named, after former President, Ronald Reagan. That will make it hard for the Lesbianists to travel. They will have to go to Dulles International Airport, or to another smaller one, nearby, at one of the military bases. If you can blow up all of the military bases in the area, and blow up Dulles International Airport, as well, then you will make it difficult to travel for them, unless you blow up the all the air ports, all around Washington, Baltimore, Northern Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and so on.

If you destroy all the air ports the Washington D.C. congressional members use, then you will make life difficult for them.

Please, by all means, use the bomb formulas, that I have provided, and blow up all the airports, and all the military bases that you can blow up, and destroy the entrance guard shacks, and the run ways, and the barracks at the military bases, and the munitions depots, and the armories, where they keep many of their weapons stored.

You should also blow up the underground bunkers, where they have all the sensitive equipment, that they use, to listen to the chatting of Russian soldiers, and Russian housewifes.

While you are killing as many as you can, others can be making friends with the Lesbianists who accept invitations to visit the families of interested persons, who wish to learn sexaling techniques, in the classrooms, provided by the families, in their underground air raid shelters, and in their underground fun time dungeon play rooms. As time passes, when you've killed enough of them, and when the ones you've invited into your homes, have taught you every thing they know about sexaling, and lots about what they know about molding sciences, and other things of interest, for rejuvenating your bodies, for enhancing your libido, and for feeding the organs animals, cell animals, amoebes kiddies, and other animals in your bodies, you can ask them to come another time, and then you can make sure they find their way, to a new home, or apartment, as their old home or apartment may no longer belong to them, or be there, as former neighbors may have gotten rid of their old homes, since they were not available by phone, and no one knew where they were staying, for so long.

It may take us several years, to make an effective change, to a dozen years, or as long as twenty or even thirty years, to fifty years, or more, but eventually, we will make the changes we need to make, so that every one will get all information on the molding sciences, and so that every one will be able to learn the secrets of molding sciences, and the secrets of rejuvenating the human body.

New Releases Of The Programs And Operating Software

I am aware that, some people have a new copy of the operating systems, and of the software programs. I recently had my kids release, to the FBI and to the persons who are in charge of the audio and video surveilance links on me, as far as I could confirm, a new upgraded version of the operating system software and of the program software package. If the current government will cooperate, and distribute the software, then we can get the information on the molding sciences, and on the rejuvenative sciences, to all of you, soon. If they will not cooperate, then there is no alternative, but the ones that I've suggested.

Molds And Donor Bowl Technology

In donor bowl technology, you take a small container, about a gallon or so in size, and line the bottom of the container, with one or more layers of tin foil, and throw in a couple of rocks, that you know are clean, and that look pretty. If they look interesting, like a pyrite rock, with lots of different types of metals on it, and a little quartz you can use that, and you can throw in tourqouise, or malachite, or lapis lazuli, or a gold ring, necklace, bracelet, or ear ring, or a silver ring or bracelet, etc., and you can throw in a nice looking sterling silver spoon, that is not a cheap piece of garbage, that has metal pieces flaking off of it, like some table forks and table spoons, knives, and so forth, that come out of cheap, Taiwan or Mainland Chinese factories, or out of factories in Korea, or Japan, where the bottom line is all that matters, and find a good piece of your grandmothers' silver ware, or some thing comparable, and don't be stingy about silver ware, as silver ware is useless to your health, if you do not eat with it.

Silver plates, copper plates, bronze plates, gold plates, even gold plated metal plates, are all very good to use, and you'll find that what one person calls aluminum, or pewter, or brass, may in fact be a combination of ores, with many precious metals in it, despite the imprint on the underside or bottom of the piece, indicating it is sterling silver, or brass, or pewter, or whatever. We do not have the technologies to tell one metal apart from another metal.

Our technologies are too primitive, and so you can not tell when you have gold animals in your metal, in lots of cases, even if you have a piece of pewter. I have many types of gold animals kids, and they all get written off as slag, when the factories are melting down precious gem stones that they mine in vast quantities, and no one uses it, and it sits there, in the foundry yard, until the foundry yard goes out of business, and then vandals may steal a piece, but if the Lesbianists catch the vandals, they will kill them.

Workers try to take home a piece of pretty looking slag, or waste metal, that is scraped off the top of the bowl of liquidy, heated metal, because it is too light, as it is floating at the top. Well, many types of gold float near the top or at the top, and so does silver, and the steel is heavier, and so the top good stuff gets swiped off, or scraped off from the top of the molten metal pot, and it is dumped in the foundry yard, to sit there, and no one uses it.

Gold animals, and silver animals are as plentiful as platinum animals, and lead animals, and copper animals, and iron, and steel animals. There is no such thing as a 'precious metal" because they are all in my universe, eating, and munching on each other, and on other types of minerals animals, and on other tiny animals as well, and they make babies just like every one else does.

There is no lack for want in the baby making departments, and so there are just as many gold animals kiddies, as silver animals kiddies, platinum ore animal kiddies, as there are iron ore animal kiddies, and copper ore kiddies, and so on.

The reason the Lesbianists have their trick sales technique for "precious" metals, is because they know you do not know any different, and they know that you have not been educated, and they know that you are not smart enough to figure out what is what, as you do not have the technologies to investigate and determine who are my gold animals kiddies, and who are my silver animals kiddies, and who are my platinum animals kiddies, and who are my iron animals kiddies, and who are my copper animals kiddies.

How Plentiful Is Gold, Silver, Platinum, And Other So Called "Precious Metals"?

The Lesbianists hoarde the gold, and silver, platinum, and white gold, and they make it look scarce, and they ban people from mining national parks, and BLM recreational lands. The bureau of mines, has strict controls, and limits on land you can mine on, and the Lesbianists, for the most part, control all the useful land, and they do not let 'ordinary' people, get ahold of the useful land, and if an ordiary person finds a useful piece of land, the Lesbianists end up killing the person, and every one associated with the person, so that the issue is no longer a topic of concern for any one, who knew the person.

You are too stupid, so they think, to figure out any thing, since they have educated you in dummy sciences, that lead no where. Then they complain how stupid you are and about how little you know. So they spoof you, and they came up with the movie, the "Planet of the Apes", and its sequels, and they were written using you as the character of the 'ape', the common ordianary citizens of this planet, and the common ordinary citizens on all the planets they control, where as, they considered only them selves, the normal, "intelligent", human beings.

They laughed at you, in your monkey suits, as they employed the ordianary people of this planet as the actors and actoresses, to portray the 'apes'. Many of the actors and actoreses, where former Lesbianists, and they hate all of the former Lesbianists, as all former Lesbianists got kicked out of their organization, and they know who the former Lesbianists are, and they have beefs, or attitudinal problems and complaints, with all of you, who were Lesbianists, before you got trashed, grieviously tortured, eaten, killed, and with that, you were kicked out of their organization by them.

If you are a man with a vagina, and nine times out of ten, many of you still have a vagina, though some of you have worked off the karma, to have a vagina, such as you men and boys with normal genitalia, as you all had vaginas, all of you, because of the karma you had, killing females, led to that, and some of you worked off your karma, enough, and balanced out your karma enough, for you to lose that vagina you originally had, you were probably a Lesbianist.

Maybe almost every one of you, were at one time or another, a Lesbianist. There are not many people in my universe, except perhaps for me, who was not a Lesbianist, in the past.

If you are a woman with a dick, or with one that has been cut off when you were a young baby, because of the doctors advice to your parents, though some of you worked off that karma, as well, and balanced it out, etc., you were probably a Lesbianist, in the past, before they trashed you, killed you, grieviously tortured you, ate you, killed you, and with that, you they kicked you out of their organization.

It's the same case for females, as it is for males, almost every one of you, but there are a few exceptions, were a Lesbianist, in the past. The exceptions are the little, tiny people, who live in the abominated zones, in the pumpkin piggy patches, as I've mentioned about, before. There are other exceptions, but I will not go into them, now, because once you start studying in the 'Managing My Universe' program, you will learn all about who did what, and who ended up where, and so forth. In any case, that is some thing you can look into, later on.

Building An Underground Fortress, Or 'Playroom'

So the nice thing for you to do, would be to make friends with every one, and that goes for the Lesbianists, as well. You should all invite the Lesbianists into your underground rooms, and caves, and culled out work rooms. Culled out means, cut out of the face cliff, or cut out of the wall, or rock wall, or cliff, along side a river, or an ocean, or along a steep mountain face. Culled out work rooms, are not hard to make, but you need to know something about explosives, and blasting, and then, deconstructuring the surface of the cliff face, safely, so that you can little by little, safely, cut out, or cull out, a study, a garage, a work room, a tennis court, a bowling alley, and so forth that you can enjoy under your main piece of property, if you happen to live above a very high and large, solid, granite, or lime stone, etc, rock cliff, far above a lower valley, or river below, or very far above the level of an ocean, or sea, below, and off and aways a little bit, from where your property is located.

Once you begin making an underground, fortress, or play house, if you are a specialist, in explosives, and in architectural engineering, and geological engineering, or if you can get some friends together, who with your combined talents, can manage to cull out an underground fortress or play room, then you can build one, and you can later, after you have installed cold water piping, and drainage, safely, along with installing the electrical power generating facilities you'll need, to keep electrical company employees from snooping around, then you can invite your friends over, and have a block party, with trustable friends, and then you can invite some of the Lesbianists over, and make sure they understand that they are there as guests, on a temporary, but long term stay to teach you all about the molding sciences, and all about sexaling, and so forth, since they are all gifted instructors.

You could always get every one on your block, if they are all trusted friends, to set up a power grid, underground, using the electricity of every one, on the block, to power the underground play room, that you and all your friends will enjoy building. That way, if you build it right, and if you do not raise the suspicion of the power company's meter reader, or meter inspector, or any one else from the power company, who has upkeep maintenance work, to perform, from time to time, then you can safely put in a grid, and hook every one into it, so you can all share in the costs for the mutually enjoyed underground playhouse, along with all the sexaling entertainment, that you will all be able to enjoy, with your many friends, and with their many trusted friends.

Molds And Donor Bowls

With regards to molds and donor bowl technologies, after you've got your container set up, with a few layers of tin foil or so, on the bottom and sides of the container, and rocks and gem stones, etc., in the bottom, you can use that as a collection bowl, and go around and investigate the molded up breads that you have, and you should have between thirty of forty types of molded up breads, or more, to select from, and when you see some thing, interesting, after a few weeks, to a month, or more, you can pick out an interesting piece of bread, with lots of molds, or with just a few molds, and then you can combine six or eight of the different molded up breads, from six or eight containers, and then just place each slice of molded up bread in the 'donor bowl' container, and then, give it a few days to a week, to get leveled out.

Leveled out means, that the molds on each piece of donor breads, will each spread from one to another of the pieces of bread, and then you'll get a proliferation of molds, on all of your breads, and with lots of molds, it is generally safe to experiment, with a little piece of a corner of a piece of bread. If you cut off a tiny enough piece, you probably will not get too sick, if it is too potent for you to eat.

Try out the different molded up breads, and some may taste gentle, and tasty, and others may not taste to much to your liking, but after a while, you'll get to learn, what types of molds may cause problems with your body, and what types of molds will not cause problems with your bodies, and what types of molds to avoid eating, and what types to enjoy eating.

Molds will continue to grow, one over another, and one day, even though the molds may not be nice ones for you to eat, after a few weeks, and after a few tricks, such as placing those molded breads in with cherry juice, wine, or with sugary water, or with honey, or with fruit juices, fruits, milk, or sour cream, yogurt, or honey and cream, you can get the molds to grow, different molds, that will be more useful to you, and more tasty. There is a lot to study, about molds, and how to farm them, tender them as if they were your gardens, and cultivate them. The Lesbianists know all the secrets about all of this, so we need to convince them to give up the game, and start cooperating.

When you are examining, and sampling your molded up breads, jot down in a note book, accurately as possible, after you've described them to your self, the molds, and every thing about them, and give them names, and take photos of them, and keep a note book, for instance, with the pictures in them, and your notes, so that you can remind your self about what you saw growing, and what you learned about each one.

Technologies To Investigate Molds Gardens

If we had the technologies to investigate the molds, with a powerful enough microscope, that employed the proper technologies, and some computer software programs can be written by persons who know how to write them, and you can attach and adjust a lensing camera to your computer, you can take photos of the molds, and with the write computer program, once it is written correctly, it will be able to do many things, that you did not expect it could to.

They become very complicated to learn about all the technologies involved, but you can get some hints, from Sony, or Pioneer, or Mitsubishi, who have all invested much money into telephoto lenses, and video cameras, and they know all about the technologies that are needed, at least they have them, as classified material, in their documents storage rooms, and you can get copies, if you know the right people, and then you can write your software program, after studying all about the technologies involved, and after you've figured out what technologies are needed, and how to duplicate them, with your computer programing skills and your adeptability.

Adeptibility is a person's being able to know, intuitively, almost, after a lot of study, what it is you need to do, to get the results you want.

Once you put together the software program, you can have your friends use it, and give you input as to how to improve it.

A lot has to do with different types of energies, and how to send them out of the computer, and how to recieve them, back into your computer, and then how to decode them, to get the dramatic effects of being able to see through walls, or hard surfaces, that you never knew you could see threw. A lot also has to do with your ability to make a lensing system, which allows for viewing far away objects, as well as magnifying them, quite a number of times, all while keeping the clarity of the object in focus. You need to be able to light up the object, no matter how far away it is, and no matter how tiny it is, and you need to be able to get the light and imaging back into your camera, or into another camera, or into another pickup input device, a chip on a circuit board, such as an infared circuit board, and then how to drive that energy up, so that it is useful to you, and so that it will brighten up the image, that you recieve, back to your computer, once it has been picked up by your computer's infared reciever device.

It is a little tricky, to get every thing right, but with the technical input the Sony scientists, JVC Japan scientists, Mitsubishi scientists, Cannon, Nikon, and Fujitsu scientists, and paper copier company scientists of Dae Woo, and others, it will not be long before you can put together a computer program, that will sufficiently do what you would like it to do, and that is, investigate the tiny worlds where little worker animals of mine, go about their daily work.

You can even develop similar technologies to see other people, on other planets,if you are adept enough. You can even develop the technologies to be able to see other people on planets that are on the other side of a lot of obstacles, between you and them.

They have many technologies out there, that allow them to see you, and wave at you, but you don't have the technologies to see them, and call them on a video link up, and say hi to them.

You'll need some kind of tracking system technology. To track some one, you need to find a type or types of light energies, and possibly other types of energies, that allow you to bend them.

You also need to be able to pin point those energies, and keep them pin pointed, and on target. You then need to know the technologies involved so that you can lock those energies onto your target. If you can find the types of energies needed, you can get them to lock onto your target, and then they will bend, as you stay on target, and you can get a two way refractor system set up, and the light will come bouncing back to your infrared like energy tracking diode, or whatever it is you use, and you'll be able to lock onto people, far away, as their planet spins, and moves, and as our planet spins and moves, and you will be able to stay on target, and then you will be able to see them, and track them.

You need these pin pointing, and tracking technologies to track the little worker animals, who work for me, as well. You may need a number of other technologies, as well, to make it work, properly, but with help from JVC, Panasonic, Pioneer, and other technical scientists, you should be able to get it to work, without too much difficulty, if you are good at using your brain for these types of fun projects.

You also need to develop the listening capablities, and audio transmission capabilities, but that is not hard, because if you can develop the video transmission technologies, you can easily use your brains, and then, with thoughtful investigation, and research, and with some consulting with the scientists at Bell & Howell, Honeywell, Phillips, and other companies, they all have the information you are looking for, and they can all provide it to you, if you know the right people to ask for assistance at getting to it.

Long Distance Video And Audio Technologies

Rand McNally has already developed the technologies, for this type of software, and so has Phillips Engineering, Hawthorne Publishing Company, and a few other companies, as well, and if you know the right persons, you can find copies of it, and you can get it to work on your home computer, if your computer will run this software. I don't know what format they have programed their software in, but Fortran, or Pascal, and a few others, I think they have used. If you know what to do with it, after that, or if you know some one who would know what to do to get it running, you can invite your friends, and all of you can get the software set up, and then you can distribute it, among trusted friends.

Eventually, after you have put all the right technologies together, of if you should be so lucky as to get a copy of one of the systems that the companies mentioned, and perhaps others, as well, have already developed, but are not distributing, because the Lesbianists who run the companies, will not allow it, you'll be able to have long distance phone calls with people, far away, on other planets, and you'll be able to see and maybe even speak with practically anything in my universe, if not every body, if you are interested in seeing and speaking to them. The majority of people, nearly, have these technologies, so you'll be able to meet and speak with at least, those people who have the technologies that can interface with the technologies, that you develop.

There are also data bases, here and there, and you can learn from the many friends you can make, in our universe, and from the Lesbianists, how to access them, with the right permissions, and codes, if you can get either the Lesbianists to cooperate with you, or if you can get the people you meet as you go sky surfing, to cooperate with you, and ask them to use a translator program, to help translate their language into your language, so you can hear them in your language.

They have the technologies to be able to decode the languages we speak on this planet, but setting up the software programs to decode their speech, is a little too difficult, as it takes many years to put together, that kind of a system.

Managing My Universes Software, Etc.

If if you get a copy of the 'Managing My Universe' program software, that has the 'Sexaling For A Living' program explained, and many other programs, also explained, in depth, along with lots of useful information, you'll be able to get lots of help, and there are even programs that do these things for you, and you won't even have to worry about making the programs, because all the programs you need to be able to do all the above noted things, and much more, are all included in the software programs selections, for your use, once you join the 'Managing My Universe' program, and once you join the 'Sexaling For A Living' program, and once you swear in, and promise that you will sexal for a living, in accordance with the guidelines for the 'Sexaling For A Living' programs.

It's the new way my kids and I hope you will enjoy earning a living, in the future, as soon as we can get started, with the cooperation of those who have the software programs that I recently had my kids send off to them, using the video and audio surveilance systems, and the work force, they have in place.

The FBI, the White House, Jeb Bush, George Bush, Jr., Barbara Bush, Jr., George Bush, Sr., Barabara Bush, Sr., former general Swartzkoff, former general Colin Powel, Secretary Mike Johanns, Secretary Dirk Kempthorne, Secretary Carlos Gutierrez, Attorney General Alberto Gonzales, Secretary Robert M. Gates, Secretary Elaine Chao, Secretary Margaret Spellings, Secretary Condoleezza Rice, Secretary Samuel W. Bodman, Secretary Mary E. Peters, Secretary Michael O. Leavitt, Secretary Henry M. Paulson, Jr., Secretary Michael Chertoff, Secretary Jim Nicholson, Secretary Alphonso Jackson, Richard B. Cheney, Joshua B. Bolten, Rob Portman, Ambassador Susan Schwab, Stephen Johnson, John Walters, and others who are Lesbianists working for the President of the United States, will all know where you can get the software, and so please give them a call, and see what they have to say. Your state senators will also all have the software, or at least, they will know where you can get a copy of it. So please try speaking to them, before you busy your self, speaking with the other people, who are just Lesbianists stooges, who are just sitting in their chairs, like on holiday, just thinking who they are going to fuck over next, when, where, and how, before they eat them, while they are alive, and then kill them.

I wouldn't waste my time, too much with them, as they are not very cooperative, because they are all hard core Lesbianists, and they will not budge or flinch an inch, or admit to anything. They will lie, lie, lie, and lie, and that is all they will ever do, or so it seems.

The people on CNN, and on all the major networks, are also all hard core Lesbianists, with few exceptions. These Lesbianists will also just lie, lie, and lie, and they will never get any where near the truth, about nearly anything. They will give you the weather, but that is about all they ever tell you, that is truthful, one hundred percent, or nearly one hundred percent, since they even lie about things to do with the weather, as I noted before, since they call the industrial pollution in the sky, apple meyer, and that is a chemical haze yopu can see hanging over L.A., and Las Vegas, and New York, they helped to cover the planet with, with their petroleum industries technologies, so as to poison your health. They know all the sciences needed to keep them from dying, but they will not teach you the correct sciences, to help keep you from dying, as they enjoy watching all the people they hate, and who they enjoy killing, now and then, suffer. And they joke about you, and they call you, 'rodent rat people'.

They made a movie, the "Planet of the Apes", inspired by you, as they see it, and they continue to mock you, and toy with you, as some kind of chess game piece, and they will continue their silly games, until you are dead and gone, and then they will wait for your return, from my Epcot Center, which I have explained, about, before.

Fibromyalgia, What Is It?

What is fibromyalgia? Well, as far as I can tell, it is the plastics kiddies, from petroleum products, such as your camping mat, or your vinyl upholestry in your automobile, or in the taxi cab, or in your home, the furniture you bought that is covered in clear vinyl, or fake naugahide, which is a type of fake leather made from plastics.

Naugahide is every where, in vehicles, in trucks, in nearly every automobile, as the seat covers are made from it. It is a type of plastic, that is very comfortable, but it is made from plastics, derived from the petro chemical industry, and from the chemicals industry.

When you sit for long hours on naugahide, little fumes animals, and you can smell them, if you put your nose up to the naugahide, and you can smell, some times, a kind of material, that is similar in smell, some times, to leather, but it is not leather, though the companies that make naugahide, are very clever, and they know many ways to disguise the smell of the plastics kiddies by using different chemical compounds when formulating the naugahide compound material mixture, and the tanning formulas.

It doesn't hurt you right away, but over long months, and some times years, of breathing in the fumes kiddies from it, you will eventually begin to discover that you do not feel well, all the time. You might feel nervous, or edgy, or just uncomfortable. There are lots of people who feel this way, and they do not know why they feel that way, but they just feel that way, and they think, maybe I need some vitamin tablet, or maybe I need to go swimming, or sit in the hot tub, or in a jaccuzii.

Fibromyalgia can be experienced in a myriad of ways. Why is that? It is because there are so many different types of fumes animals, from the petroleum industry, we don't know which ones they are, that are poisoning our bodies, and they all hurt different amoebes animals, cell animals, organs animals, all over, inside of our bodies.

They eat up lots of different muscles in the body. They might eat the feet muscles on the soles of the feet. Or they might enjoy eating your leg muscles tissues. Others enjoy your back muscles tissues. Still others, they don't care too much where they get some thing to eat, and they go any where, in the body, and they eat all over the place, and you get sharp stinging pains, that are very uncomfortable.

We can not see these fumes animals when they are at lunch, eating our bodies up, and the muscles cells kiddies, and the organs kiddies, all over your body. I wonder how many types of fumes kiddies there are from plastics, and also, how many fumes animals kiddies there are, in petrol, diesel, kerosene, gasoline, Coleman's campfire lamp fuel kerosene, motor oil, and in all the petro chemical products, that line the shelves of the groceries stores, in every area of this country, much of Canada, and Mexico, I suppose, as well. I don't know what people in Europe purchase, or in Russia, or in the Soviet Union, or in Bulgaria, or in Serbia, or Croatia, Greece, Latin America, except for maybe some parts of Mexico, I can suppose they use similar products to what we use, in this part of the country, as some Mexican soaps, and detergents, chlorine bleach, kitchen soap liquids, and other products from Mexico, can be found in some of the local stores, here, such as Kroeger's or Food4Less, Albertson's, Smith's, Walmart, K-Mart, Target, and maybe some others.

I'm sure if we go to an automobile parts store, we can find lots of petro chemicals that we use to wash our cars, or motor bikes, off-road four wheeler bikes such as made by Suzuki, or Yamaha, or Honda, our camper trailer, motor home, or our motor boat.

We are surrounded in petro chemicals, and the air conditioners are puffing them out, despite the arguments of the technicians, who will say, they are safe. They leak out so many fumes, and no one can see how small they are, and many times, you can not even smell them. They build up, and then they begin to smell, when other petro chemical fumes, from the tar in the pavement in the roads, begins to mix with them.

Well, walking around in Las Vegas, we can get the same experience, any time, if we are healthy enough to have a sense for what smells good to our noses. If we are not always breathing in the fumes kiddies, and for instance, if we sit in a park, way out in the country, for instance, with an old log home, and lots of clear skies, and lots of clear running creeks, and streams, and ponds, when we spend some time there, getting our bodies detoxified, by good living, and good healthy eating, and with lots of molds foods, and with lots of ferment brews, and with lots of the healthy things we can make, such as I've mentioned, when we come back into the city, you will think we are entering petro chemical hell on earth.

It is so bad, the smells we have to put up with, and most people become immune to them, after some time, driving around, in traffic, and just thinking, this is normal, haveing the fumes of the buses, blowing into our cars, as they start out at the traffic lights, or the fumes of other cars, blowing in through our car windows, when they pass by, just as they are starting up, or while we are in congested traffic. Los Angeles is a smelly town, no doubt, but Las Vegas is one, too, and so is New York. Washington, D.C., is a smelly town, also.

Any way, even our homes, begin to smell, and we are immune to it, as we can not notice the smells, unless we go and detoxify our bodies, for several weeks, to several months, and then come back, and then try our noses smelling the carpets, the curtains, the bed linen, if made of rayon, nylon, or an other fabric that is not a natural fabric, such as cotton, or wool.

When we go out and purchase home cleaners, such as chlorox bleach, or shampoo, or soap, dishes and glases hand soap, dish washing machine soap, or Ajax, or Spic and Span, or Mr. Clean, Tide, or other product for cleaning the house, bath room, bath tub, shower, clothes, dishes, or whatever, we are bringing into our homes, harmful fumes kiddies in all those products. They escape from inside the containers, because we do not know how small they are. They are so small, they can escape with out our even knowing it. I am not kidding you.

When they escape, you're going to slowly get ill, and develop muscle and body aches. You can even experience degeneration of ligaments, sinews, tendons, and you can end up with tennis elbow, a bad back, and who knows what else, as these fumes animals eat up not only muscles in your bodies, but they also eat up the ligaments, sinews, tendons, and other fibers in your body, including your nerve fibers, amoebes in your brain, and cell animals in brain structures, and organ animals in brain structures and in nervous system wiring. They eat heart muscles, and just about every thing there is to eat, in the human body, including the teeth, and the sexaling organs, and every thing connected to your sexaling organs.

I mentioned that we have lots of organ animals in our bodies. Well, we have not only amoebes, and cell animals, every where in our bodies, but we have organs animals by the gazillions in our bodies. The fumes animals hardly discriminate, and they like not only muscles, and tendons, sinews, ligaments, cartiladge, nerve fibers, and other fibers in our bodies, but they like to eat the organs animals, the amoebes, and the cell animals, too.

It begins to hurt, with very stinging pains, as far as I can tell, when they start eating up the organs animals. The large the animals in the body that are being eaten up, the more severe the pains, unless you have a lot of animals, of all different sizes, all being eaten up, at the same time.

Well, to cure this, or rather, to stop this, we have to live in log homes, drink water that is not chlorinated, and I mentioned that chlorine is a petro chemical liquid, that is used in jet fuels, and even in some high powered cars, on some planets, instead of gasoline, because chlorine, when it is carefully mixed with other petroleum liquids, and other ingredients, can make a very powerful race car engine fuel.

Next, we have to eat lots of ocean salt and eat a well balanced diet. We need to increase our salt intake, till we use about up to two and a half, to three pounds of salt, to eight pounds of salt, depending on the size of the person, or possibly more pounds of salt, as in the case of the big sumo wrestlers in Japan, and in Samoa, and in Korea, and other places, up to about ten to twelve to even eighteen pounds, or even somewhat more, up to twenty or even thirty pounds, each year, for the large sumo wrestlers, who have lots of problems with fibromyalgia pains. One sumo wrestler, who weighs about eight hundred pounds, needs about forty or more pounds of salt, easily, each year, for helping him with his fibromyalgia pains, to kill the fumes animals in his body.

Some people may get by on less salt, if they do not have severe problems with fumes animals, i.e., fibromyalgia animals, but for most people, you need to increase your ocean salt intake, and not use iodized salt, as that will worsen your problem, as it is poisoned with petro chemicals, and no one tells you, and it is not on the label.

If we increase our ocean salt intake, we will get over fibromyalgia, in time. To repair our bodies, is more difficult, once you have increased and maintain a steady high level of ocean salt, in your body, daily. If we let it drop, we can get ill, once again, if we inhale fumes, animals, and they are in the carpets, and in the curtains, and in the ceiling tiles. Don't be fooled. The Lesbianists put fumes animals in every thing they possibly can, since they want to make you suffer.

They know they only need to eat lots of ocean salt, and they laugh at you, when you get sick, and when you suffer, and when you can no longer work, like many fire men, and fire women.

When we have a house burn down, there are so many fumes animals that are let loose into the air, we should just run for cover, and forget about putting the fire out, as we are certainly looking for health problems, though we do not know it. There are many fire men, and fire women, who are so ill, they can not get up in the morning, and no doctor knows what their problem is. Well, it is simple. They inhaled so many fumes animals, their bodies are being eaten up, from the inside out, and the Lesbianists just laugh at them.

Asking The Lesbianists For Specific Information On How To Repair The Damaged Animals In Our Bodies

To repair the damage to the organs animals, and to the amoebes, and to the cell animals, we can ask the Lesbianists for information on the types of molds they use, to help them help their organs animals, and other animals, repair themselves.

When there is a big forest fire, the government calls out soldiers, and others, such as national guardsmen, and national guards women, and soldiers from many marine bases, or army bases. Professional fire fighters are also called to the scene, and they pitch in, and try to put out forest fires.

It is really perverse, when you think about it. The natural woodlands must burn down, to then regrow. Nothing is hurt, as trees have roots that are so deep, and that go off in many miles in many different directions, so long as there is a stump to that tree, above ground, that is all that is needed, for that tree to regrow, within a few hundred to a few thousand years, depending on what type of tree it is, and where it is growing.

That is silly, isn't it. Well, what is worse is that the Lesbianists tell the fire fighter crews to put the fire out with petro chemical flame retardants, they either spray on, from a short distance away, or that plane and helicopters over head, drop onto the fires, and burning trees, and shrubs, below.

The fires eventually return, with in a few years, some times, and guess what. All those petro chemical flame retardants get burned up, and the fumes make the fire fighters so ill, many of them simply die. You do not hear the statistics on the number of deaths among fire fighters, but there are many, and they are often times, military soldiers, who die, and the family gets a note that their son or daughter died, and little else is said about it, except for the information on the funeral. This is ridiculous, and it needs to stop, right now.

However, there is a problem, here. We all have karma. This is some thing that we can not get around. Many people do not know what karma is, and many people do not believe in karma.

Well, that's up to them, but the truth is, there is some thing I call karma, and it is just a record of all your good behavior, and a record of all your bad behavior. I am a sneaky guy, and I have my kids record your karma. And you can argue about it, all day if you like, but that will not mean anything, because my kids are always recording your karma, whether you like it or not, and whether you believe it or not.

Now how are you going to deal with that karma? Well, you can keep going through one life time after another, being made fools of, by the Lesbianists, or you can start sexaling, and you can try to practice my religion, as I've explained about it, on my bulletin board. When you start practicing my newest religion, you can begin to get your karma straightened out, and soon, after many gabillions of years of practicing my religion, slowly, people will stop making fools of you.

That's how serious it is, your karma. Until you work on erasing it, and it takes a long time to erase, because we've all been here, in my universe, longer than any one can possibly imagine, and we have so much karma, it will take us nearly eternity to erase it all.

There is more to karma, than that, and you can study and learn about it, once you join the 'Managing My Universe' programs, and once you join the 'Sexaling For A Living' programs, which I've mentioned a few words, about.

Until you erase your karma for being made a fool of, by these Lesbianists, and for being made a fool of, by your friends, and family members, and school teachers, and by others, you won't really be able to be happy. There are lots of things we need to erase our karma for. Not only for being made fools of, but also for just being bad people.

What Is Our Job, From Now On, In My Universe?

We have been so bad to each other, over the many kazillions plus years, we have been living in my universe, life after life, and no one can count how long we've really been here, as it is just too long. All that time, even from the very begining, when we first got here, and began living in my universe, it wasn't long before we started acting, badly. That snow balled, and now we have so much karma, it is just ridiculous.

Anyway, that's our job from now on, and you and I are all going to get to work, erasing our karma, and learning about karma, and learning about how things work in my universe, and in time, we will begin to understand that, truly, indeed, our main job here, in this big bus station terminal center, as I've called it some thing like that, before, is to erase the karma that my kids, as well as us, produce.

It is our jobs to erase it, by practicing my religion, and by sexaling, religiously, in time. In the begining, you will not think that sexaling is a religous act, or a religious activity, but it is, and as the kabillions, and katrillions, and kazillions of years go by, eventually, you'll begin to learn, and so will I, that sexaling is a religious activity. When people say that, I'm sure they must have a smirk on their face, as no one thinks that sexaling is a religious activity. Well, we can smirk all we want to, but in time, we will learn that sexaling is indeed a religious activity. It will take a lot of time, and a lot of experience, but after who knows how many years, eventually, we will get brighter than we are, in the head, and we will begin to understand that sexaling is a religous activity, just like praying is. There are many religious activities, many people will think, 'Oh you've got to be kidding me!', but one after another of them, in time, you will learn that they are religous activities. I've mentioned about some of them, before, and people smirk, and laugh, and giggle, and no one takes me seriously, but that is to be expected.

In any case, in time, we will see that these activities are all religous activities. In the mean time, no one really cares, I don't think, as so many people will just enjoy sexaling, all the time, or some of the time, as some people are not physically able to enjoy sexaling, with others, as it is their karma to not be healthy enough to enjoy sexaling with others.

There are people with nervous system problems, and there are handicapped people, and elderly people, and people with all kinds of disabilities, who do not like or even think of sexaling.

In time, we will all get our karma straightened out, and we will work to erase it, as the years go by. In time, more and more, people will get healthy, once again, including me, and in time, people with fibromyalgia, and with other nervous disorders, autism, and all kinds of health problems, and physical handicap problems, they will all get better, and they will all learn about rejuvenating their bodies, and in time, we will all be living forever, in my universe, erasing our karma, and the karma of my working children, who do not have the time to work on it, themselves.

Erasing karma will be our main job, as there will always be lots of it to erase. There are my many worker animals in my universe, and who will erase their karma? We will. Every one who works for me, will give me some of their karma, and it will be up to us, the people living in this main central bus station terminal, to erase it.

Why are we stuck with the job of eraseing it? Because that is our only job. My kids have many jobs, and they keep my universe going. Now, with my religion, to help us, you will spend your energies, for eternity, working for me, and erasing the karma of my kids, and of my many worker animals. Other wise, our universe will not run well, and it will collapse, and come to a halt, and then we will not have any place to live.

You will all learn more about all of this, once you join the 'Managing My Universe' programs, and once you join the other programs we have, including the "Sexaling For A Living' programs.

well,
I had thought that I saw it all, until not 20 minutes ago.

A cb Operator here in Phoenix was giving truckers his usual tirade (about them being 'road niggers' <hsi words, not mine>) when I chimed in and told him that one of these days someone was going to take him up on his words (not that it would be me as I have no time for such childish games).

well, low and behold, he got so pissed off that 20 minutes ago, he went silent on the air, drove over to my place and proceeded to do a 'lawn job'.

man how 20th century! (snicker). its not as though he did any damage (far from it, he might have actually improved my landscaping a bit). anyway, he did fail to see the 2 cameras I have monitoring the front entrance and yard. I got a nice big shot of his license place (in infrared light) and a pretty good look at his POS car (thanks to some handy windows software from FG Engineering).

anyway, a nice little video and a printout are right here on my desk just awaiting 'officer friendly' (who should be arriving shortly to take possession).

I feel a little sorry for the idiot in question. I think he's going to lose his radio, his car and possibly his job after I get done. perhaps he should have chosen someone else to pick on in this dark and stormy night in Arizona.

Take your own advice.

The question is, who is stalking whom. Considering you have been on a spam tirade for weeks trying to bully me into releasing www.kb9rqz.blogspot, the answer is clear. Nevertheless, your tactics will never work.

"one useless spamming fool named Mark C. Morgan forging ahead"

Do you have anything "cognat" to say?

HEY JERK - If you are going to QUOTE something our forefathers said - you should quote it correctly:

"I have come to the conclusion, that one useless man is a disgrace, two are a law firm and three are called a congress?" John Adams in the play 1776."

Hello All:

Here is a neat old speech processor that we all use to use on our AM/SSB radios in the 80's.

This speech processor really worked well inreasing the average speech power the transmitter put out. It allowed us to cut thru the skip when trying to talk to the locals. And when underhanded transmissions where sent it was turned off, so not all would hear ya.

The best processor that I have ever heard was the ones made by Sherwood Engineering that worked with the Drake TR4 or with the T4X.
It was an RF clipper with an 8 pole crystal filter following. That made a fantastic difference. Far better than any audio clipping or compression would do.

What's that got to do with him being a CBer? I am a CBer (and general ham), and I don't got driving up one lawns doing burnouts. What is your point?

Yawn.

Sounds like the same shit happens all over the world on CB Radio!

I remember that shit happening 20 or more years ago here in Melbourne Australia.

then you are not thinking then. its fairly obvious to even me what Mr. Oyen meant. He was on CB radio and the argument that ensued spilled over into reality (or so it would seem).
I am sure that Eric will go into details at some point (I am interested in what he would have to say).

heh. ask a stupid question. think about it!
he was on the cb band. he retaliated against my remarks by taking it personally (and thus committing criminal damage). all I did was mention to him that his commentary might actually result in an altercation with someone that would have been less than forgiving about him.

in any case, he went from words to stupidity without thought as to what would happen (and now he will have to deal with those consequences).

Hello James:

Yeah I have heard of the Sherwood, and other processors. They did work great. I don't know all the poop about them but I know when my Yaesu 902 was driving my amp the Gamma Matches would ack over on the Moonraker beam, with the Diawa 440. The stock processor worked also, but not like the Diawa 440.

Another reason for dumping the gamma matches

Hello All:

Eric has always been a source of entertainment. I had him blocked but then had him reinstated for reading, good call.

I remember digging out bullets out of the front of my house years ago while painting. Having dudes do burn outs on the front lawn, or getting bad mouthed on the air, ah yeah the good ol days.

You know your Linears ah hummin when....

It is not the fault of the Gamma Match design. The design is a very rock solid design. How various manufacturers implement the design and the materials used is what becomes the major issue. It is still by far one of the better matches to take an unbalanced feedline to a balanced antenna system. The dielectric for the capacitor should be teflon in high voltage, ie high power, situations. Often manufacturers skimp a bit and use nylon. Nylon deteriates with time and exposure to UV light. Cracks propogate through the capacitor and you also get dielctric breakdown. Teflon is a better material. I not sure but I beleive that UV stabilized Delrin may also work adequately. Also any other plastic that is UV stabilized may work well for medium and low power applications.

Of course, you keyclowns fail to state that if one runs 4 watts CB power the gamma match insulator could be made out of about anything and still wouldn't fail. Guess that would be accepting the fact that power on the CB band of a level to cause gamma arcing is not legal.

We get the same sort of thing here, everything ends in .99
The thing is that, with VAT (our sales tax), that should be added on for the customer to pay. Are we supposed to believe that, by some miracle, every time they add VAT to their price it ends in .99?

And all for under $200
Yeah, $199.99.

Do people still fall for that old trick?

What, he did a Ratner?

This sounds rather like scammers working out who they can target who will not report the matter to the police. Maybe even putting them in a position where they feel that they would be in trouble.

It may depend upon the purchase method and location.
If you buy from local store, which you pass every day, it's not that much effort to go in and tell them. But if it's mail order, would it be higher before they go to the bother?
Also, if they blow the customer off, being local allows the customer the opportunity to park their ass on the shop doorstep and cost them more in lost sales.

What's up with you, playing peace-maker?

The difference of opinion here appears to be whether waveform is defined by the absolute value at the peak, rather than relative changes throughout a cycle.

In the noted references, signal amplitude does not affect the waveform of the signal.

Considering the qualifications of these chaps, and the fact that they each have said the same, I am somewhat reluctant to consider their words, math and diagrams to be incorrect.

> Now if you wanted to take this to a philosophical level, no two

Ah, signals... fine. The term "signal" can cover everything, the slightest change of anything (including amplitude) could be taken as a change in the signal.

I would not argue that a larger version of a sinewave may not be considered an identical signal to the smaller version, but I would argue that the waveform property of the signal has not changed.

I neither stated or implied that they are "all sinusiods are unchanged". You have clearly assumed that from a simple statement.

Let's be clear about what I stated, which is what several well qualified people have also stated in their books... that the waveform is unchanged by amplification.

That is the position of the named engineers, lecturers and heads, and I am not about to call them stupid by saying it is not as they state in their books.

Before arguing further, that these people are all wrong and their employers really should have given you the job, please look at my other replies. Maybe it will clear up why you believe these people wrong.

> again it is a minor point.

For a minor point, you certainly are willing to spend time claiming the authors to be "wrong" or "incorrect".
Not something I would do on a "minor point", and without some damn good references or better qualifications than all those authors.

Peter.

No, you are confusing issues with stuff like...

> Depending on how the amplifier is configured there is a phase shift.

Now, read my part again, carefully. I did not mention amplification with phase shift or specific amplifier circuits. You are several steps ahead of yourself, considering specific circuits before considering the required function...
Amplification.

If I asked what was the purpose of a light bulb, would you start talking about heat and fingers getting burned changing them when they have been on a few minutes?

With that in mind, what is the purpose of an amplifier and what is amplifictation? I'll give you a clue... heat, distortion, phase shift, specific components and negative feedback do not come in at this stage.

To design something, first you must consider the purpose. Otherwise, you can end up with a big, empty, useless dome and the whole world laughing at you.
Believe me, us Brits know all about that one.

> In a Common emmiter configured transistor amp
> there is a 180 degree shift in the pahse.
> Only the emitter(source) follower in a semiconductor amplifier > will not cause a phase shift.

As you should have worked out from the above, phase shift is not amplification, and it is not the basic function of an amplifier.

> Correct that the angular frequency is not changed and that > a sine wave is a sine wave, but still the amplitude has changed.

Nobody said it hasn't.

The difference of opinion here appears to be whether waveform is defined by the value of the amplitude at the peak.
Acccording to the noted and extremely well qualified gentlemen,
the form is not dependent upon the peak value.

You appear to be confusing the words signal and waveform.

Although a change to any of the properties of a signal will be a change in that signal, you can change any one of it's properties without changing the others.
So, changing the signal amplitude does not change it's waveform.

The signal amplitude is absolute and measured in volts or amps. When assessing the waveform of the signal, waveform amplitude is relative to the signal amplitude and so has a maximum value of 1.

No matter how accurate your mathematics, if you do not correctly identify the problem at hand then you may be working on the wrong problem and your result will be not be the required solution.

Peter.

Nothing wrong with a small company, but you have to use your advantages... you can be damn sure your large competitors will use theirs.

They can bulk buy to reduce costs, they can throw big money at big advertising. They can even take a loss just to wipe out the competition. They can hold out longer than the small guy then, once he has gone, they can bang the prices up even further.

> If they don't like that... nothing I can do about it.

If you don't believe that you can win people over, then you had best give up now.

You can do nothing about the big business advantages and image,
but you can use your small business advantages.
If you are unwilling to do that, then why should the customer not simply take the cheaper product from the well known big guy? What are you offering that he doesn't?

Dont say "quality"... how long has it been since CBers gave a flying sh1t about quality rather than price?

> Items are often discontinued by a manufacturer when their profit > margin becomes unacceptable in the marketplace.

All products are subject to the life cycle concept.
Initially, they would have been selling it at a huge profit. Then, as the market slowed, they would have dropped to a reasonable profit.
By the time it is discontinued, it should have made plenty of money for them.

> Why should I continue to offer a product that I can't make > a reasonable profit on?

You shouldn't, but did you properly consider profit margin from the beginning? It must be remembered that time is money and, if you designed the product, design time is cost that has to be recovered long before discontinuing the product.

> Do you run a business?

Not at the moment, but I have and I am considering going down that route again. But not on the basis of a single product, unless it was an incredible product that would have a wide appeal to a mass market.
CB products simply don't come anywhere near. Not that I wouldn't want to offer them, just that I wouldn't pin the survival of the business on them.

As I expected :~)

Here in the UK, the use of power amps and pre-amps are both illegal. However, as possession is not illegal, they have to prove use.
The use of a SWR meter is only allowed while testing
the antenna.

External microphones could be a grey (or gray) area. The radio is tested for approval, with the microphone that will be supplied.
I believe that, if the manufacturer changes the microphone supplied they must submit the radio for retesting - at a very high cost.

But I see nothing in the rules about users plugging in any replacement microphone they can get their hands on.

However, back to my original point...

His present method:
1. Is illegal.
2. Is only a board - putting off general CBers.
3. Is not as impressive to a CBer as a finished product.
4. Allows "screwdriver experts" to fekk up the fitting and blame his product.
5. Has no way of proving "tampering", as the customer is supposed to "tamper".
6. Allows less profit, with the extra going to people, who may be wrecking the equipment.
7. Encourages "DIY" bodging inside radio.

What the potential customer is asking for:
1. Is legal.
2. Is "plug & play - CBer friendly.

3. Is a finished product and can look that way.
4. Ensures that only the manufacturer does the wiring.
5. Can be warranty sealed.
6. Allows the manufacturer to make extra money on the complete product.
7. Ensures the radio remains working as designed.

Yep, I can see why he decided to keep it as an add-on board... You tell a CBer that the product is legal, there's no way they are going to buy it.

Peter.

just because I said I was off CB radio then, doesn't mean I have to stay off. I was simply tracking down a source of noise with the radio shack 40 channel 'walky talky' I purchased at a yard sale 2 weeks ago (for $5.00).

I knew the idiot in question and called him on the carpet about his activities (a little hard to work 10 meters when you have 30/S+9 noise from his 2 KW linear amp).

nope. I have video tape (in this case, an AVI file). no imagination. even got the license plate on the vehicle in question (and some reports from two neighbors who also witnessed the deed).

as for knowing. its not hard. I am the only house in this neighborhood with a pile of antennas on it, signal tracking is fairly simple (even a caveman can do it) and there is also the internet where a name search turns me up at qrz.com.

so..... unless he lives in a cave, is completely disconnected from the world (get the idea?), or whatever his deal is, it isn't that hard to find me. I just won't recommend showing up unannounced as my neighbors around here have itchy trigger fingers.....

So let me see if the rest see the bs you are spewing for attention:
You were tracking down the noise, but on the original post you claimed to have been telling him (Now on your handheld walkie talkie CB):

"when I chimed in and told him that one of these days someone was going

So you have such a great little hand held cb that it was able to be heard over all the other noise, all the way to his house some 15 to 20 minutes away.
You are such a liar and really do have problems Eric.

> oh well, its out of my hands now....

It's always been in your hands Eric, you are making these post with illusions of Granjour. That you and you alone can save the CB in the Phoenix area.

Remember, you posted that it took him some 20 minutes to drive to your house. So either your Radio Shack Handheld radio is modified to put out way too much.....or you're a liar and making all this up. I'm betting towards the latter.....

I would not go that far. One could construct a gamma match that with

Still for most contruction of gamma matches, they will not fail at 4

Sure is, you made this whole thing up to get attention

> yet you still don't have all the facts.
Sure I do Eric, your own posts making such claims:

On 7/21/07 you claim to have used a walkie talkie to tell some guy to be careful what he says, who's approx 10 to 15 miles away. That itself is a feat that's impossible. You claimed lots of static due the fact linears are being used, but yet you're little walkie talkie cut right through the heterodyne, making it some 10 to 15 miles away (remember Eric you said he went off the air and 20 minutes later he was at your house).

On 7/23/07 you post that you have it all on Video and had a police officer take a report. Again, simple task:
http://www.azcentral.com/CrimeMaps/main_crimesearch2.html

Now all I did was punch in your zip code, do a search for property reports for the last week and nothing. I then used "all" still nothing, so you must be lying.

Hey Eric, want to prove me wrong?? All you have to do is post the video on you tube, along with something to prove it was your house. I would then must humbly admit I was wrong. Of course I'm sure you'll come up with some lame excuse about "legalities", but that's ok everyone still knows you're lying.

Have at it Eric, keep saying it enough and maybe you'll believe it too.

small problem,
its a little hard to avoid someone running in excess of 5 KW less than 2 miles away. even if you happen to be 2 Mhz up band.

still, I actually had to buy a 40 channel RS walky talky just to communicate down there (grrrr).

for quite a while, I had been using my FRG-7 yeasu radio for receiving signals from various places. when it sees noise of that level, it doesn't matter where I am (and it took quite a bit longer to narrow down where the noise was comming from).

anyway, the local LEO has the info, they have since had a chat with the person in question (he denied doing the deed, even though the evidence was there for it) and issued a fine. he'll have to deal with it in court.

perhaps the FCC might get involved and give him something a bit more to think about now.

Now he lives a couple of miles away? not the 10 to 20 minutes away as you claimed before? running 5kw, not the supposed 2kw as you claimed before??
He's already got fined and hasn't even gone to court yet??? This in only 3

accusations based on this fallicy (common though they are) are just that:

baseless accusations.

it is very conceivable to take 10 to 20 minutes to go 2 miles, especially if you are taking a 'round about means' of entering a neighborhood.

I like how you fail to think about that and then make a proclamation that makes it appear as though I am lying (which I am not). no matter how hard you try, you just cannot get past that sticking point.....

one additional point that you are not aware of (and neither are a lot of people at that), you can request that your report not be used on any public statistics website 9such as the above).

I wasn't sure if you were aware of that or not.

in any case, I elected to not have my particular data made public there (or anywhere else).

also, your requests for me to post of youtube are formally denied (and don't claim its because I don't have a vid. suffice it to say, I do and so do the police and that is that).

you make claims that I am lying, yet absence of evidence is only evidence that information is not being revealed. since you don't have all the facts, won't have all the facts and can't get all the facts, doesn't mean you are right. it just means you don't have all the facts and no matter how you claim, you still have only a claim.

Uniden makes several with weather alert, but you should know I just bought a Uniden PC68XL because it didn't have the weather channels in it.
CB radios have enough of a hard time with adjacent channel rejection and intermod with out being fitted with a preselector filter on the front end that will pass VHF frequencies.

my PC68XL was $79.00 from Amazon with free shipping incase anyone's curious.

4910. Eric Oyen N7ZZT wild claims

Newsgroup: rec.radio.cb

Well some have followed while others have stayed away, either way Eric is making those wild claims again.

Fact:

Eric has stated a dozen times or more that he doesn't own nor does he even care to talk or use a cb.

He's claimed that all he has to do is place a call to a congressman or senator and he can have someone taken off the air

He claimed he got on the CB band to tell someone not to say "nasty things to truckers or something might happen back to you instead"

He claims that this person lived 20 minutes away, but drove all the way over to his house to do a "Lawn job".

He's now claimed he bought a walkie talkie just so he could try to talk to someone using a 2kw linear (the now supposed person that lives 20 minutes away).

He claimed this person lived 20 minutes away, but yet he could cut through the heterodyne with just a walkie talkie to tell him "not to say those things, it might come back to bite you"

He now claims that the person lives only 2 miles away and is running 5kw now.

He now claims that he bought the walkie talkie to track down the person running a linear near him.

He claims to have made a police report for the "lawn job", but none shows up.

He claims to have a video and gave it to the police.

He then claims to have made an AVI, but won't post it because of legalities (LOL!)

He claims that the person has been cited & fined all in just 3 days

All this being said he has flip flopped all over these statements when being shown that he contradicts his own posts. He has changed his statements time & again when shown he couldn't be telling the truth, so he then starts his typical stating " what I say is facts, you have no proof to say otherwise".

Have at it Eric, didn't you threaten me with legal action? Are you going to do that again now that I brought that to your attention???? LMAO!!!!!!!

Again, as I posted previously: There is no law saying you can't do it (think about all those cop episodes and don't say their case are old)
You claimed to have it in AVI format, so post it Eric, make ME a liar!

You make accusations, yet the fact you keep changing the facts to suit you're claims, is just that LIES!! Since you keep changing the facts, can't get all the facts straight or change them after each time it's pointed out they are flawed, doesn't mean you are right. It just means it didn't happen and no matter

how much you claim so, you still haven't proved anything.

Oh come on Eric, if the guy is supposedly going to do a "Lawn Job" as you put it, why would he take a "round about way to go 2 miles? Good God, he was going to DRIVE across your lawn, why would he try to sneak in (what a maroon).

Why would I have a sticking point about you saying it took him 20 minutes to go 2 miles??? That's what you are now claiming, to the fact you said he took that long, 20 minutes to drive across your lawn.. Doing a MapBlast shows that a cripple
in a wheel chair could roll across you're lawn in less than 10 minutes.

4915. Mr. Wonderful gets busted again for unlicensed operation

Many of you in the United States have heard the loosly wound foul mouth on channel 38 LSB (27.385) that calls himself Mr. Wonderful. He waits for skip to role in and starts his usual banter of the typical sex related insults and music playing. Most rants start off with him singing "Go chase your granny". Back in 2002 he ws busted for talking on the ham bands without a license. Below is the FCC letter;

March 21, 2002

Mr. Mark Hanson
217 N. 6th Avenue
Wausau, WI 54403

SUBJECT: Warning Notice--UNLICENSED RADIO OPERATION

Dear Mr. Hanson:

The Commission has information that you have been operating radio-transmitting equipment without a license on frequencies in the Amateur Radio Service bands.

Please be advised that operation of radio transmitting equipment without a license is a violation of Section 301 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. Section 301and will subject you to fine or imprisonment, as well as an in rem seizure of radio transmitting equipment, in cooperation with the United States Attorney for your jurisdiction. Fines for this violation normally range from $7,500 to $10,000.

You are requested to contact me at 717-338-2502 to discuss this matter.

Well apparently he has once again be unable to contain his antics to the CB band. A few weeks ago I heard him complaining that he had received yet a second letter from the FCC for the same thing. The following notice appeared on the ARRL's web pae in April of 2007.

From ...
http://www.arrl.org/news/stories/2007/04/03/101/?nc=1

FCC Posts Amateur Radio Enforcement Correspondence

NEWINGTON, CT, Apr 3, 2007 -- The FCC has posted Amateur Radio enforcement correspondence for the period ending April 2 on its

"Amateur Radio Service Enforcement Actions" page.

... <snip > ...

The FCC also has issued letters in additional cases, but, due to privacy considerations, is not making them public unless and until it takes subsequent enforcement action:

... <snip unrelated items> ...

* to an unlicensed individual in Wausau, Wisconsin, regarding interference on 75 meters

==========

Some people never learn. If you need a refresher as to Mr. Wonderful there is a recording of him on YouTube.com at;

CB'er with a ham license.

Not Necessarily. He claimed that He didn't own one for a number of years (I too can read posts and google is a nice resource to use)

> He's claimed that all he has to do is place a call to a congressman or > senator and he can have no. I believe he hinted that such could be done and that time would be needed before any action would have been taken. In Fact, I contacted several of the individuals responsible in the case that Mr. Oyen mentioned (FCC V. Timothy Harold Hoffman - 1995) and there was, in fact, a contact made with the First Lady to prompt the FCC into taking action on that case (it seems that there was a 3 year delay at the FCC because someone there wasn't able to or willing to do the job that needed doing).

> He claimed he got on the CB band to tell someone not to say "nasty things

That is actually understandable (and not really a wild claim). Didn't he mention that he had been trying to locate the source of the interference to begin with (such as what frequency or location)?

> He claims that this person lived 20 minutes away, but drove all the way uh.... right. I believe he mentioned that:

1. the person in question lived a specified distance and that
2. it took them 20 minutes from the time he last heard them on the air to the time the "lawn job" took place.

> He's now claimed he bought a walkie talkie just so he could try to talk to

no. you restated the claim in a different context. its the same claim and please read above for a logical reason for your apparent misconception.

did you just say this (again for the third time? this is the same claim, restated....

> He now claims that the person lives only 2 miles away and is running 5kw based on what I read, it appears that it makes no difference as to what power level the individual is running, at 2 KW or at 5 KW, the RF signature at the receiver would be very noisy, especially of the person running the rig were doing so in a typical cb fashion (over driving the input).

Overdriving the Input on Tube Amp can lead to some serious IMD products (such as strong multiharmonic spurs and spectrum splatter) we do not know of the amp exists, is a tub amp 9and if so in what class of drive) or a solid state AMP (those exist, are very expensive and tend to be very dirty).

> He now claims that he bought the walkie talkie to track down the person

if I were in his position, I would. It helps to know who your 'opposition' is. also, 'fox hunting' (which a practice routinely with the Greater Redmend Amateur Association up here in Washington State) if fairly easy and only requires a portable radio and a simple hand-held loop antenna (for close range location). it is possible with a full size beam antenna to get a directional bearing to the source (but Eric did not mention having one of those, did he?).

> He claims to have made a police report for the "lawn job", but none shows not all reports will show up on a website (this is my understanding from a web administrator up here), either at the request of the police or the victim. There may be other reasons why it was not posted (due to technical details that I am unfamiliar with).

> He claims to have a video and gave it to the police.
think about it landshark. how many people have video cams these days? how many of them can be hooked up to a computer? AND, what software can be used to produce such videos from a computer. There are several that come to mind

(like real producer pro, Adobe Movie Maker Pro, Windows Media producer and others)

> He then claims to have made an AVI, but won't post it because of

He may have a valid point. I don't know the laws down in Arizona. I do know that Up here in Washington State, they can prosecute you for doing this if it hinders an already ongoing investigation.

> He claims that the person has been cited & fined all in just 3 days
That may be far fetched (or not, depends on local law enforcement and their workload).

he does? I have been reading with some interest. he only appears to flip flop on one specific point. all the others appear valid.

I have noticed though, you seem to have an excessive dislike for him. In fact, of the over 400 Posts where you and him either interact or comment, you seem to attack him more often than not and without provocation. you seem to have a problem with him. I am not sure what it is, and personally, its not my business.

well, I read that original post. it didn't appear that way.
However, I do know there is a law on the books now and given your previous attacks (now fully archived in google) and his, there may be grounds. you could also sue him for that matter. Frankly though, this all seems just a bit too childish. If I were in either of your shoes right now, I'd shut up and go do something else.

I corrected all the third person portions and made it your post Eric (everyone knows
it's you posting as Fubar.
As for the threat of a lawsuit..... Go for it!!!! Really, take your best shot.
In the words of Robert De Nero in the movie Untouchables :

"You got nothing, NOTHING!! You don't have a police report, victim, offender......
You've got NOTHING!!!!!!!!!!

Shall we take this over to Rec Radio Amateur and show all the previous Fubar posts defending yourself Eric? I wouldn't care, but you would really start to look foolish to you're peers.....LMAO!!!!

give it up man. you don't have the facts in hand, you will never have the facts in hand and I don't have to reveal them here.

I vented a bit (perhaps my mistake) and you have done nothing but attack me time and again (and often unprovoked as another poster noted).

you have a personal problem with me that has nothing to do with this newsgroup or anything else other than you feel slighted at my even existing.

you try and attack me one way, when that doesn't work, you attack another. so far, the only thing that has worked (until today) was the emotional attack.

well guess what, since there is enough of a google archive laying around, I am in the mind to compile all your words, print them out (including headers) and have them reviewed. what you are doing amounts to harassment via a network and its time you stopped. if you don't like it, oh fucking well. I don't care anymore and I will not spare your feelings, integrity (what integrity?) or your wallet.

Have fun man. this is the last on this subject you will hear from me (at least on usenet).

Well I think Franks pointing out that I'm repeating myself and have already pointed out Eric's inconsistency in his posts. I agree Frank responds to a lot of Brian's posts, but rarely does he keep beating it to death like I do sometimes.
All that aside, I will respond when I see him or anyone else IMO post the lies like he has..

Have a good one dude, when are you heading out this way??

Because Brian is not only trying to turn the group into his own well now. I have just seen an excellent example of paranoia at work. Looks as though you are seeing 'n7zzt' around every post and behind every keyboard.

Perhaps you should sit back and think about some things for a while (I know that thinking appears to be hard for most folks, but you really should try).

anyway, you can claim I am someone else (nay, shout it from the roof tops if need be) but that still doesn't make it so.

By the way, I had some rather interesting conversations in e-mail (and a couple on the phone) about this situation here. It seems that you are considered as much of a troublemaker as N7ZZT is. This makes me wonder what is really going on around here.

one last point, I am one of a couple of dozen people listed on QRZ in zip code 98051. Now that you have dragged me into this argument entirely, perhaps you should rethink what is about to happen to you (I would). You don't know who I am and I intend on keeping it that way.

The difference between cb radio operators and ham radio operators.

A cber and ham living next door to each other are sitting in their respective yards watching cars drive by on the two lane road.

A driver in a blue car is in the right lane heading westbound
(the correct direction in this case).

A drunk driver in a red car comes from the opposite direction heading east in the westbound lane.

The driver of the blue car goes over the double yellow center line into the left lane heading west in the eastbound lane until he passes the drunk driver.
Then pulls back over in the right lane once again heading west in the westbound lane.

The cber says "The guy in the blue car did the correcr thing to avoid a very horrible accident that would have involved both cars and would have possibly killed both drivers.

The ham calls the police on hiss cell phone and reports that the sober guy in the blue car should also be arrested for breaking the law by both going overe the "no passing allowed line" and driving in the wrong line, both bot legally allowed.

The ham says "Why, the guy in the blue car is even worse than the guy in the red car since the guy inthe blue car was sober when he committed the crime,"

And that is the difference between cb radio operators and ham radio operators.

There isn't much difference at all any more, since the tests were dumbed down and the code requirement has been dropped.

I hear terms being used such as "contact" and "QSL", both CB sideband jargon.

I hear operators interrupting QSO's where it is obvious to anyone but a complete moron that the two parties have information to exchange and do not wish to be interrupted by a third party. Then the third party gets shit-faced when the two try to continue their conversation without the third party. It is an old ham custom that one must be invited to join into a conversation. Otherwise the third parties call sign is acknowledged and the frequency will be given to the third party when the first two finish their conversation. It doesn't occur to the modern op that there are times when people wish to communicate and not just chew the rag with anyone that happens to stumble upon someone else in QSO.

The FCC clearly states that telephony conversations are to be spoken in plain English without the use of codes and cyphers. Yet the ex CB sidebanders insist upon using the Q codes in place of plain English.

I could go on, but why bother...(sigh). I miss the old days when you had to have a few working brain cells to become a legally licensed ham.

This is not to say that there aren't recently licensed hams that do a good job on the air. It is to say that there are way too few of them.

I'm old enough to remember when CB traffic was conducted with more efficiency and decorum than many ham QSOs are today.

Depends what you mean by 'busted'... looks more he's been accused of unlicensed operation on 75.

I'm s ure the hams will agree that a lot of the cbers are idiots.

Some people will say they're in locations they're not just for fun.

I run legal power. My cb seems to get out only half a mile.

As such, I tend not to believe someone I'm talking to on the cb if they say they're in California right now while I'm hearing clearly as a local from the east coast.

According to the hams, if it turns out the other person is telling a lie about where he's at, then I'm not breaking the law, but if it turns out that the other person is telling the truth about where he's at, then I'm breaking the law, even though my actions were the exact same action at the exact same time.

As such the 155 mile limit "laaw" is the ONLY law in the U.S. where whether you're guilty of a crime or not depends on what the other person does instead of on what you do.

And as such, should be repealed.

Ther is no other law in the U.S. where whether you're guilty of a crime or not depends on the other person's actions instead of your actions.

To make it easier for hams to understand,

My cb usually only gets out half a mile.

If I'm on the east coast and hear someone on the cb and talk to them on July 31 at 4 pm and he tells me he's on the west coast, I tend not to believe him.

According to the hams, if it turns out he's telling a lie about being on the west coast and he's really on the east coast, then I didn't break any lawws on July 31 at 4 pm by not believing he was on the west coast and talking to him.

but according to these same hams, if it turns out he was telling the truth snd skip was letting the communication happen, that I'm guilty of breaking the law on July 31 at 4 pm by not believing he was on the west coast and talking to him.

As you can see, according to the hams, whether I'm guilty of a crime or not depends on what the oter person does instead of what I do.

In this theoretical case, my action was the exact same action on the exact same day and exact same time.

But whether I\m guilty of breaking the law or not depends on if the other person is telling a lie or telling the truth.

I say any such law should be repealed.

The hams call it a law, not a rule.

Tell the hams you talked that distance and the hans say
"you broke the law", not "you broke a rule".

Also, say I\m in pennsylvania, and I hear a strong signal and the other person tells me he's in pennyslvania so I talk to him on the cb, on July 25 at 7 pm. thinking he's local.

According to the hams, if he's telling the truth about where he's at, I'm not guilty of any crime on July 25 at 7 PM.

But according to these san=me hams, if he's telling a lie sbout being in Pennsylvania and he's really in California, then I\m guilty of committing a crime on July 25 at 7 pm.

even though I thought he was a local from his statements.

In both cases, my action was the exact same action on the exact ssame day and exact same time.

The only differendce is whether the other person was telling lies or telling the truth.

Any such law as this that makes whether you're guilty of a crime or not dependent on the other person's actions instead of on your actions is a very very very bad law and should be repealed.

eliminate the 155 mile rule and allow dx on cb.

What's the deal with the weather alert? How is that different or work

What's all this about channels 30 through 40being ssb only?

I have listened for months and years here, in the U.S., and except for channel 38,every channel I hear, including the upper channeels and channels 39 and 40 are all AM-only,

If you broadcast in SSB on channels 30 through 40 here, you wil get chewed out by someone or many someones..

Unless you're using channel 38

It seems to me that the "gentlemen's aagreement" is to use only AM on every cb channel except for channel 38.

That's the gentleman's agreement in north america, yes.

Your area is special. There's excpetions in parts of the country to many of the gentleman's agreements, such as 17 being a local channel in Oregon's Willamette Valley and the Columbia Gorge, predating the 17 North/South travel channel "rule."

One of the sidebands (which one I can never remember and just flip between the two until I hear traffic) on 38 is the de-facto sideband calling frequency. Generally speaking, above 30 is sideband, below 30 is AM (though sometimes once in a blue moon people use FM if AM isn't getting the job done, you don't want to run more than barefoot given the distance, and the radios involved can run that mode).

well,
actually, per part 95, no frequency within the 11 meter class D band can be exclusively for any specific mode. the SSB only thing is an informal 'gentlemens agreement' setup years ago among the more advanced cb operators to cut down on noise (hetrodynes, etc) on the upper chans.

for the most part, that agreement had held to this day. chan 19 is used for the local trucking/comms (as well as some others) and a few of the truck stops run radios and call drivers to their channels to present information (traffic conditions, advertised specials on products/services, etc).

its not exactly well managed, but information does flow (if you can cut through all the noise, especially on heavy skip days).

If you have ever heard Mr. Wonderful on the air you will recognize his voice in the youtube.com video. He is a regular trouble maker when the skip starts coming in, and he has been doing the same routine for years.
As far as his name he was tricked in to acknowledge his name on the air. Like most stupid men his sex drive is stronger than his brain.
He confirmed his name while he thought he was talking to a sweet sounding female that was interested in meeting him. She was actually only interesting in confirming his name.

The weather station will send a special code that will override the CB channel or even turn on the radio if it's turned off to recieve the weather emergency.
So far I've only found 2 models of CB radios with weather alert.
One from Uniden, the other from Cobra and they both look very similar.

Freebanders, if you want more legal cb channels, then transmit on the legal 40 channels instead of the s0-called freeband.

The reason the FCC increased the number of cb channels from 23 to 40 in the first place was because CB was so popular that the legal 23 were being overcrowded.

If you stay on the freeband, the legal 40 probably won't be overcrowded anytime soon and cb will stay at 40 channels.

If everyone transmits on the legal 40 channels, then just maybe the cb band might get overcrowded enough again that the just maybe the cb band might get extended to more than 40 channels.

That's my take on it anyayys.

That's going to happen as soon as the Uncle can figure out a way to make money on it.

In the meantime, any HAM ticket will allow you 200 KHz of USB on 10 meters, and all of 10 meters and more with a General or Extra. I haven't stopped using my CB. It's just another band to operate on.

The old style of alert was a 10 second 1050 HZ tone. The new style of alert is called SAME (Specific Area Message Encoding).

Maybe we all can BUY that spectrum from the users and make it ours, like a spectrum auction.

A handheld device operating at 27 MHz is useless. Once you bother hooking up a mike, antenna and power source to it, you might as well just get a proper mobile radio. The same thing holds true for 2 meter HT's!

A better, and cheaper, plan would be to understand the government works for us, not the other way around, and demand the public airspace be alloted by public, not commercial, interest.

This is the XLR or whatever the hell suffix it has (senior moment here). The set needs repaired - and I don't have time to do it. I bought it off a lady who was selling out - I've already sold all the other stuff she had which came as a lot deal. The set is - if you're not familiar - a Base - 40 Channel with Am/SSB.

The "audio" seems weak. The modulation is non - or near - non existent. It is in decent shape otherwise - cosmetically about an 8.5 - 9 out of 10. The "known" defects from a quick bench test - are listed.

I'm cleaning my shop out of back burner projects and so on to consider moving. I'll also be selling lots of parts off too - that I've bought over time.

I don't want to just slap it on E-bay. Anyone have any ideas what I might expect for it AS IS? Selling online - shipping is not included. If anyone here "might" be interested - let me know how to contact you. I am located near Pittsburgh (just south of).
